BALL BONDS IN DISPUTE

Source Refused at Oil Trial

Ex-Secretary's Son-in-Law Declines to Tell Where He Got $230,500

Testimony Shows it Went to Discharge Old Debt; Lawyers Wrangle

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27. (AP)—Flat refusal to reveal the source of the $230,500 in Liberty bonds which bulk large in the Teapot Dome conspiracy trial was made today in the District of Columbia Supreme Court by the man the government contends should furnish that information.

Dr. M. T. Everhart, Pueblo (Colo.) physician, and son-in-law of Albert B. Fall, who, after a visit to New York, Washington and other eastern points, returned to his home town with that issue of bonds which went into both ban held in the First National Bank of Pueblo in Fall's name.

When Everhart was called to the stand the government presented to the jury evidence to show that the bonds were used to pay off debts of Fall, Everhart & Fall Trees Cattle and Land Company. The bonds were received after the lease of Teapot naval oil reserve to Harry Sinclair by the former Interior Secretary.

WHY HE REFUSED

It was the case when he was called in the trial of the Teapot dome oil suit at Cheyenne, Everhart based his refusal to answer on constitutional rights, contending that such testimony might tend to incriminate him and lead to his indictment on the same charge that Fall and Fall now are facing before a jury of two women and ten men.

Justice Siddons will determine publicly tomorrow, whether Everhart will be required to tell from whom he received the bonds. The government contends that Harry F. Sinclair intends to Fall as a witness, at least, of the consideration in the loan of the Wyoming naval reserve.

Nervous and extremely ill looking Everhart was a reluctant witness when first, and of one point, on the verge of going to jail for refusal to answer a previous question as to whether he had met Fall prior to February 1, 1922.

Justice Siddons directed him to answer," Everhart re-

Mrs. A. Douglas, a Washington society leader, appeared then for Everhart and asked permission to advise with Justice Siddons regarding that he had advised Everhart.

AGAIN HE REFUSES

When the witness then asked the stenographer to repeat the question and Everhart answered in the affirmative. Owen J. Roberts, counsel for the government presented to Everhart later refused to answer another question, and Justice Siddons directed him to do so.

Coming to the source of the bonds, Owen J. Roberts of government counsel, carefully led up to the point of work for that question, by coupling from the witness admissions that he had had no business transactions with Sinclair; that he had been employed by Sinclair, and that he had gone to do with the negotiations

MAGRUDER SNUBBED

Knocks in Vain at White House

Coolidge Nor Wilbur to See Admiral Until After November 5

Secretary Declares Navy Ready for Action at Moment's Notice

BY ROBERT B. ARMSTRONG
Times Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27. (Exclusive)—Admiral T. P. Magruder made the greatest error of his life as a navigator when he knocked on the White House door today. His letter to the President sent through Secretary of the Navy Wilbur was laid today before President Coolidge.

After a long conference, the details of which were were not all disclosed by either the President or the Secretary, it was announced that neither President Coolidge or Secretary of the Navy Wilbur will see the transferred admiral until after he is relieved by Admiral Latimer, the new commandant of the Philadelphia navy yard, on November 5. What comes after that remains to be disclosed, but it is known that in the conference today the President clearly indicated that he wanted the whole matter disposed of as quickly as possible.

Those familiar with the ideas of the President indicate that the Magruder incident is all over and that the President will indicate in this, as he did in the case of Gen. Summerall, Chief of Staff, that he wants Federal officers in the War and Navy departments as well as in all civil divisions of the government to make constructive criticism of government methods to their superiors only, and not to resort to wide public exhortations through the press or radio or other broadcasting methods.

STICKLER FOR DISCIPLINE

This is because the President is a stickler for the maintenance of discipline in the armed services. It is a part of his policy as Executive to stand by the heads of the departments he has chosen. To depart from such a policy would flood his office with an interminable number of petty disputes. But when a Cabinet officer does not appear to have his subordinates sufficiently under control to keep them from making public utterances, criticising administration policies and programs as in the recent case of Maj.-Gen. Summerall, Chief of Staff of the Army, the President will step in and do a little disciplining himself.

Ordinarily, however, he expects his department chiefs to handle their own business. Once, as the President recently related at the beginning of Gen. Mitchell's publicity campaign for aviation, the President let down the bars to admit Gen. Mitchell to a private audience. In this the general asked the permission of the President to publish certain articles. The President told him that if he got the permission of the Secretary of War, the President would make no objection. Rather more than a suspicion exists that the President now thinks he made a mistake on that occasion because of Mitchell's subsequent representation that the President had given him

DU PONT GETS NEW VOICE

Senator Loses Vocal Cords

"Mechanical Larynx" Given Capitalist in Delicate Throat Operation

His Speech Will be Slightly Monotonous But Easily Understandable

NEW YORK, Oct. 27. (Exclusive)—T. Coleman Du Pont, Delaware capitalist and United States Senator, has been deprived of vocal cords by a delicate throat operation—but has not given up the power of speech.

The old voice, with its variety of modulations, is gone. The new one is artificial. It will be slightly monotonous, but no one will have difficulty understanding it.

HAD THROAT ULCERS

Senator Du Pont will use a "mechanical larynx," a perfected type of the remarkable device presented to medical science three years ago by Dr. Harvey Fletcher E. Lane of the joint laboratories of the Western Electric Company and the American Telephone and Telegraph Company.

It was learned two weeks ago that Senator Du Pont had undergone a serious operation at the Manhattan Eye, Ear and Throat Hospital, but few details were revealed. It was said the operation had been necessitated by an ulcer of the throat and that the Senator was doing nicely.

Today it was learned that the operation involved removal of the larynx and vocal cords, as well as part of the tongue and windpipe.

SURGEON SILENT

Senator Du Pont's secretary, questioned here, referred inquiries to Dr. John E. Mackenty, revealing that he had performed the operation.

Dr. Mackenty declined to comment. It is not known officially whether the operation was for cancer of the throat or a throat ulcer, as previously announced.

Dr. Mackenty's renown as a surgeon, however, rests to a large degree upon his technique in throat cancer operations.

MAFALDA DEATH LIST NOW PLACED AT 300 OR MORE

Refugees Tell How Captain Died at Post Shouting "Viva Italia;" Describe Night of Horror

RIO DE JANEIRO, Oct. 27. (AP)—With more than 900 survivors of the ill-fated Italian liner Principessa Mafalda accounted for, the steamer Alhena arrived tonight and the Formosa will reach Rio de Janeiro early in the morning, the Mosella has arrived at Bahia and other rescuing ships are on their way to various ports. The best estimates from latest wireless advices and information gleaned from passengers or members of the crew who came out of the disaster alive, place the dead and missing at about 300. Agents of the owners say 324 are unaccounted for. It is possible that some of these missing have been picked up, and it even possible that the death list will go somewhat beyond the present estimates.

The survivors agree that the scene off the coast of Brazil, where the Mafalda took her last plunge, was a long drawn out and harrowing one. The explosion of the Mafalda's boilers came suddenly, when passengers were engaged in various amusements and preparing to enjoy their last dinner aboard before landing on the shores of South America. Instantly there was panic, but officers and crew went among the half-frenzied emigrants, and quieted them for a time.

RESCUE SHIPS ARRIVE

Soon the ship listed; the decks were flooded, and again panic seized the passengers. Boats were lowered and life rafts thrown out; preservers were donned, and even before the first rescuing ships came in sight there were scores of passengers in the water.

One by one the Formosa, the Alhena, the British Empire Star and the Mosella surrounded the sinking liner. Boats were sent to the rescue and brave sailors risked their lives through the mass of the wreckage and closed alongside the flooded hulk of the Mafalda in an effort to save the shrieking, screaming men and women and children.

It was necessary to maneuver the ships at some considerable distance from the stricken liner, and soon the sea was dotted with lifeboats moving in all directions, at first near the sinking vessel, later over a radius of a mile or more, seeking to aid any that had drifted away in the darkness.

CAPTAIN DIES AT DUTY

Capt. Guli, commander of the Mafalda, went down with his ship, most of the reports agree. He was injured but stood on the bridge until the last, and the radio operator, who had kept the rescuing vessels informed and had taken in turn encouraging words from the oncoming steamers to cheer those who awaited death, perished also.

The explosion of the boilers blew a great hole in the ship's side and doubtless killed most of the engine crew and probably others, for mutilated bodies were seen floating on the waters. Horrors were tales too, by survivors, of sharks, which are declared to have attacked and in some cases killed unfortunates clinging to the wreckage or lifeboats.

The British steamer Avelona, passing through this area many hours after the liner went down, observed empty lifeboats and broken spars and rafts, but all was desolate. There were no survivors to be seen.

SURVIVORS DESCRIBE HORROR-FILLED NIGHT

BAHIA (Brazil) Oct. 27. (AP)—Belief that the captain and at least 400 of the passengers and crew of the sunken Italian liner Principessa Mafalda went down with the vessel was expressed by survivors who reached here today despite reports from other sources that only a handful of the more than 1200 aboard were lost.

Tales of a horror-filled night were told by the first of the victims to reach this port today aboard the French steamer Mosella, one of the half-dozen ships that answered the Mafalda's distress call, and saved approximately fifty-two persons from drowning. The Mosella had no information as to the number rescued by other vessels, understood to include all but sixty-eight of those who were aboard the ill-fated liner.

Despite warmth of water and calmness of sea, four of those rescued by the Mosella died from exposure and exhaustion before reaching port and survivors expressed the belief that many others of the rescued would not live. They said it would not be surprising to them if the final death toll amounted to between 600 to 800 persons. Some of them insisted that a number of victims were devoured by sharks as they struggled in the water.

CAPTAIN ON BRIDGE

Members of the Mafalda's crew, of whom twenty-two were aboard the Mosella, said that Capt. Simon Guli of the Italian liner went down with his ship. Capt. Privat of the Mosella said he is not sure of this, as the only thing he knows about it is that he heard Capt. Guli giving orders on

UNHEARD OF HEAT WAVE IN CHICAGO

Summer Weather Sends Population to Beaches; Cherries Think It's Spring

CHICAGO, Oct. 27. (AP)—Many found heat of almost summer intensity calling them to Chicago beaches today, but discovered Lake Michigan had not been influenced by the excessive temperature for this time of the year. The thermometer reached an unheard-of figure—83 deg.—here, 4 deg. warmer than yesterday. Both yesterday's and today's marks are unprecedented for late October.

High thermometer readings prevailed over the Middle West, with no prospect of an immediate decisive drop. The unseasonable weather will continue at least thirty-six hours, the government meteorologist forecasts.

Encouraged by the sunshine cherries have begun to develop on a fruit farm near Danville, Ill., which yielded its annual crop last June. Two other Illinois cities, Springfield and Peoria, reported higher temperatures than Chicago, 84 and 86 deg.

A score or more cities of the corn belt sweltered in temperatures that exceeded 84 deg. Yuma, Ariz., regarded as one of the most torrid places in the United States, yesterday was 6 deg. cooler than Omaha, where the reading was 86 deg. Des Moines, St. Paul and La Crosse, Wis., all were warmer than El Paso, Tex.

The average temperature for the Middle West at this time of the year ranges between 55 and 64 deg.

Sale of Coast Ship Lines Urged

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 27. (Exclusive)—A resolution calling on the Shipping Board to sell as soon as possible the Pacific Coast steamship lines to responsible private companies was adopted today by the Pacific American Steamship Association. A copy of the resolution was telegraphed to Commissioner Teller, San Francisco member of the board.

The resolution avers the association is opposed to continued government operation when responsible private companies are willing to purchase, and calls upon the board to offer the Pacific Coast services and ships for sale on a five-year instead of the ten-year guarantee which a majority of the board favors.

Mexico Shrine Train en Route

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 27. (Exclusive)—A party of ninety American Shriners who reside in Mexico, together with their families, and delegations of Shriners with their families from San Antonio, Houston, Dallas and Galveston, as well as single delegates from other cities in the United States, left here tonight on a special train for Tampico to attend the induction of a class of eighty-five into Anezah Temple, the largest jurisdiction on the continent, since it embraces all Mexico. Four Past Potentates are making the trip as well as Clarence Horace Montgomerie Agramonte, 97 years of age, reputed oldest living Shriner.

The ceremonies at Tampico are to take place Friday and the special train is to return here Saturday.

CHAMPION, SPARK PLUG MAKER, DIES

Millionaire Accessory Manufacturer in Paris on Vacation at End

PARIS, Oct. 27. (AP)—Albert Champion, Franco-American spark plug manufacturer, died here today. He was on a vacation from the United States.

Champion's life was devoted to keeping up with man's progress in locomotion. From a six-francs-a-week messenger boy in Paris he became a bicycle rider when wheels made the Victorian world go around. He became a champion in more than name only, being recognized as one of the speediest cyclists in the world. With the coming of the internal combustion engine he became an automobile racing driver.

Champion then emigrated to America, where in 1905, with W. C. Durant, the automobile manufacturer, he founded the spark-plug company which made him a millionaire, with plants in America, England and France.

Champion was 47 years of age.

Ten Students in China Executed

[Copyright, 1927, by Chicago Tribune.]

PEKING, Oct. 27. (Exclusive)—Ten university students, including a girl of 18, were executed Tuesday by a firing squad against the walls of the Temple of Agriculture, following a court-martial. They were charged with distributing leaflets favorable to the Kuomintang. Martial law has been tightened.

The soviet consul at Changsha was compelled to depart following Tang Shan-Chi's warfare against the red elements.

MORE DATA GIVEN ON MERGER ECONOMIES

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 27. (AP)—Witnesses for the Great Northern and Northern Pacific railways continued their testimony before the Interstate Commerce Commission today on economies possible under unification of the two roads.

Consolidation of terminals at points served by both lines was the subject of detailed testimony today, continuing the recital begun yesterday as a phase of the $10,900,000 annual saving the roads say could be effected under unification.

CHORINES GET LINDY UP IN AIR

Sixteen Comely Chorus Girls at Flying Field on Publicity Hunt Charge Atlantic Hop Hero and Force Him to Retreat to Upper Regions

CURTISS FIELD (N. Y.) Oct. 27. (AP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh today slammed a door in the faces of sixteen comely young ladies whose charms are contributing factors in attracting hundreds of other more impressionable people to one of the Broadway playhouses.

The chorus girls had come to the field for a flight and just possibly, with some idea of achieving a bit of publicity. When they saw Col. Lindbergh chatting in front of a hangar with Harry S. Guggenheim they broke ranks with shrill cries of delight.

"There's Lindy," they trilled, "let's all talk to him."

But Lindbergh, who saw them coming, had other ideas. He bolted into the hangar, Guggenheim a close second, and slammed the door just as the bevy reached it.

"Pooh, we didn't want to see him any way," the girls told each other, but they lay in wait by the closed door for a while just in case their quarry should come out, and so did not notice that he had gone out another door and taken a plane to the safer regions of the upper air.

JAPAN TOWN SHATTERED BY TEMBLOR

Serious Quake Reported Northwest of Tokio But Details Not Transmitted

LONDON, Oct. 27. (AP)—An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Tokio says that a serious earthquake is reported to have taken place at Niigata, seaport town at the mouth of the Shinano River, about 160 miles northwest of Tokio. A considerable movement is reported, but no casualties had been recorded as the dispatch was filed.

The town of Niigata has a population of about 50,000, and is on a sandy strip of land at the mouth of the Shinano River. It is the capital of the Province of Echigo. There are many canals in the center of the streets. It is a tea-growing district. The port has a large native trade, but European vessels are unable to enter the harbor because of a sandbar obstruction.

The town was opened to foreign trade in 1869.

TWO FLYERS SAVE LIVES IN COLLISION

But Students Now Face Possible Court-martial Charges in Texas

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) Oct. 27. (AP) Two student flyers made successful parachute jumps after their planes had collided 2500 feet above Kelly Field today, but face possible court-martial charges because of the accident.

Kelly Field officials said that the two pilots, J. D. Cleveland of Cleveland, O., and E. A. Sanburg of Upper Lake, Cal., were engaged in unauthorized "dog-fighting" at the time of the accident. They were flying in a three-ship formation of pursuit planes in a maneuver designed to perfect them in flying solo planes. Officials said, however, that they were supposed to adhere to their formation, and not simulate actual duel combat in the air. According to the officers th's was what caused the accident.

After the planes interlocked and plunged together toward the earth the two pilots made perfectly timed parachute jumps. The planes did not become disengaged until they were 500 feet above the ground. Both were demolished, even the motors being hopelessly wrecked.

The matter will be referred to an investigating board tomorrow, which will decide on the advisability of putting the case before a court-martial.

Bennett Named to Game Board

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 27. (AP)—The appointment of Eugene E. Bennett, chief assistant to U. S. Atty. Hatfield, as executive officer of the California Fish and Game Commission was announced this afternoon by Gov. Young to his executive council.

Bennett will succeed B. D. Marx Green, present executive officer, who will retire to private practice.

NEW ORLEANS LEADER DIES

BAY ST. LOUIS (Miss.) Oct. 27. (AP) William R. Lyman, 89 years of age, first president of the New Orleans Stock Exchange, died today.

Ruth Elder in Peril as Plane Motor Stops

MADRID, Oct. 27. (AP)—Ruth Elder, American aviatrix, George Haldeman, her co-pilot, and half a dozen companions in the Portuguese plane that brought them from Lisbon today were endangered when one of the machine's three motors failed about ninety miles out of Madrid.

Miss Elder, who drove the plane part of the time, alternating with the regular pilot, said the accident to the plane was "of no importance," because of the extra motors, although without them "we would have been killed, for it would have been impossible to glide to a landing."

Their stay in Madrid was brief, for at 11 o'clock they left for Bayonne, France, there to take a plane for the French capital.

Cotton Men Ask for Rate Slash

ATLANTA (Ga.) Oct. 27. (AP)—Thomas F. Woodlock, Interstate Commerce Commission representative, heard testimony from cotton shippers in executive session here today in support of their request for reduction in carrying rates. Similar hearings will be conducted at Gulfport, Miss., Oklahoma City and Dallas. No reports will be made public, until all hearings are concluded.

New Revolt Plot Faced by Spain

PARIS, Oct. 27. (AP)—Paris newspapers in dispatches from the Spanish frontier reported today that another Spanish revolutionary plot had been discovered.

The police are reticent but it is known that large numbers of police and soldiers have been concentrated on the frontier.

Will Rogers Remarks:

BEVERLY HILLS, Oct. 27.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I liked Senator Curtis's announcement in the papers this morning better than any presidential ones we have had. He said he "would accept it if he was elected, but that he wouldn't accept the nomination unless he was elected." I think that is a most straightforward and clear-sighted decision.

If more men wouldn't run for offices unless they can get 'em we would have fewer races and politics would improve 1000 per cent.

I am strong for Charley because he's an injun, and he is close enough to Oklahoma to understand the farmers' problems.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

RUMANIAN ARMY READY FOR ATTACK

Reports Indicate Nation Faces Danger of Revolt; Censor Still Supreme

BELGRADE (Jugo-Slavia) Oct. 27. (AP)—The internal situation in Rumania has never before been so critical, it is indicated today in advices from Grada, Almare, Bucharest and Temesvar.

Troops were stated to be concentrated near Bucharest in anticipation of a possible revolution.

Telegraphic and telephonic communication with Rumania has been suspended and conversations over the frontier are cut off, if of a political nature.

The advices state that Mr. Manu, leader of the Peasant party, which was supposed to hold an important meeting today, was arrested by gendarmes yesterday, but escaped.

The advices also declare that Premier Bratiano is assuming a virtual dictatorship.

BRATIANO TELEGRAPHS THAT CALM RULES NATION

LONDON, Oct. 27. (AP)—Premier Bratiano of Rumania in answering an inquiry of the Daily Mail telegraphed that paper that complete calm prevails throughout Rumania. He declared that the government has been aware of the attempts of agitators in behalf of former Crown Prince Carol outside of Rumania for some time. He stated that in view of the discovery of compromising documents on M. Manoilescu it was impossible to avoid taking action against the former Secretary of Finance.

Los Angeles on Long Flying Trip

LAKEHURST (N. J.) Oct. 27. (AP)—The dirigible Los Angeles returned to the naval air station here at 8 o'clock tonight, completing a flight of twenty-eight hours. Leaving here at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon the craft flew south to Norfolk, Va. It returned today to maneuver over the station in connection with the Navy Day celebration, and later headed north to New York.

An aerial circus, which included maneuvers by the dirigibles Los Angeles and J-3, parachute jumping, balloon flights and stunts by planes marked the Navy Day observance at the naval air station.

Plane Seized at Canada Border

ST. ALBANS (Vt.) Oct. 27. (AP)—A seaplane suspected of being engaged in carrying contraband over the border from Canada was seized this morning by customs lake patrol men, the customs office announces. One arrest was made.

This is the first seizure of an aircraft ever made along the border, Collector Whitehill says.

Search of the craft so far has failed to reveal any contraband, but the craft was ordered seized for crossing the border without reporting, and is held as a suspected carrier of contraband.

ROBBERY SUSPECT TO BE EXTRADITED

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 27. (AP)—Gov. Young today granted extradition papers for the return to Los Angeles of Dave Porter Prince, in custody in Dallas, as a suspect in the robbery of the Arrowhead Water Works two weeks ago. The water works office was entered by three men who made off with $1700 taken from the safe.

HOW FAR PILOTS OF PLANES SEE

Now that flying across the waters is becoming almost as common as swimming the channel a lot of us who stay on the ground are wondering how things look anyway, to the boys who risk their lives against gasoline and motors, and how far away from land or shore they must be when they first get their first glimpses of the ground. And how far can they see when there isn't any land to see, and how much ocean do they see at any one time?

We know, of course, that as we get higher up we are able to see farther, but how much farther?

Fortunately the whole matter has been worked out, and for a long time, and can be found in first-class books of mathematical tables. Here are some of the figures, beginning, as they would with the little ones.

Standing at sea level on ordinary man, say one with his eyes about five feet six inches above the water, should see the horizon at a distance of close to one and a half nautical miles.

If he gets up somehow so that his eyes are 100 feet above sea level his vision stretches out to 12.8 nautical miles. At 1000 feet above the surface his horizon is 39 nautical miles off and so on, with additional elevation will give him a range of 41.39 of the nautical miles.

Fifteen hundred feet is a great elevation for a pilot, of course, so we can look at higher visibilities. At 5000 feet elevation the horizon is 90 miles off; at 4800 feet it is backed away to 71.94 miles, and at a height of 6000 feet the pilot or shooter should look over a circular area of the ocean having a diameter of 165.76 nautical miles, the horizon being half this distance away.

The nautical mile, which is the minute of longitude at the equator, is 6080.27 feet instead of the smaller miles of 5280 feet, the ordinary question-list fraud

WOMEN SLAIN IN TRUNK MYSTERY

Wives of Brothers Murdered With Large Knife

Bodies Then Dismembered; One Husband Held

Neighbors Tell of Cries in New Orleans Tragedy

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 27. (AP)—The bodies of two women, crudely dismembered and packed into two unlocked trunks, were found late today in a house in the old French quarter.

Police believe the women were the wives of Henry and Joe Moity, brothers. Joe Moity was taken into custody late today and police said they would take him to the mortuary where the bodies are being held in an effort to identify them. Efforts to find Henry Moity and five children belonging to the two families are unavailing.

The bodies of the women are so mutilated that definite identification is difficult.

The rooms in which they were found had been occupied for several weeks by the brothers and their families.

USE LARGE KNIFE

The women were murdered, police said, with a huge sugar-cane knife. The weapon, sharp and with a two-foot blade, was found in one of the trunks.

The heads of the bodies had been severed and the legs crudely chopped so that the remainder of the bodies would fit tightly into the trunks. A bed in one of the rooms apparently had been used for the gruesome operation.

Neighbors say the women returned to their apartments late yesterday afternoon after an outing. Police believe the crime was committed during the early morning hours, basing their belief on a report by neighbors that they had heard the cries of a child about 1 o'clock.

A man who occupied an apartment in the same building is in custody.

Another man, P. Kimmel, was questioned. His name was found scribbled on a wall in the death chamber. He is held at the house of detention today, having been arrested late yesterday at the Moity home after a disturbance.

WERE WELL BEHAVED

The Moitys came to New Orleans several weeks ago from New Iberia. Neighbors say that the two young women were well behaved and that their husbands bore good reputations.

The bodies were found by Frank Sylva and Jules Chattalin, insurance men, who mounted to the second-floor apartments after overhearing neighbors tell of the strange cries of a child and the failure of the two women to appear during the day.

Superintendent of Police Healy, who took over the investigation, pronounces the crime "the most horrible butchery in his experience."

KILLS MATE AND SELF

HORTON (Kan.) Oct. 27. (AP)—Mrs. Mattie Teigen, 32 years of age, early today shot and killed her husband, Walter Teigen, 34, as he lay in bed at their home in Netawaka, and then drove to the home of a sister and committed suicide.

REBELS HIDE IN MOUNTAIN FASTNESSES

Mexican Staff Chief Says Full Reports on Clashes Soon at Capital

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 27. (Exclusive)—Reiterating statements relative to the crushing of the rebellion in the State of Vera Cruz, Gen. Jose Alvarez, chief of staff, said in a statement published today in El Universal that there are about 400 rebels hiding in the mountain fastness under the leadership of Gens. Lomada, Kurzain, Palacios and Bertani. According to El Universal Gen. Alvarez said it has been impossible to obtain complete reports of the military operations in the regions of La Perla, Cumbre and El Espanol but when the full reports are received from Federal commanders they will be made public. Gen. Alvarez is quoted as saying that it is understood a series of clashes took place but that full information is not yet available.

Gen. Alvarez scouted rumors circulated in Mexico City relative to rebel successes and branded the reports as false and as propaganda of reactionaries who are sympathizing with the rebels. Gen. Alvarez said the truth is easy to learn since the government stands firm on its first offer to provide safe conduct for local newspapermen or foreign correspondents who desire to proceed to the scene of activities. He said every comfort will be made available and every possible aid will be given them in their investigation.

Gen. Alvarez asserted that the present rebel nucleus is comprised of habitual revolters and bandits who have existed in the mountain region for several years, taking refuge in places where it is difficult for strong military forces to reach them. He declared that the problem is not a serious one for the military authorities.

MAFALDA DEAD ESTIMATED 300

the bridge of the sinking vessel a short time before it foundered.

Capt. Privat said: "The scenes could not have been more horrible than they were, especially the screaming in the midst of the wind and darkness from women and children helpless in the ocean waves."

The disaster was due, according to Capt. Privat, to the loss of a propeller in such a way as to permit an inflow of water, causing an explosion of the boilers.

"I believe," he declared, "that it is not exaggeration to say there are 400 dead."

Capt. Privat's estimate of the lost is not borne out by wireless reports previously received from other rescue vessels. The other vessels tonight were en route to Rio Janeiro, 300 miles or more further from the scene of the disaster than Bahia. Wireless reports from these vessels indicated that all but sixty-eight of those aboard the Mafalda had been saved. The survivors brought into port by the Mosella consist of thirty passengers, two ship officers and twenty members of the crew.

ROAR AND CRASH

Most of the victims were first and second-class passengers, according to survivors aboard the Mosella. They declared that the last they saw of the Mafalda's captain was when the vessel turned over and he shouted "Viva Italia!" The survivors said the wireless operator also remained at his post and went down with the ship.

Just before the crash, according to the survivors, the Mafalda was making good speed and everyone was enjoying the tropical sunset and cool breezes prior to dinner. Suddenly a roar and a crash, followed by the sound of rushing water in the bowels of the ship, and then a terrible explosion which blew asunder the beautiful saloons and staterooms of the first and second classes turned the laughter and fun into screams of agony.

The scene was appalling, according to the survivors. The groans of the injured and dying unnerved those who were unhurt, and weeping, praying women called upon the Madonna for help, while mothers caught their babies to their breasts and panic-stricken men jumped overboard.

SHIP IN DARKNESS

Capt. Gull was given credit for bringing the situation quickly under control. The ship's orchestra aided in calming the unfortunate voyagers. The vessel sank two hours and a half after the accident, according to those on the Mosella. Previous reports were that the Mafalda sank in half an hour.

The Mafalda's machinery and electric lights soon failed, plunging the struggling victims into darkness, but flashlight torches and every other available light was thrown on the scores of persons in the water and on the sloping decks of the Mafalda. When rescue vessels arrived they turned their searchlights on the scene and one rescuing vessel (previously reported to have been the French liner Formosa) actually tied alongside the ship until the strain of its sinking was too great and it had to be cut loose.

The log of the French steamship Mosella, one of the ships that went to the rescue of the Italian liner Principessa Mafalda, tells of picking up the sinking liner's S O S signals and the rescue of passengers and crew.

The Mosella reached here shortly before noon today with a number of survivors. Her log reads:

LOG OF RESCUE SHIP

"October 25—At 5:40 p.m. we intercepted SOS signals from the Principessa Mafalda saying she is in serious danger in Longitude 16.58, Latitude 37.51, about thirty-six miles from our position.

"We immediately went to that point by forced draft. The Mafalda's radio started to get fainter, and we got into communication with the Formosa, which also steamed toward the Mafalda's position, with the Dutch steamer Albena and the British Empire Star, all of which stood by and began to transfer the passengers from the Mafalda.

"We reached the spot at about 8:30 in the evening, when the Mafalda began to sink amid the horrifying cries of the shipwrecked. Immediately our starboard boats, previously made ready, were lowered; they were manned by emergency crews composed of volunteers who gave proof of great valor and self-sacrifice.

"They rowed swiftly toward the scene of the catastrophe, with only the saving of lives in mind. Meanwhile I carefully maneuvered my ship toward the spot where cries of help were coming from and in a manner to keep her near where the Mafalda sank. My object was to rescue those who might be floating in the water as well as survivors in the lifeboats.

WRECKAGE APPEARS

"I took this measure because of the fact that the wind was not strong and the sea not heavy and in order that those floating might not be endangered by the hull of the Mosella. The maneuver was successful. Some of them we were not able to save, but nevertheless there rapidly appeared on the windward side masses of wreckage of all kinds, in which could be distinguished bodies, some of them mutilated, which the lifeboats had been unable to reach.

"Some of the survivors of the Mafalda said that if the Mosella had arrived at the scene of the disaster half an hour earlier it would have been possible to save all of the passengers.

"Capt. Privet personally directed the work of the rescuing boats. The boats were launched all at the same time, and rowed desperately for the place where the Mafalda went down, while several searchlights illuminated the terrible scene, revealing many people, some clinging to pieces of wreckage and life preservers.

"Around them floated also many dead. The boats of the Mosella picked up other survivors, who were waving their arms in desperation for aid."

STRANGE NOISE HEARD

"They clung to the lifeboats in veritable clusters, threatening to swamp them by their weight, and after unforgettable moments we succeeded in saving sixty-two souls, passengers and members of the crew.

"One survivor said: 'At the moment of the accident which caused the sinking the passengers were enjoying various diversions,' dancing and music.

"Suddenly a strange noise was heard, which alarmed the passengers. Both the captain and other officers reassured them, and they continued their amusements. Then the Mafalda listed to port and water began to flood the ship. People ran about panic stricken, seeking means of salvation. The efforts of Capt. Gull and other officers to halt them were in vain.

"Boats were launched, but many overturned owing to excessive loading. The greatest confusion arose among the emigrants in the third class.'

BOATS RECALLED

"Toward 10:30 o'clock the cries ceased completely, the lifeboats continued their search, while under an arrangement made with the captain of the Formosa the survivors we had picked up were transferred to that ship with their clothing. We continued throughout the night at the scene of the disaster with other ships, until the morning of the 26th, intending to maneuver alongside the Formosa in order to finish the transfer of the survivor's belongings we had salvaged. We gave up this task at 5:30 after having delivered 300 mattresses and 250 blankets.

"We then recalled our lifeboats and resumed our voyage at 8 o'clock in the morning toward Bahia, with clear weather and a fresh breeze from the northeast in a slightly rolling sea.

"At 5 p.m., in Lat. 16.25, Long. 32.07, we bore to in order to give sea burial to two women, one man and one child that we had rescued the night before in a half-drowned condition. Doctors and nurses had striven during the night to save them."

Locked Cabin Keeps Radio Man at Post

RIO DE JANEIRO, Oct. 27. (AP)—The radio operator of the rescue steamship Formosa reported here by wireless tonight that the last radiogram he received from the Mafalda's radio operator was:

"I am locked in the radio cabin. I don't know what is happening except that the captain has ordered me to call for help."

The Mafalda's operator is believed to have perished with his ship.

BONDS OF FALL BRING CLASH

for the lease of Teapot Dome and did not know it had been leased until more than a month after the lease had been executed on April 7, 1922.

By rapid-fire questions, the government prosecutor drew from Everhart the information that he left Pueblo early in May, 1922, and that later he was in New York City and that still later he saw Fall in Washington. On May 29, 1922, he returned to Pueblo and deposited the Liberty Bonds at the First National Bank.

In questioning Justice Siddons to direct Everhart to tell where he got the bonds, Roberts argued that Everhart's answer could not incriminate him since he was not a party to the conspiracy the government charges and could not have been an accessory before the fact, as the lease had been executed before he got possession of the bonds.

THE OTHER VIEW

"If he was anything at all, he was merely an accessory after the fact," Roberts said, adding that the statute of limitations for such an offense already had run. Appearing as "a friend of the court," Douglas took the position that under the law Everhart could be regarded as a party to the conspiracy that is charged irrespective of when he entered into the transaction. His mere entry, Douglas added, would be presumption that he ratified all that had gone before.

"The immediate peril in which the witness, Everhart, finds himself," Douglas added, "is that he might be indicted for the very same conspiracy that the defendants Fall and Sinclair now are charged with."

With the conclusion of the argument, Justice Siddons took the question under advisement and adjourned court until tomorrow. Previously he had excused the jury while the lawyers argued the points of law involved.

Besides being Fall's son-in-law, Everhart was general manager of the Tres Ritos Cattle and Land Company at the time that the Liberty bonds were used to pay up the debts of that company and of Fall and Everhart.

NOTE LONG OVERDUE

Preceding Everhart to the stand were L. T. Rule, assistant cashier, and A. S. Booth, vice-president, of the Pueblo First National Bank. They testified as to what became of the bonds and the proceeds from their sale. Some of the notes which were paid off were long overdue, Booth testifying that one, executed by Fall, and for $15,000, was four years past due when it finally was taken up.

The Fall, Everhart and Tres Ritos notes totaled more than $107,000 and were sold by the M. B. Thatcher Estates Company, of Pueblo. Everhart is a nephew of Thatcher. Booth testified on cross-examination by William E. Leahy, of counsel for Fall.

Before the government passes to the very crux of its case against Fall and Sinclair, Justice Siddons ruled that sworn testimony given at the Senate Teapot Dome investigation by the defendants could not be used against them at this trial. He agreed, however, to admit to the record any statements they made to the committee when they were not under oath.

The government offered the testimony of Sinclair on December 4, 1923, that he visited Fall at his Three Rivers (N. M.) ranch during the Christmas holidays in 1921 to take up with him the lease of Teapot Dome and the drilling of oil wells on Osage Indian lands in Oklahoma.

Special oil counsel also presented accumulative testimony to support their contention that other oil men seeking leases on the Wyoming naval reserve were deceived about the Sinclair lease and that the negotiations were kept secret even after the lease actually had been executed.

GRANT CABIN WILL BE DEDICATED TOMORROW

encouragement. No such mistakes are to be made in the future.

COOLIDGE NOT SURPRISED

At the time the Magruder incident first became a subject of conversation at the White House on September 27, it was very clear that the President was neither alarmed nor offended by the admiral's magazine article. It was indicated on behalf of Mr. Coolidge that if the admiral could show specifically how the Navy could increase efficiency and reduce expenses at the same time, the President would be well pleased. In other words it was indicated that the President thought it desirable that Admiral Magruder be given a chance to submit a constructive program of reorganization to the Navy Department.

Instead of doing this, however, the admiral has given sensational interviews to the newspapers and in a speech in Philadelphia on the 18th inst., made remarks about his superiors, of which the following is an example:

"They (meaning the ruling powers in the Navy Department) never have asked me for plans, and I doubt if they will. If they do, I'll give them something to think about."

Still, the admiral in an official letter to the department on the 21st inst., said, "I have at the present time no material available to submit to the department," and in this and other letters, admitted that he was mistaken, though innocently, in some of the statements he had made in his article, his interviews and his speech.

AS TO MISMANAGEMENT

Secretary Wilbur, who manifestly feels that Navy discipline has been flouted by Admiral Magruder, would not have to submit many arguments to the President to procure that gentleman's sympathy. Indeed, it is altogether possible that very little was said on that phase of the subject in the hour's conference at the White House. It is not to be doubted that the President thinks that Admiral Magruder has not made good on his charges of naval mismanagement and has not produced any sort of a plan for improvement, while the admiral has sought publicity for himself, not to the benefit of the service.

Nevertheless it is quite possible that the President cannot clear his mind of some of the doubts that have been raised in it as to the entire efficiency of the naval establishment. Admiral Magruder has said repeatedly that the Navy Department is not getting more than $300,000,000 worth of efficiency out of its $300,000,000 of annual expenditure. The President may hold that Admiral Magruder has not produced any evidence to support this assertion, but it would be quite in the President's character to wonder if, after all, there is not a considerable spread between the value received and the money expended. Maybe he suggested to Secretary Wilbur that when the latter gets through administering discipline to the admiral for condemning his superiors without offering convincing proof, the Secretary concentrate his attention on hunting out places of possible waste.

WILBUR IN SPEECH

Admiral Magruder's assertions that the Navy is overorganized were touched upon indirectly today by Secretary Wilbur in a Navy Day speech before departmental employees.

"For the first time in history the fleet is ready for action at a moment's notice," the Secretary said. "The officers to man a war-time fleet are available, the vessels of the fleet are adequately equipped and stored. The Navy is so organized now as to be capable of expansion and of practically instant mobilization."

He said he regards the maintenance of 2000 employees here as essential to the preservation of the $2,600,000,000 of naval property and that he expects each of them to be able to "justify his retention before an Congressional committee or investigating committee," and added, that he welcomes suggestions from officers, men and civilian personnel for the betterment of the Navy.

MAGRUDER TELLS OF DISAPPOINTMENT

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 27. (AP)—Announcement that President Coolidge had refused him a hearing in his controversy with Secretary of the Navy Wilbur came as a "bitter disappointment" to Admiral Magruder, who has been detached from command of the Fourth Naval District because of his criticism of navy administration.

The admiral appeared greatly affected by the President's decision. He said he will accept it as final and go wherever he is ordered.

"I had hoped the President would give me an opportunity to review the controversy with him," said Admiral Magruder, "and am bitterly disappointed. The President's decision is final, of course, and I shall accept it as such."

Admiral Magruder was the central figure in most of the exercises here today in celebration of Navy Day. With Assistant Secretary of the Navy Robinson, he spoke at a "Navy Day" luncheon at the Penn Athletic Club and also took part in the exercises at the navy yard, including the decommissioning of the famous old United States gunboat Scorpion.

In neither address did Admiral Magruder refer to his recall.

Mr. Robinson intimated that there are too many navy yards in the United States, but he asserted that Congress wants them and that they must be maintained. Whatever "overorganization" exists in the Navy Department, Mr. Robinson said, is due to Congress.

"Congress doesn't know until it's all over what they have done," said the Assistant Secretary, "and then they are not sure about it. It is not the fault of the civilian or the military officers of the Navy Department if you fail to get $3 worth of work for every $3 appropriated."

FIREMEN AND DOCTOR WIN BABY LIFE BATTLE

CHICAGO, Oct. 27. (AP)—Six firemen and a physician who fought nineteen hours for the life of a baby five days of age, today decided they had won when the doctor said the infant was out of danger. The child, normal when born, developed paralysis of the lungs and the firemen forced oxygen into the lungs at intervals for nineteen hours.

CASTLE OWNER IN SALINAS JAIL

Prisoner Admits Name to be Mrs. Paddleford

Once Wife of Millionaire Los Angeles Oil Man

Theft Defendant Has Had Three Rich Husbands

SALINAS, Oct. 27. (AP) — Held in jail here for six weeks on a charge of grand theft preferred by a Carmel shopkeeper, a woman known as Mrs. Grace Potter today admitted that she is Mrs. Genevieve M. Paddleford, divorced wife of a Los Angeles millionaire, and asserts that she owns in her own name a mansion on the banks of the River Nile, and extensive estates in Egypt.

Mrs. Paddleford, known to have had three wealthy husbands, one of them Ben Teal, theatrical producer who staged "Ben-Hur," and another the "Cairo shipbuilder" whose name she refused to reveal here, first came into prominence in 1909 when she was convicted of inducing women to testify falsely in the divorce suit of Frank J. Gould. She says Ben Teal had a brother in Portland, Or.

Although reports stated that Mrs. Paddleford is wanted in a dozen United States cities on various charges, the Sheriff said that extensive investigation had failed to turn up anyone who wished to prosecute her. The Carmel charges grew out of a deal whereby Mrs. Paddleford traded a fur coat to the shopkeeper and took clothing in return. The merchant charged that the articles taken on account far exceeded the value of the coat.

The name Mrs. Paddleford is best known under was acquired by marriage with George E. Paddleford of Los Angeles. He later obtained a divorce, charging that his wife had been in jail in several European cities.

Shortly before the divorce Mrs. Paddleford was arrested in connection with $15,000 in debts to Hollywood and Pasadena clothiers.

The pioneer oil field acquired Egyptian estates through death of her Cairo husband.

ONCE FAMILIAR FIGURE IN DRAWING ROOMS HERE

Genevieve M. Paddleford, once a familiar figure in the drawing rooms of the socially elite of the city and later an equally familiar figure to the police of Europe and California, is no stranger to jails or prisons either, court records here disclosed.

Particularly, she is no stranger to the front pages of newspapers, where her escapades both here and abroad have placed her time and again, with short intervals between, since 1909.

In that year she hit the eye of the public and the police of New York and elsewhere, who took her up on a charge of subornation of perjury for inducing women to testify falsely in the divorce suit of Frank J. Gould and his wife, Helen K. Gould. She was convicted after a spectacular trial and served nine months on Blackwell's Island.

She was Mrs. Ben Teal at the time and the aftermath of her troubles was an alienation of affections suit filed by her husband and then his death before the suit came to trial. Soon after her release she came to California, her past behind her, and proceeded to make the most of her future. Dr. George L. Paddleford, wealthy Hollywood oil operator, married her without knowing anything of her past, and soon began to regret it.

Then Mrs. Paddleford departed for Europe. Her tour, during which she was accompanied by her adopted daughter, was interrupted again and again by arrests and imprisonments in various European cities, including Paris, Zurich and Vienna, where she bought clothes in profusion but failed in the matter of paying for them. Dr. Paddleford refused to come to her aid but she finally returned. He divorced her in 1923, charging that she had "snared, blackmailed and made a social outcast of him."

She made another trip to Europe, again found her way into jail, returned to Los Angeles and again went to jail here. She vanished from the public eye for awhile but is now once more a jail tenant.

Early Border Closing Asked

PHOENIX, Oct. 27. (Exclusive)—Efforts to obtain closing of the Arizona-Mexican border line between 6 p.m. and 6 a.m. have been inaugurated by the Anti-Saloon League of Arizona, following suggestions from Federal revenue officials. Separation of Arizona from the Southern California prohibition district was asked. Padlocking was advocated of all resorts which assist law violators by "the serving of cracked ice and ginger ale to patrons, for preparation of intoxicating liquor in their possession."

WOMAN GOES TO JAIL FOR ANNOYING MAN

OAKLAND, Oct. 27. (AP)—Twenty days in jail or payment of a $100 fine was the sentence meted out today to Kathleen Jackson, 21 years of age, who on two occasions disturbed the peace of James Kramm, whose affections she claimed. She went to jail. The woman was arrested September 25, last, after she had broken a glass door in the Kramm home with a stone. No charges were placed against her. On the 12th inst. she was arrested with a gun in her possession as she sought to get into the Kramm home.

GUNBOAT MUSTERED OUT

Magruder Likens Hauling Down of Scorpion's Flag to Retiring of an Admiral

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 27. (AP)—The United States gunboat Scorpion, famous ship of the Navy, after twenty-nine years service all on the seas, was mustered out of commission today as part of the observance of Navy Day at the Philadelphia navy yard. Rear-Admiral Thomas P. Magruder, commandant of the yard, was in charge of the ceremonial.

In an address to the crew he said that it was "like the retiring of an admiral at the age of 64."

The Scorpion on which has served many of the Navy's noted figures at one time or another, was a converted yacht, bought by the government and commissioned in 1898.

CREW LINES DECK

The crew lined the deck while a detachment of marines was drawn up on the deckhouse with the ship's band near by as Admiral Magruder and his staff in brilliant, full-dress uniform came aboard. Capt. H. A. Jones, commander of the Scorpion, waited with his staff, petty officers and the bos'n at the main gangway up which the admiral strode.

The bos'n in picturesque navy fashion, piped the admiral over the side, tooting a chortling note on his whistle as the commandant came aboard. Likewise, the band, as is customary, greeted the admiral with "flourishes and ruffles," on the drums and brass.

The admiral was escorted to the quarter-deck where he shook hands with Commander Jones and congratulated him on the voyage home of the Scorpion.

"Men," the admiral then told the crew, "there is something touching about this hauling down of the flag because this old ship may never go to sea again. It is like an admiral retiring at the age of 64. He hauls down his flag and realizes, at last, he is a has-been."

FLAG HAULED DOWN

The band struck up the "Star Spangled Banner," the commander of the marines smartly ordered "present arms," the officer in charge of the sailors called "attention," and as one verse of the "Star Spangled Banner" was played, started to haul down the colors and at the last bar of the anthem, the flag fell in the arms of a sailor waiting to receive it.

Simultaneously the strings of bright-colored flags with which the Scorpion had been decked, were hauled down.

The captain of the ship then turned to the crew: "Men, three cheers for the old ship."

The crew cheered lustily and the crowd on the dock caught the contagion and joined in the cheering.

The final and most impressive incident came after the crew had left the quarter-deck and there remained but a lone lieutenant.

A captain slipped aboard by a gangway at the bow, strode toward the quarter-deck and arriving there said: in crisp tones, "Where is the officer of the deck?"

The lieutenant came to attention and saluted. "Sir," he said, "there is no officer of the deck. The ship is out of commission."

PERSHING FAVORS ADEQUATE TRADE FLEET

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27. (AP)—Adequate preparedness requires a navy second to none and a merchant marine sufficient for America's commercial requirements, Gen. John J. Pershing today cabled Secretary Wilbur in a Navy Day message. The Secretary, speaking over the radio tonight, read Gen. Pershing's cable and urged development of sea power to free the American shippers from dependence on foreign-owned bottoms.

Engineer Finds He Has Daughter 9 Years of Age

CHICAGO Oct. 27. (AP)—A strange story of war, love and divorce was unfolded in Cook County Court today when Herman A. Baumgarten, a wealthy mining engineer from Heistgen, Germany, filed a petition to gain the custody of his 9-year-old daughter whom he had not seen before yesterday.

Baumgarten was married here in 1913. With the approach of the war, not wishing to be interned in this country, he moved to Mexico. For a time he prospected in the mountains, supporting his wife with the money he earned. But the two quarreled and it was not until 1923 that he learned that his wife had given birth to a girl, divorced him and had died several years later. After interminable delays he found that his daughter had been adopted by Mr. and Mrs. Louis Krueger of Evanston, Ill.

The Gruegers refuse to surrender the child. Today, after talking to the child for the first time, Baumgarten filed a petition to have the adoption set aside.

Two Denounce Remus's Wife

CHICAGO, Oct. 27. (AP)—Assertions that Mrs. Imogene Holmes Remus, recently slain by her husband, George Remus, in Cincinnati, first planned a raid with or without marriage upon Remus's bank account, then fell in love with the prohibition agent who sent her husband to prison and herself planned to slay Remus, went into depositions taken here today for use in the murder trial.

Charles P. Taft, II, Prosecuting Attorney at Cincinnati, and Charles Elston, counsel for Remus, examined a dozen men and women, some of them character witnesses.

An effort also was made to trace the defense's assertion that Mrs. Remus and Franklin L. Dodge, prohibition agent, were interested in disposal of whisky obtained by Remus in his guise of bootleg king after he deserted his Chicago law practice and went to Cincinnati.

A. W. Brockway, farm manager for Eugene Byfield, vice-president of the Hotel Sherman Company, who previously testified as to Remus's good character, shared with Mrs. Olive Weber Long of Chicago in picturing Mrs. Remus as intent upon Remus's possessions.

Royal Pair at Wedding Scene

NAPLES, Oct. 27. (AP)—Princess Anne of Bourbon, daughter of the pretender to the French throne, and the Duke of Puglia, a cousin of the King of Italy, spent a day on a special train from Rome to a place on the executive committee, in addition to the custodianship of the association's treasury and the supervision of its investments. The association, which has a membership of more than 21,000 banks, has a treasury containing considerably in excess of $1,000,000.

FIRST ENTRY OF BANK

The appointment of Mr. Giannini to the executive council marks the official entrance of the powerful Bank of Italy into the official ranks of the American Bankers' Association, although several of its officers, by reason of previous affiliations, are listed as important association committeemen. Mr. Giannini, with A. J. Mount, senior vice-president, has been here attending the convention.

His appointment is one of five made by the newly elected president of the association, as members of the executive council at large. The others are Thorton Cooke, president of the Columbia National Bank of Kansas City, Mo.; F. M. Law, vice-president of the First National Bank of Houston, Tex.; Harry J. Haas, vice-president of the Third National Bank of Philadelphia, and J. Elwood Cox, president of the Commercial National Bank of Highpoint, N. C.

The business of the convention came to a close today with the installation of officers elected yesterday, and the delivery of an address on "World European Banking and Big Business" by James Westfall Thompson, professor of history and philosophy, University of Chicago.

In outlining the early history of banking, Prof. Thompson observed that the international banker is not a product of the twentieth century, as is popularly supposed, nor even of the nineteenth.

BANKS LONG POWERFUL

The banking houses of the fourteenth and fourteenth centuries, he said, were international in scope, and banking was as much a factor in business development as it is today. "Then, as today," he pointed out, "unrestricted activity of bank credit proved disastrous and a degree of regulation was sought with the double effect of curtailing activity while rendering the residue more secure."

Many of the California delegation will visit along the gulf coast before returning, while others will pause at some Texas cities to cement their friendship with the bankers of this state. Already the delegates in large numbers are registering for the convention next year at Philadelphia. It is hoped by the Pacific Coast delegation that the association will decide to come west again for the following year's meeting.

ANGELENO GETS HIGH BANK POST

F. D. Longyear Chosen for Association Treasurer

A. P. Giannini Appointed to Executive Council

Californians Visit on Gulf as Convention Ends

BY EARLE R. CROWE
"Times" Financial Editor

HOUSTON (Tex.) Oct. 27. (Exclusive)—Two California bankers today were given high recognition by the executive council of the American Bankers' Association, which held its organization meeting following the close of the fifty-third annual convention this afternoon. A. P. Giannini, chairman of the advisory committee of the Bank of Italy National Trust and Savings Association, was appointed to the council, and F. D. Longyear, vice-president of the Security Trust and Savings Bank of Los Angeles, was named the treasurer of the association.

Mr. Longyear's position carries with it a place on the executive council and the administrative committee, in addition to the custodianship of the association's treasury and the direction of its investments. The council, which has a membership of more than 21,000 banks, has a budget containing considerably in excess of $1,000,000.

FIRST ENTRY OF BANK

The appointment of Mr. Giannini to the executive council marks the first entrance of the powerful Bank of Italy into the official ranks of the Bankers' Association, although several of its officers, by reason of previous affiliations, are listed as members of the association committees. Mr. Giannini, with A. J. Mount, senior vice-president, has been attending the convention.

Mr. Giannini is one of five men to be newly elected president. Frank A. Preston, as members of the executive council at large. The others are Therion Cooke, president of the Columbia National Bank of Kentucky, Mo.; P. M. Law, vice-president of the First National Bank of Boston, Mass.; Harry J. Haas, vice-president of the Third National Bank of Philadelphia, and J. Elwood Cox, president of the Commercial National Bank of Ridgefield, N. C.

The business of the convention will be a close today with the installation of officers elected yesterday and the delivery of an address on "Foreign Banking and Big Business" by James Westfall Thompson, professor of history and philosophy, University of Chicago.

Dr. Thompson observed the early history of banking, and declared the international banker is not a product of the twentieth century, as commonly supposed, nor even of the nineteenth.

BANKS LOOM POWERFUL

The banking houses of the thirteenth and fourteenth centuries, he said, were international in scope, and were as much a factor in commercial development as it is today. "Banking, as today," he pointed out, "was a political activity of bank rulers, and proved disastrous and a loss of reputation was sought with the same effect of curtailing activities and rendering the residue more secure."

Members of the California delegation will leave the gulf coast before Monday, while others will pause at various cities to cement their friendships with the bankers of this section. The delegates in large numbers are registering for the convention next year at Philadelphia, which is hoped by the Pacific Coast delegation that the association will decide to meet again for the following year's meeting.

RIVER FIGHT FUND ASKED BY ARIZONA

Additional $100,000 for Commission's Need Urged; Sale of Trail Approved

PHOENIX, Oct. 27. (Exclusive)—Expectation of a long-continued contest over the Colorado River question is indicated in a request to the Legislature for an additional $100,000 appropriation for the State's Colorado River Commission, which thus far has spent only $25,000 of the original $100,000 granted. Commissioners H. S. McCluskey and T. S. Kimball declare that California has appropriated more than $1,000,000 toward defense of its position in the river row and ask that provision be made for any financial contingencies.

The Legislature is giving approval of the sale of the Bright Angel Trail on the Grand Canyon by Coconino county to the United States, thus abolishing the last toll road in the state, as well as closing a controversy that has long been waged between the National Park Service and the Cameron interests in the canyon region. Following transfer of the trail, efforts will be made in Congress to obtain funds, possibly $1,000,000, for building a national highway from near Williams to El Tovar, fifty-two miles.

WISCONSIN CITY GIVEN LIBRARY BY ANGELENO

PALMYRA (Wis.) Oct. 27. (Exclusive)—Eight hundred persons were present here yesterday when the city of Palmyra formally was presented with the deed to a $10,000 library, the gift of William P. Powers, Los Angeles, a native of this city. The new structure was dedicated to David J. Powers, father of the donor, and founder of Palmyra. Dr. Glenn Frank, president of the University of Wisconsin, gave the dedicatory address in honor of Mr. Powers, the oldest living graduate of the State university.

TROTZKY QUIZ SECRETS GIVEN

Detective Report Charges Rebellion Plot

Contact Established With Non-Communists

Ousted Leaders Call Account Political Fiction

MOSCOW, Oct. 27. (AP)—A sensational account of the secret police investigation which led up to the expulsion of Leon Trotzky and Gregory Zinovieff from the central committee of the Communist party charging that the investigation established contact between non-Communist Trotzky adherents and counter-revolutionists who were planning armed rebellion, is printed today in Pravda, official organ of the central committee.

When faced with these data, the opposition leaders, including Trotzky and Zinovieff, called it a "G.P.U. detective novel."

(The G.P.U. is the abbreviation for the state political department, which formerly was known as the cheka.)

POINTS IN REPORT

The G.P.U. report to the central Communist committee, as published by Pravda, while charging contact between non-Communist Trotzky followers and military counter-revolutionists, absolves Trotzky and Zinovieff from personal knowledge of the contact, but stresses the following points:

(1.) The White Guards made no secret of pinning their hopes on the activities of the opposition. Former Kolchak officers, arrested by the police, repeated Trotzky's political doctrines and declared that an inter-party struggle offered a great opportunity to overthrow the soviet government.

(2.) White Guard conspirators conferred with some of the organizers of Trotzky's asserted secret printing plant to ascertain how the opposition could participate in or lead a counter-revolutionary conspiracy.

(3.) Nonparty sympathizers carrying out the instructions of Trotzky's opposition members organized a secret printing plant and sought people ready to participate in an enterprise against the Communist party, which naturally placed them in touch with soviet Russia's avowed enemies.

(4.) As the spheres of the bourgeoisie and petty bourgeoisie sympathizers grew, differences between them and the opposition Communists gradually disappeared. Persons carrying on illegal opposition activities simultaneously held steady contact with White Guards.

ACCUSED OF IRON RULE

Leon Kameneff and Christian Rakovsky, former soviet ambassador to France, attempting to defend the opposition policy of Trotzky and Zinovieff and describing what they declared were faults of present Communist leadership met with a demonstrative protest at a Communist mass meeting last night.

The protest became loudest when Rakovsky accused the Communist executive committee, which recently expelled Trotzky and Zinovieff from its councils of establishing "an iron party." Taking up this cue, those protesting against the criticism, shouted: "It's a Lenin regime."

Kameneff accused the ruling faction of lacking ideals, calling forth a new burst of protest. The meeting eventually wound up with a vote of approval of the expulsion of Trotzky and Zinovieff from the central committee.

THOMPSON'S AX HITS OWN SHIN

Chicago Mayor's War on King Viewed as "Flop"

Political Fences Weakened by Book Controversy

Friends Admit Convention Ambitions Blocked

CHICAGO, Oct. 27. (Exclusive)—With the press of the country, especially of the Middle West, poking fun at Mayor Thompson over his public-library censorship, the Mayor's close political friends are admitting to each other that Thompson's ambitions to play a major part in the Republican national convention in 1928 have received a fatal jolt.

The inner circle of the Mayor's advisers thinks he ought to heed the loud guffaws that are rolling up and down the Mississippi Valley. They want him to back out of the public-library mess as gracefully as possible and concentrate on some issue that will help get the minds of the people off the book bonfire.

Some of them believe that the Mayor's proposed trip to Washington next week in behalf of flood-control legislation at the head of a delegation of Aldermen and citizens will afford the means of a graceful retreat from the battle with King George on the bookshelves of the library.

It was only a few weeks ago that the whole Mississippi Valley was giving the Mayor a white alley on the flood-control problem. The speeches which he made during his trip to the Pacific Coast got respectful consideration in newspapers of the valley. The Mayor and his cohorts were so elated that the "Thompson-for-President" boom was started. The Mayor in several speeches announced he intended to go to the 1928 convention with fifty of the Illinois delegates.

THINGS ARE DIFFERENT NOW

Today, however, the Thompson camp is in gloom over the laughter that has been showered on the Mayor in localities where he thought he had made a hit. Some of his most enthusiastic well-wishers are chagrined over the ridicule that is being heaped on the Mayor and on Chicago.

They think that Thompson had a first-rate issue when he contended that there was British propaganda in this country to cancel British war debts and that there might even have been something substantial in his flings at Superintendent McAndrew of the Chicago public schools now on trial charged with disseminating pro-British propaganda among the school children. In the hands of able, scholarly investigators this crusade might have redounded to the Mayor's political benefit, they believe, but they admit that the outcome has been the biggest flop in the Mayor's political career.

Some of Thompson's enthusiastic henchmen thought the history bonfire for the public library was a grand idea until scores of prominent citizens called the whole thing absurd and insane. Those who have been checking up on the editorial comment around the country admit that as a national political figure the Mayor has suffered a fatal wallop in the solar plexus.

The one consolation they get out of the situation is that he probably is stronger today with the large anti-British groups among Chicago voters than he ever was.

WHAT MAYOR SAYS

The Mayor today handed the librarians and trustees of the Chicago Public Library the sharpest rap he has given them since declaring war upon King George V, and his American agents.

The Mayor addressed an open letter to members of the Chicago Public Library declaring:

"It has been brought to my attention that there is now being conducted in and out of the Chicago Public Library what appears to be a school or course for pro-British, un-American propaganda.

"As evidence I forward herewith a booklet or brochure now being circulated from the Chicago Public Library, entitled: 'Reading with a purpose. The Europe of our day.' By Herbert Adams Gibbons."

He added that the booklet "recommends to the citizen of Chicago the reading of six histories," four of which, he asserts, "are biased and unfair, and in instances most insulting in their comments on America and American policies, and that they contain much that palpably is untrue as well as detrimental to this country."

KLAN CHIEF TALKS

The Mayor then proceeded to ask for "enlightenment" on various passages from the histories, which were quoted in short little sentences, neatly paragraphed.

Mayor Thompson was congratulated by Gail S. Carter, Grand Dragon of the Illinois Ku Klux Klan, for waging war without quarter upon the King of England. But Mr. Thompson, according to Mr. Carter, has overlooked something. While so valiantly battling against British propaganda in Chicago, the Mayor has neglected "pro religious-denominational propaganda."

Nevertheless, Mr. Thompson need not worry about the oversight. The knight of the Ku Klux Klan forthwith will begin an investigation of religious distortions in the Chicago schools, said Mr. Carter, with the object of "ridding the public schools of Chicago of every influence and bit of propaganda that does not smack of 100 per cent Americanism, religious and otherwise."

"SPORT" LOOKS 'EM OVER

Another development in today's campaign against the British was a good word from U. J. (Sport) Herrmann, the Mayor's public library purger, for three American histories which had been suspected of high treason. Herrmann, having trained many years as newsboy, bill poster, stage hand and theater owner for his present post as book critic, announced that he'd been unable to find anything wrong with the works of three historians he had taken from the public library yesterday for examination, following complaints against them by the "Patriots' League."

The suspected volumes were Albert Bushnell Hart's "The American National History," C. H. Van Tyne's "The Causes of the War of Independence," another book by the same author, and Willis Mason West's "The Story of American Democracy." Asked whether he had read them, "Sport" replied:

"I looked through them last night. They're all right."

PLATFORM SET FORTH BY W.C.T.U.

Prohibition Lauded and Drive Promised to Urge Law Observance

SANTA CRUZ, Oct. 27. (AP)—The Women's Christian Temperance Union of California, north, in its closing business session this afternoon adopted a platform in which it declares prohibition the best method of dealing with the liquor traffic, states that benefits derived therefrom are in direct proportion to the degree of enforcement, pledges the organization to an educational campaign to promote law observance and pledges support to enforcement officials and the nomination and election of officials who are the undoubted friends of prohibition and who really care that America shall receive full benefit therefrom.

The platform asserts the belief of the W.C.T.U. that dry voters should actively support dry candidates for nomination and election. It declares nonmandatory referendums asking Congress to delegate to States power to fix the alcoholic content of liquors are valueless and a political trick to deceive the people. It insists the standard of society should conform to that of patriotic law observance. It commends writers and entertainers who eliminate from stories, plays and scenarios the idea that drinking is essential to a good time. It declares liquors have no place in the home medicine chest, brands as a public menace the bootlegging druggist who sells liquors without prescription, deplores the manufacture of home brew, and refuses to accept the Canadian plan of government sale as a substitute for prohibition.

DEATH DUE TO ALARM CLOCK

UNIVERSITY OF MISSISSIPPI, Oct. 27. (AP) — Frightened by the sound of an alarm clock, E. L. Mothershead, a freshman at the University of Mississippi, fell from the top bunk of a triple-decked bed and received injuries from which he died today.

Mothershead had placed the clock near his head so he would be certain to awake in time to catch a train for a football game, fellow-students said. He was 19 years of age.

FESS UNMOVED BY REPRIMAND

Continues to Voice Belief in Coolidge Drafting Interview With President Declared Exaggerated

White House Visit Cordial, Senator Asserts

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27. (AP)—Undismayed by the displeasure of the White House, Senator Fess of Ohio continues to tell inquirers that in his opinion President Coolidge will be renominated unless something more than the celebrated "I do not choose" statement is put before the voters.

In a letter to William John Eynon of Washington, the Ohio Senator has shed additional light on his recent conference with the President, from which he emerged to announce that Mr. Coolidge had expressed displeasure at the Senator's repeated renomination predictions.

The letter says that some of the stronger expressions which crept into newspaper accounts of the interview were not justified and that it would be wrong to suppose that the President had been "out of humor" with him.

"On the contrary," wrote Senator Fess, "I never found him more cordial."

REGRETS REPORTS

Mr. Eynon, a business man here whose voting residence is in Pennsylvania, had written Senator Fess mentioning the White House incident and expressing hope that Mr. Coolidge still may be kept in office. Mr. Fess's reply follows:

"I have your letter of the 21st inst. commenting upon the sensational newspaper item on Saturday. I somewhat regret that the newspapers treated the incident in such light.

"I was talking matters over with the President and as I was leaving, I said that I hoped he would not be displeased over my frequent reference to his being drafted next year, whereupon he said that if he were in my place he would not repeat that statement since it was a source of embarrassment to him as the public might interpret it as coming from me with his approval. I at once told him that I would remove any such suspicion.

CORDIAL VISIT

"Upon leaving the White House I told reporters that the President was displeased with my frequent reference to next year and I would like to have them make it clear that my statements were made purely on my own responsibility with no possible connection with the President's own feelings in the matter.

"The boys, knowing that I wanted this idea to get before the public, took the sensational plan of using such words as 'reprimand,' 'rebuke' 'chastise' and 'scoring,' none of which was true. In other words, the inference would be that the President was out of humor, when, on the contrary, I never found him more cordial.

"This episode can only have one result, that of further advancing the public interest in Mr. Coolidge. I have little doubt that unless another statement is forthcoming, the President will be renominated and in that case overwhelmingly elected."

Marriage Adds New Chapter to Miller Slaying

SAN JOSE, Oct. 27. (AP)—Marriage of Joseph C. Jean, San Fernando Valley rancher, to Mrs. Zada Miller, formerly of this city, in Los Angeles recently, according to the announcement of Attorney H. A. Gabriel here today, adds another chapter to the end of one of the strangest murder trials ever conducted here.

A month ago Jean escaped trial for the murder of Albert R. Miller, a wealthy Campbell orchardist, when Mrs. Miller, the victim's supposed wife and sole witness to the asserted murder, was prevented from testifying against Jean when the defense proved she was Jean's common-law wife prior to her marriage to Miller a year ago.

Balked by this dramatic ending, the prosecution brought an assault action against Jean sworn to by Mrs. Miller.

But the prosecution again was balked, for when the case was called Mrs. Miller was not to be found, and Jean walked from jail a free man.

Now, according to Gabriel, Mrs. Miller has married the man asserted to have slain her former spouse.

Grayson Plane Satisfactory in Two-Hour Test

OLD ORCHARD (Me.) Oct. 27. (AP) Pilot Wilmer Stultz today for two hour put Mrs. Frances Grayson's plane, the Dawn, through its paces in tests for another attempted flight to Europe.

The amphibian, rejuvenated with a new Wright motor to replace the one broken in the flight last Sunday, soared in and around the shore, mostly at low altitudes, to the delight of several hundred persons who shivered on the beach.

Those in the plane besides Stultz were Mrs. Grayson and T. Harold Kinkade, the motor expert. Navigator Brice Goldsborough did not fly today.

The flyers say that only one more hour in the air is needed to satisfy them that the ship is ready to continue its journey to Copenhagen.

It appears improbable tonight that any attempt to start will be made before Saturday.

Black Wolves Foray Feared

WINNIPEG (Man.) Oct. 27. (Exclusive)—Large packs of Alaskan black wolves, the most ferocious killers of the north, have invaded the Lake of the Woods district of Northern Ontario, Indian trappers report. They are devouring all kinds of game and already single wolves have killed bull moose, a feat not even credited to the feared timber wolves.

Trappers fear that if the packs remain until winter and other game is scared away they will attack humans. Scarcity of food in the subArctic is thought to be the reason for the invasion. Packs of the black beasts rarely have come so far south.

By keeping the system cleansed of poisons

MEN of science are constantly working on a problem vital to the human race—longevity! They find that one of the surest ways to increase your span of life is to keep the intestines cleansed of poisons due to wrong habits of living and eating and to delayed elimination. They find everybody in danger of this condition—everybody suffering from it at times.

Many of our foremost scientists recommend the use of Nujol as a harmless corrective and preventive. For Nujol does both things for you because it has the peculiar quality of not being absorbed by the system at all. But Nujol does absorb body poisons. Carries them away right out of the system. Corrects internal difficulties. If taken faithfully Nujol makes impossible delayed elimination and the absorption of poisons into the blood. Thus it acts as a preventive. Your whole system will benefit if you learn to use Nujol whenever you feel the need of it. Nujol is so safe that babies, old people, and sick people can take it too. Ask your doctor about it. He'll tell you it can't hurt you. It's not habit-forming, contains no drugs or medicine. Perfected by the Chemical Products Division of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey.

Nujol contains no drugs or medicine. It is different from anything else. Absolutely pure and safe to take under any conditions.

You can get Nujol at any druggist. The genuine product comes in the famous Nujol bottle with the label on the back that you can read right through the bottle. Don't delay—get a bottle at once.

NATIONAL GUARD ON STRIKE DUTY

New Mexico Orders Force to Mine Area

Gov. Allen Will Tolerate No I.W.W. Meddling

Adams Acts as Colorado Dispute Mediator

SANTA FE (N. M.) Oct. 27. (AP)—Acting on a report that the I.W.W. are promoting a strike in Colorado and plan to invade the Colfax county coal fields of New Mexico, Gov. Dillon this afternoon ordered a force of thirteen National Guardsmen under command of Capt. Thomas V. Truder to that county.

The troops are from the Las Vegas company of the One Hundred and Twentieth Engineers. They are to be sent merely for investigation purposes, a telegram from Gov. Dillon to Sheriff William Davis of Colfax county indicates.

The telegram says:

"We want no interference from the I.W.W. with New Mexico industries. Am sending National Guard officers immediately, instructing them to investigate and make necessary plans to prevent trouble and for the protection of the miners."

GOV. ADAMS ACTS IN MEDIATOR ROLE

DENVER, Oct. 27. (AP)—Growing restiveness on the part of striking coal miners today found Gov. Adams acting in the impromptu role of mediator in initial negotiations between the operators and "regular" miners for settlement of the controversy which partially has paralyzed the coal fields.

Nine miners, who said they had been selected to represent the workers of the State, conferred with Gov. Adams this afternoon and decided to invite the coal operators to meet with them Monday to see if a basis for a settlement can be reached. Coal operators have not signified what answer they will make to the invites.

Earlier Gov. Adams conferred with representatives of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company and the Victor American Fuel Company and said they evidenced a desire to confer with "regular" employees—meaning those not affiliated with the Industrial Workers of the World.

MINERS' DEMANDS

The striking miners told the Governor they want the Jacksonville wage scale, establishing a basic wage of $7.75 a day, better working conditions and check weight man at all mines.

One outbreak was reported in the Southern Colorado fields today when miners and strikers clashed at the Del Agua mine in Las Animas county. Numerous blows were exchanged between the two factions before deputy sheriffs stopped the fight. Sheriff Marty of Las Animas county employed six more deputy sheriffs as a result of the fight and said county officers are going to take care of the situation. Several hundred strikers, with I.W.W. leaders from all parts of Southern Colorado concentrated their efforts on the Del Agua mine. A 19-year-old girl, Amella Sandlick, led the I.W.W. forces.

NORTH MINES AFFECTED

The "pilgrimage" of Northern Colorado strikers to the Fremont county fields 150 miles away bore fruit today and mines there were affected for the first time since the strike was called, more than a week ago. The mines were operating but with about half the normal forces.

Preparations went forward in the office of the adjutant-general of the Colorado National Guard today to meet any situation. A check has been made on all equipment, enlistment rolls have been brought up to date for all companies and transportation facilities have been ascertained. Adjt.-Gen. Paul P. Newlon informed Gov. Adams that troop movements can be made within a few hours if mobilization is ordered.

COOK CASE TO BE REVIEWED

Chief Justice Taft Announces Court's Intentions Concerning Probation Refusal

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27. (AP)—Dr. Frederick A. Cook, explorer, was in effect granted a review by the Supreme Court today of the decision of the Circuit Court of Appeals refusing to permit the Federal District Court, before which he was tried and convicted of using the mails to defraud, to release him on probation.

When the court today reached the case of Glen Murray from Nebraska for oral argument regarding his being placed on probation the day after he had commenced serving his sentence, Chief Justice Taft stated that the court also had decided to review the Cook case and he ordered the two cases argued on November 21, next, when the court returns from its recess.

In the Cook case, Asst. Atty.-Gen. Willebrandt explained to the court, the question presented is the power of the court to place the prisoner on probation after the close of the term at which he was convicted while in the Murray case the issue is whether probation can be extended under the new law after the prisoner has begun to service his sentence.

Chief Justice Taft remarked that the two questions were entirely new under the probation law and that the court had decided to go thoroughly into the matter.

YOSEMITE PARK PLANS OUTLINED

Mather Says New Area Will Exceed Lost Tract

Big Oak Flat Road Will Be of Easy Grades

Tuolumne Grove May be Made National Monument

STOCKTON, Oct. 27. (Exclusive)—Stephen T. Mather, director of national parks, addressing a meeting of the new Big Oak Flat Highway Association here last night, discussed at some length the proposal of the National Park Service to relocate the present Big Oak Flat road into Yosemite National Park, and the matter of changing the western boundary of the park between El Portal and Mather.

Director Mather explained in answer to many objections throughout the State that to compensate for the part of the park to be lost by the boundary change it is proposed to add a much larger tract east of Mather, a cottonwood area essential as a watershed for San Joaquin Valley irrigation.

GROVE MAY BE MONUMENT

Of the 13,000 acres of land to be removed by the proposed change, only about one-fifth is government land, he said, the remaining property belonging to the Yosemite Lumber Company. The part of the land which includes the Tuolumne grove of big trees will be made into a national monument if the recommendations of the President's co-ordinating commission is followed, said Mather. This will give the grove the same protection as formerly.

The Park Service, he said, has tried for many years to eliminate private lumber lands from the park. Following a visit last year of the co-ordinating commission to the park, it was agreed that the problem could be solved through the proposed boundary change. The commission consisted of Col. W. B. Greeley, chief of the Forest Service; Mr. Mather of the Park Service, Representative Temple of Pennsylvania, Duncan MacDuffie and A. C. Ringland.

Relocating and construction of the new Big Oak Flat road northern entrance to the park is the next large job of the Park Service, he said. The relocated road was surveyed last year at a cost of $12,000, and the first bids for construction of the road will be received up to March 13, 1928. Total cost of the road will be approximately $1,300,000, of which approximately $400,000 will be expended on next year's program.

WILL REMAIN SCENIC

The new road will have no grades more than 6 per cent, will be considerably lower than the present road and will be open at least eight months out of the year, said Mr. Mather. In addition, it always will be a scenic road, approaching in this respect the present road. To insure this, an agreement has been reached with the Yosemite Lumber Company through whose lands the relocated road runs, whereby a strip of virgin timber for 1000 feet on either side of the road will be conserved.

Next year's work will involve construction of the road from the park to Cascade Falls. The next two years' work, he said, will complete the road as far as Crane Flat. Part of the timber along the relocation already has been cut over, about two miles in all. On November 2, Mr. Mather will ask Gov. Young and the State Highway Commission to place convict labor in this area for reforestation work, and at the same time will outline the general road plans.

Practically all cities in Northern California were represented at the meeting at which Mr. Mather spoke. Organization of the Big Oak Flat Highway Association was completed. The association has for its only purpose the promotion of the relocated road and the saving of a fringe of timber along it. C. B. Reynolds of Stockton was elected president, George Bentley of Oakdale, vice-president, and A. M. Robertson of Stockton, secretary.

YOUNG TOLD OF PLANS TO HELP BLIND

Three Commissioned to Outline Relief for State's Indigent Sightless

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 27. (AP) — An investigation to determine the number of indigent blind in California in need of aid and the help necessary to refit them for an 'occupation in society today was urged upon Gov. Young by members of his executive council. Likewise it was urged that a state salesroom be established for the sale of small articles manufactured at the institutions without their being commercialized.

The conditions confronting the blind were given to Gov. Young by Earl E. Jensen, director of institutions, and were augmented by Mrs. Anna L. Saylor, director of social welfare, and William John Cooper, director of education.

Jensen, Cooper and Mrs. Saylor were commissioned by Gov. Young to plan such an investigation at the same time designating which department should carry it out. This survey will show what should be done to aid the unfortunates and also what legislation will be necessary to bring such changes about.

Jensen told the executive the Industrial Home for the Adult Blind at Oakland, where recently a sweeping investigation of conditions was made, is failing of its purpose because many of those taken in are becoming institutionalized and never leave.

Forests Record Gain in Revenue Over Last Year

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27. (Exclusive)—The first quarter of the current fiscal year which began July 1, 1927, brought an increase of $110,091.04 in the total receipts of the national forests over the corresponding period last year, it was announced by the Forest Service, Department of Agriculture, today.

Total receipts from July 1 to September 30 this year amounted to $1,338,569.44, as against $1,228,478.40 in the same quarter of the preceding fiscal year.

The national forests of District 5 (the State of California) took in the greatest amount during the last quarter, a total of $456,698.45. District 6, comprising the States of Washington and Oregon, came next with $289,331.04.

France Gives Legion Cross to Pasadenan

PARIS, Oct. 27. (Exclusive)—Arthur Henry Fleming, the Pasadena (Cal.) lumber king, was made a chevalier of the Legion of Honor by President Gaston Doumergue in recognition of his building a concrete structure to house the car in which the armistice was effected at the identical spot in the forest of Compeigne where the memorable document was signed.

The car had been at the Invalides, but the rain and snow rotted the woodwork and there was nowhere to place it until the American constructed the shelter.

Veiller Drops 'Elmer Gantry'

NEW YORK, Oct. 27. (AP)—The New York Sun says today that Bayard Veiller has destroyed the manuscript of his dramatization of Sinclair Lewis's novel, "Elmer Gantry," and returned his $2000 advance royalties because he believes production of the play will offend "too many people, especially clergymen."

DUVALL GUARDS CITY HALL

Convicted Mayor Plans Battle for Office as Council Appoints Successor to Take Reins

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 27. (AP)—A detail of policemen stood guard over the Mayor's office here tonight as two men claimed the place—John L. Duvall, who was elected in January, 1926, and Claude E. Negley, appointed by the Common Council late today.

Declaring the office had been vacant since Duvall's conviction, September 22, for violating the Corrupt Practices Act, the Council named Negley, its presiding officer, as Mayor pro tem. Monday, November 7, is set as the date for the Council to name "a citizen of Indianapolis" to fill Duvall's unexpired term.

Following the Council's action, Duvall set up a detail of policemen to guard the executive offices. They are said to be heavily armed. Even the doors to the City Hall are locked—an unusual event.

"If anybody gets in here tonight it will be over my body," Detective Sergeant Arthur Reeves, who is Duvall's bodyguard, declared.

Duvall, who declined to see newspaper men, previously declared he will not relinquish the place. Negley said he will make formal demand for the office tomorrow.

The Council took matters into its hands on the assumption that Indianapolis is without a city controller, who ordinarily would become Mayor in the event of a vacancy in the office. The City Fathers held that Mrs. Maude E. Duvall, wife of the Mayor, appointed by her husband after his conviction, is not a legal office holder.

The Council's action is the latest effort made to get Duvall out of office since he was convicted of having made political deals with William H. Armitage, local politician, during the 1925 campaign. Ouster proceedings were filed earlier in the week in the Marion Circuit Court.

Duvall has served nearly half of his four-year term.

Smooth, mellow, fragrant

And 11,105* doctors say Lucky Strike prevent throat irritation

WHAT is the quality that Antonio Scotti, Rosa Raisa, Lawrence Tibbett, Leon Rothier, Florence Macbeth, Holbrook Blinn, Alice Brady, and other famous singers, actors, broadcasters and public speakers have found that makes LUCKY STRIKES delightful and of no possible injury to their voices?

For the answer we turned to medical men and asked them this question:

Do you think from your experience with LUCKY STRIKE cigarettes that they are less irritating to sensitive or tender throats than other cigarettes, whatever the reason?

11,105* doctors answered this question "Yes."

Consider what these figures mean; consider that they represent the opinion and experience of doctors, those whose business it is to know.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases; and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (Advertisement.

INDUSTRY ASKS SLASH IN TAXES

National Manufacturers to Draft Platform

Better Immigration System One Plank Planned

Convention Urges Federal Control of Floods

CHATTANOOGA (Tenn.) Oct. 27. (AP)—Tax reductions, a better administered system of restricted immigration, a Federal devised and executed plan of Mississippi flood control, are among the demands American manufacturers will voice during the Presidential campaign next year.

Although the National Association of Manufacturers later will draft a complete platform of industry, with fourteen planks, its annual convention before adjourning final session today expressed the sentiment of the membership in resolutions covering five of the planks.

The association urged extension of the work of the joint Congressional committee on taxation toward simplification of the revenue laws and administrative reform.

The next Congress is urged to make the corporation tax the subject of its major reduction "because it will remedy long-standing injustice and because such action will confer the widest social benefit."

Belief was expressed that a fair corporate tax should approximate the normal individual tax rate save in national emergency.

The manufacturers urged that the Federal government abandon the field of estate taxation to the States and re-enter it only during national emergencies.

Expressing the conviction that it is the primary duty of the Federal government to establish effective control of the flood waters of the Mississippi River, the manufacturers believe that control must be devised and executed by the appropriate engineering officers of the United States, and the plan should be shaped "with that single object in view and relieved from the handicap of any other plans or secondary proposals which interested groups or sections of partisans may seek to attach to it."

He will spend a few days there before continuing on to Mexico City via the West Coast.

Gen. Obregon came here prior to the birth several weeks ago of his seventh child.

DRY SAYS WETS HIRED MINISTER

Empringham Denies Charge of League Official

Pastors Reported Favoring Modification of Law

Antiprohibition Gift Brings Caustic Comment

NEW YORK, Oct. 27. (AP)—Orville S. Poland, legal adviser of the New York Anti-Saloon League, charged today that Rev. James Empringham, secretary of the society that conducted a poll on the liquor question among Episcopal clergymen, was in the pay of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment.

"I am not and never have been on the pay roll of that organization," Dr. Empringham replied, "but I wish I were, for it is nothing to be ashamed of and I could use the money."

Poland said he had discovered that Dr. Empringham was on the pay roll of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment two years ago, while in Washington, where he was investigating an earlier questionnaire circulated by the Church Temperance Society, the organization which conducted the present poll.

MAJORITY WET

Of those who have answered the latest questionnaire so far 1032 favor modification of the Volstead Act, and 503 are opposed to modification. Bishop Manning made no comment on the questionnaire today, but at the time of the previous one he was outspoken in his censure of Dr. Empringham.

Mr. Poland today issued a statement asserting that if the society conducting the poll had any connection with the Episcopal Church he would refuse to comment upon its findings. Pointing out that Bishop Manning some time ago made it clear that the organization is not a part of the church, he declared:

GIFT COMMENTED ON

"News that so many clergymen are aligned against the prohibition law is in itself startling because, on the face of it, it would seem impossible to find a thousand clergymen who would be against anything which is for the welfare of the people. Those who advertise that fact admit unconsciously the anomaly that any minister can be found who is against anything so desirable and beneficial as prohibition."

The statement pointed out that the society had announced receipt of a gift of $50,000 to "push the fight against prohibition."

"It would be interesting to know who the donor was," Mr. Poland said, "but no doubt any announcement of his identity would be so made as to cover up his probable connection with the Association against the Eighteenth Amendment."

NEW HAWAII SHIP SAILS TO COAST

Admiral Benson Praises Liner Malolo

Points to Ease of Making it Fighting Craft

Nation Should Build More Like Her, He Says

NEW YORK, Oct. 27. (AP)—The United States should do less verbal fighting over cruisers and build more ships like the new liner Malolo, which can be converted in a fighting craft in event of war, Rear-Admiral William S. Benson declared today.

Admiral Benson revealed before he sailed as a passenger with the Malolo on "its trip 'round Honolulu that the vessel is thoroughly protected against submarines and torpedoes by the new arrangements of subdivisions in her hull.

"Money spent on vessels of this class would not be idle during peace and the ships would be valuable in time of war," said the admiral, who was chief of naval operations during the war.

He evaded a direct answer, however, when asked whether the ship had bases for gun turrets and space allotted for other fighting apparatus, although admitting "the Malolo has much in her construction that I do not care to talk about and that has not been revealed."

The admiral will accompany the vessel as far as San Francisco, where she will enter the regular San Francisco-Hawaii service of the Matson Navigation Company.

Among the passengers are Gov. Farrington of Hawaii and officials of the Matson Line, including William P. Roth, its president.

BURBANK

AROUND YOUR HOME

—a growth that is perfectly planned

HOW fondly you dream of your future home! How carefully you translate your vision of it into a design—a definite, intensely definite plan. And then—how mercilessly you follow its creation into a beautifully cherished reality!

But what of its environment? What of the houses that will surround it—the streets that will lead to it—the schools, the churches, the stores, the public institutions that will serve it? Shall they be provided for only as needed—in a costly, unplanned inadequate way?

Or shall you come to a community so perfectly planned that you can read its future like an open book? A community where you know you are forever protected against costly assessments to correct mistakes in city planning—where you can see for years ahead just what facilities and advantages—educational, commercial and cultural—you and your family will enjoy!

Things to Think of NOW!

There are vast things to come to the future! Los Angeles alone today are paying over $65,000,000 to widen and straighten streets, provide sites for a Civic Center, correct other mistakes due to the lack of a city plan. Chicago's bill for the same purposes, over a period of 30 years, will be more than THREE BILLION DOLLARS! All of which would have been saved if a complete city plan had been provided when it was first needed!

Benmar Hills has gained national recognition because it has forever guarded against such errors with its celebrated city plan. In that plan, sites are provided for every need—for industrial and school, every church, every club, every transportation and business facility requisite to a city of over 150,000 inhabitants. Each institution or factory is allocated to the site best suited for its purpose, and set where chance or emergency in future years, might place it!

Included in the plan is a 20-acre Civic Center and a magnificent street system of which the prime feature is a superb, 200-foot thoroughfare—Benmar Boulevard—traversing the heart of Benmar Hills.

Plan Officially Adopted by Burbank

The thriving city of Burbank is already overflowing with industry that must sweep right over Benmar Hills. And realizing and appreciating the value of having the field of its future development to perfectly prepared, has officially adopted the entire Benmar Hills City Plan. It has accepted it and to the Civic Center with the definite provision that all future municipal buildings, such as the new city hall, library, postoffice and others, shall be erected there. It has adopted the entire street system of Benmar Hills—erected its new $500,000 High School on a Benmar Hills site—and purchased a location there for a grade school.

When you come to Benmar Hills, therefore, you find a completely planned community with the government of a well established flourishing city in control and co-operating in its development.

Burbank Growing With Unrivaled Speed!

Of all the cities in the metropolitan area of Los Angeles Burbank is now unfolding the greatest possibilities. Already within five years it has grown from 5,000 to 22,000! And business men, bankers, community planning experts and investors are agreed that Burbank's development in the next five years will be fully comparable with that of Glendale, Hollywood, Santa Monica and other communities during the period of their most astounding progress. All of which assures a permanent value in Benmar Hills property that will show a tremendous increase.

Conveniently Accessible

Benmar Hills is a splendid sweep of gentle slopes and foothills at the base of the magnificent Verdugos, commanding a marvelous view of San Fernando Valley and its circle of mountains. Highways now being constructed will bring Benmar Hills within a twenty minute drive of the business center of Los Angeles, making it an ideal place for the homes of business and professional men.

Over $1,000,000 has been invested in improvements, $400,000 in additional improvements will be installed in the near future and over $2,000,000 worth of sites have been purchased.

No Sunday Selling!

No Sunday selling is conducted at Benmar Hills. Visitors are cordially invited to avail themselves of Sunday to inspect the property at their leisure. Complete information will be furnished at the Administration offices upon request.

How to Reach Benmar Hills

From the business center of Los Angeles via North Broadway or Second Street Tunnel and Glendale Boulevard to San Fernando Road and north to Benmar Hills.

From Hollywood via Los Feliz Blvd. to San Fernando Blvd. or via Cahuenga Pass to Dark Canyon or Pass Ave. and Olive Street to San Fernando Blvd., and north to Benmar Hills.

RIGHT against the city limits of one of the wealthiest and fastest-growing cities in California—San Bernardino, whose present population of 40,000 has doubled in five years' time.

The rapid growth of the Gate City of Southern California, through which 200,000 people from eastern states enter the Los Angeles area ever year, is attracting the interest of investors throughout the Southwest. Its expansion in population is based on the most solid of foundations—big industrial payroll.

San Bernardino has more than 50 industrial plants with an aggregate payroll of $18,000,000 a year—one of the largest per capita of any city in America.

Building permits in the city since the beginning of 1922 have totaled more than $18,000,000, and for 1927 will approach the $4,000,000 mark.

Schools, Public Buildings and Parks

San Bernardino is a beautiful city, with the finest of schools from primary to Junior College; wide, tree-shaded streets, attractive homes, massive and dignified public buildings, fine churches, clubs and public parks. Its building development is modern, due to intensive growth within the past five years.

Realty values have increased and are increasing enormously—in many instances from 500 to 1000 per cent in five years—and yet there has been no speculative inflation. The city has never had anything resembling a "boom."

Acreage Here a Great Buy

Adjoining the city limits of San Bernardino on the Northwest is Muscoy, a large acreage of level land with deep, rich soil that produces maximum yields of all fruit and vegetable crops and is abundantly irrigated by one of the best water supplies in Southern California.

Hundreds of thousands of dollars have been spent in such improvements as pressure water mains for irrigation and domestic water, paved streets, electric power lines, gas mains and city telephone service, affording every city convenience to Muscoy homesite owners.

These homesites, planted to fruit trees, berries, vegetables or other crops, will produce a comfortable income for the owners, which can be increased by White Leghorn poultry plants or from other sources recommended by our farm advisors.

More than 125 of these homesites have been sold during the past six months. A score of homes are completed or under construction and 50 of these, it is expected, will be completed before the end of the year.

Buy Now—Prices Are Rising!

We are offering a limited number of homesites of 2¼ acres each, with water rights, served with gas, electricity and city telephone service, on paved streets, at a total price of $1350. Small down payment and only $17 per month—you will agree that these are the greatest acreage bargains in Southern California today. Other units of from 2 to 10 acres, planted to fruit trees or berries, or unplanted at low cost on easy terms.

See Muscoy at once, before prices go up. San Bernardino's rapid growth is directly toward our property. Let us arrange to show you Muscoy in one of our private cars. Call at one of our offices, phone or mail the coupon for our new illustrated booklet on Muscoy Opprtunities.

SAVES FORTUNE DISTRIBUTE

Newport Beach Man's Estate Goes to Relatives

Keeper of Store in Boom Oil Town

Property Valued at $175,000 to be Taken East

SANTA ANA, Oct. 27.—Six residents of Asheville, N. C., and Butler, Pa., will foregather in Santa Ana early in November to pack up and go in Orange county money and come back East with them.

Tentatively speaking, that decision of the scheduled distribution of the late Tom Robinson's estate, which will be formally divided between relatives on November 4, according to an announcement today by Attorney W. F. Menton, representing Administrator Charles D.

The former Newport Beach bathhouse inspector's estate is, incidentally, the largest that the public administrator has ever handled. It is made up including real estate in Newport Beach valued at $40,000, $110,000 in Signal Oil stock and the balance in mortgage and municipal bonds. Redistributing of the administration estate, the total to $196,000, of which $118,000 remains to be distributed, it is said.

Heirs to the estate include Mrs. E. J. Ranstead, E. E. Dennison, Mrs. C. Dennison, R. A. Carter and M. Carter, all of Asheville, N. C., and Mrs. Mary Carson of Butler, Pa. Mrs. Carson is now in Santa Ana with her husband, daughter and son-in-law, Howard Rivers. Mr. and Mrs. Rivers were married en route here from Rock, Ark., and are now on their honeymoon. R. B. Williams of Pasadena, attorney for the heirs, and brother-in-law of Mrs. Meriweather, is also in Santa Ana. The other heirs are expected shortly.

Tempts Life of Official

SANTA BARBARA, Oct. 27.—Following an attempt upon the life of Chief Clarence C. Ward in his office this morning, police arrested Faron, 34 years of age, of Ogden, on an insanity charge. According to Mr. Ward, Faron left his home shortly after 2 o'clock this morning and attempted to split the head with a heavy length of lead pipe. Following the hour, spent alternately in jail and holding off his assailant, Ward finally argued Faron into the attempted assault.

Upon entering Mr. Ward and E. L. Colt, of trying to railroad him to the asylum, left, saying that he would go to the police station and kill Faron. Police S. S. Kelley, Mr. Ward and Officers McCracken, Colt and Hall recommended Faron as he was taken his way from the city, after a strenuous battle, succeeded in disarming him.

JUDSON FINDS BODY OF WOMAN

SANTA ANA, Oct. 27.—The body of Mrs. Henningsen, 68 years of age, was found late yesterday hanging from a rafter in the garage at the home of her son-in-law, W. S. Judd, 1215 Tenth street, where she apparently committed suicide by her daughter, Mrs. Sandidge, 1205 from home.

Discovery of the body was made by her grandson, Robert Sandidge, and his chum, Bobby Stump, 1204 Linden avenue, as they were playing. The lads raised the alarm and brought Mr. Sandidge, and he in turn summoned Coroner Dr. Philip Zeiss of Burbank. No inquest will be held, it is said.

Mrs. Henningsen is said to have been in poor health for some time and is reported to have made several attempts at suicide, one of last year and another the last Christmas holidays.

PROMOTED FROM COUNTY CHAIN GANG

SANTA ANA, Oct. 27.—James L. [illegible] who escaped from a county camp in the County Park March 3, while he had but a few months to serve of a 300-day sentence, was [illegible] from Utah to face [illegible] in prison for his escape, according to word received from Utah officials.

George H. Dern has answered a request from Gov. [illegible] of California for extradition of [illegible], who was recently arrested in Ogden, Utah. [illegible] will be taken by Deputy Sheriff M. E. Jemison. Faron is now in Ogden [illegible] as a prisoner.

Faron was originally sentenced at Santa Ana January 28 on a charge [illegible] of liquor.

POPULAR LECTURE

SANTA ANA, Oct. 27.—Prof. R. R. [illegible] will give the popular Friday-night scientific lecture at the California Institute of Technology tomorrow night on "The Principles of Flight" [illegible] in Sonne Engineering [illegible]. The lecture will be illustrated with experiments, and will begin from 7:30 to 8 p.m. It is open to the public without charge.

LODGES HONOR OLD MEMBERS

Aid in Celebration of Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Amador Coltrin

Masonic Lodge and Eastern Star Chapter of Covina stage golden wedding reception.

COVINA, Oct. 27.—The fiftieth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Amado Coltrin, which occurs tomorrow, will be observed tonight by La Paloma Chapter, O.E.S. After the regular monthly supper and an initiation there will be a program and a reception honoring Mr. and Mrs. Coltrin that will be attended by many of their older Masonic friends. Mr. Coltrin, who is a Past Master of Blue Lodge, No. 334, was the first Patron of La Paloma Chapter, and Mrs. Coltrin served the chapter as 1st third Matron twenty-five years ago. A handsome silver flower bowl will be presented to Mr. and Mrs. Coltrin by the chapter as a memento of the anniversary.

Amador Coltrin and Ella Heath were married October 28, 1877, at Compton at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Heath. Mrs. Auda Mayo and her daughter, Mrs. Mabel Taylor of Compton, witnesses of the ceremony, will be among the guests tonight. Mr. and Mrs. Coltrin's children, Marion Coltrin of Tamuco, Mex., Mrs. W. S. Sawyer, Charles Coltrin of Covina and Ray Coltrin of Huntington Park, will also be present. Mr. Coltrin, who is a prominent orange grower, and his wife have resided in Covina since 1900.

Civil Action Proper Way Says Court

FULLERTON, Oct. 27.—Ruling that the matter was one for decision in a civil action rather than in the criminal courts, intent being lacking on the part of the defendant to support the embezzlement charge, Judge H. I. Spence of the Justice Court dismissed the charge of embezzlement filed by F. M. Anderson of Placentia against J. H. Hall, former head of the Hall Motors Company, which has operated as an automobile sales agency in Fullerton, Long Beach and Santa Ana.

F. M. Anderson, plaintiff, said that in the purchase of a car from the Hall Motors Company, a sum of $305 paid on the automobile through the local agents had not been turned over to the Frank Finance Company of Los Angeles, and because he was not credited with this amount he was forced to make an additional payment of $800 to the finance company to complete the buying of the car.

Witnesses testifying for the defendant showed that an equity in two others cars and financial imbursement to the amount required had been turned into the finance corporation in lieu of the $805, and that the extra $500 payment was made on demand of the finance company and not through the motor-sales agency.

ANNUAL TRIBUTE TO OLD PIONEERS

THREE RIVERS, Oct. 27.—Pioneers of the Three Rivers district of Tulare county will be guests of the Woman's Club here at their annual "old people's" dinner on Saturday at the Woman's clubhouse. Thirty-eight persons more than 70 years of age have been invited to this event. This is one of the "red letter" affairs of the year for elderly people of this section.

During the past year several of the pioneers who have taken a prominent part in the celebration have passed away.

DEMANDED ALIMONY AT POINT OF GUN

CORCORAN, Oct. 27.—Because he claims his ex-wife, Mae Clark, attempted to collect $60 which she claims due on delinquent alimony, at the point of a pistol, Frank Clark, an employee at a Guernsey warehouse, has caused a warrant to be issued for her arrest on a charge of displaying a deadly weapon in a menacing and threatening manner.

Clark, it is said, seized the weapon and discharged it in the air.

Mrs. Clark left the scene before the officers arrived. Clark went to Hanford and swore to a complaint.

FOR POLICE RELIEF

HUNTINGTON PARK, Oct. 27.—The Huntington Park Police Relief Association is a new organization which has been formed by the members of the local department, which will provide for police officers and their families in case that they are sick and disabled while in the performance of their duties. The officers selected are Police Sergeant Charles Imus, president; Chief of Police Charles Appiestill, vice-president, and Claude Imus, secretary and treasurer.

GROWER MEMBERS TO MEET

Dates Set for Gatherings in Various Parts of Southern California

FRESNO, Oct. 27.—Meetings of grower members of the California Vineyardists' Association will be held in seventeen districts of the State, beginning November 7, for the purpose of electing eighty-four members to a growers' advisory council, which will elect directors of the association at the annual meeting in December, it was announced today.

The largest advisory representation is given to Fresno county, which will have fifteen members, and also the largest number of directors with seven. The Fresno meeting will be held at 8 p.m. November 14.

Other meetings will be held as follows: Ontario, 2 p.m., November 16; Bakersfield, 8 p.m., November 16; Exeter, 8 p.m., November 8; Hanford, 8 p.m., November 12; Madera, 2 p.m., November 8; Livingston, 2 p.m., November 9; Modesti, November 17; Lodi, November 29; Morgan Hill, November 28; Healdsburg, November 22; Ukiah, November 21; Livermore, November 25; Florin, November 7; Napa, November 23; Marysville, November 26.

Southern California districts have been provided in the new set-up as follows: District 12, Fresno county; district 13, Kings county; five advisers, one director; district 14, Tulare county, seven advisers, two directors; district 15; Kern county, five advisers, one director; district 16, Los Angeles, San Bernardino, Ventura and San Diego counties, and Riverside county east of Beaumont, three advisers, one director.

The eleven districts in the northern half of the State are divided closely along county lines, the only split county being San Joaquin, which is divided at Stockton.

Directors will be elected at the annual meeting to represent Fresno county and the territory south of the Tehachapi, and for seven of the northern districts.

House Moves When Truck Runs Amuck

UPLAND, Oct. 27.—When an uncontrolled truck loaded with gravel hits a house, something has to move—in this case it was the house.

Yesterday a truck driver for the Union Rock Company was driving on Foothill Boulevard when something broke in the steering apparatus, and from then on the truck picked its own course. It left the road and scooted straight through a narrow gate without touching either side. Then it headed for a house occupied by a family of Mexicans. The truck struck the structure with force enough to throw it from its foundations and move it back three feet.

A woman in the house was severely injured and was placed under the care of a physician. Her six-month-old baby escaped uninjured. So did the truck driver. Upland police declared the mishap an unavoidable accident, and no arrests were made.

VALLEY HEN LAYS 308 EGGS IN YEAR

SEPULVEDA, Oct. 27.—There is a leghorn hen here, which, so to speak, has won her spurs. She is Biddy, a champion layer belonging to Herbert H. Waxham, local poultryman. Biddy has just finished a year's egg-laying performance with a total of 308 eggs for 365 days. The hen was hatched and reared in Sepulveda and is only 19 months of age. When less than 7 months of age the hen began on her record, laying eggs for twelve months, averaging twenty-six ounces to the dozen. A sister hen in the Waxham flock laid 294 eggs. Biddy was hatched from a Hollywood strain of chickens, the egg being laid by a local hen.

MASONS TO SEE PICTURE

INGLEWOOD, Oct. 27.—Royal Arch Masons of this jurisdiction will be hosts to all Royal Arch and Blue Lodge members of the vicinity tomorrow evening at the local Masonic Temple to see the first showing of the United States official war films. It is announced by Fred R. Pardee, district inspector for this district. No charge is made to see these pictures, but admission is for the Masons only, and these films, it was said, will never be released to motion-picture theaters. The showing begins at 7:30 p.m.

RIVERSIDE RACE IS ON

Six Candidates Seek Votes for Executive

Eighty-Year-Old Mayor Asks Re-election

Few Other Contests Will be on Ballot

RIVERSIDE, Oct. 27.—The final day for filing nomination papers in the mayoralty sweepstakes race found six candidates in the field, according to City Clerk Mills, who is spending his working hours in checking over the names on the petitions. The election will be held November 15, with city officials and three Councilmen to elect, besides a Mayor.

Mayor John T. Jarvis was the first to qualify. He is the incumbent and has held the office for two years. Previous to that he was for several years City Councilman. He is more than 80 years of age but manages many diversified realty transactions in his private business and is credited with the planting and management of a large share of Riverside's citrus acreage.

Mr. Horace Porter, former Mayor, was twice elected to the office. He was also formerly pastor of the First Congregational Church here. He is credited with the famous "kissless" ordinance adopted during war time, which outlawed public kissing in Riverside. At present he is managing secretary for the Community Chest campaign.

Irwin Hayden, former United States marine with foreign service to his credit, was formerly secretary of the Chamber of Commerce. A Harvard graduate, at present he is doing small farming, with occasional writing.

F. E. Grayson, circulation solicitor. E. M. Dimpton, groceryman, and Harry Davis Fox, restaurant operator, are the other candidates for Mayor.

Candidates for Council for whom petitions have been filed, are: First Ward, K. S. Wanner, John T. Redman. Second ward, Clarence Backstrand, E. J. Johnson. Fifth ward, M. M. Strickler. A. J. Jeares, C. W. Benshoof.

Board of Education: W. G. Fraser, Madeline Esgate, C. L. McFarland, A. S. Cooper, P. L. Carter, Eugene Best.

City Clerk: G. Albert Mills (incumbent.)

City Auditor: H. W. Pierson (incumbent.)

City Treasurer: Harry Dunbar (incumbent.)

Election officials have been named and polling places designated.

City Engineer for Municipal Electric Plant

BRAWLEY, Oct. 27.—Declaring that a municipal electric plant can be installed here which will supply the business district with current at less than half a cent per kilowatt hour, City Engineer George Wade today submitted to city officials a detailed report on the proposed enterprise.

Wade's estimates provide for a plant capable of producing 144,000 kilowatt hours a month, driven by a 300-horsepower Diesel engine. The total cost of the project, he estimates, at $66,000.

The engineer's report was submitted at the request of members of the City Council, who state that there is an urgent demand among local business men for cheaper electricity.

Bakersfield in Aviation Meet

BAKERSFIELD, Oct. 27.—Two Bakersfield airplanes and a group of local aviators will be entered in the world flight commemoration meet at Clover Field, Santa Monica, November 13, it was announced here today by Howard Nichols, president of the Kern chapter of the National Aeronautic Association.

Kern county entries in the big meet, which will draw aviation enthusiasts from every section of California and probably from several other Western States, have not been definitely chosen, but at a meeting of local aviators, it was definitely decided that two planes, loaded with aviators, would be sent to Clover Field.

GLENDALE POLICE RAID DICE GAME

GLENDALE, Oct. 27.—After arresting a man suspected of being a lookout for a dice game, a squad of police led by Chief J. D. Fraser, captured eight men who were watching the cubes roll, behind a sheltering barricade formed by a ring of parked automobiles, at Los Angeles and Magnolia avenues.

The officers had been looking for a chance to break up the game for some time, since it was first discovered by detectives, but warnings were always flashed ahead of any wandering policeman or detectives in time to allow the participants to pick up the money and the cubes. All of the men were booked for gambling and fined $18 each, except one, who gave his name as John Doe and who refused to give any address, who is charged with carrying concealed weapons.

FLOWER EXPERT TELLS OF VISIT TO FRANCE

SAN FERNANDO, Oct. 27.—Dr. A. D. Houghton, eminent horticulturist and one of the half-dozen authorities in the United States on floral pollenization, especially as applies to gladioli, has returned from a European trip. He addressed the Valley Horticultural Society, which met tonight in Van Nuys. Dr. Houghton told of his visits to famous French gardens and of various bulb-growing activities in the different countries of Europe. While abroad Dr. Houghton also attended parts of the sessions of the American Legion convention at Paris.

BEAUTY RULES AT ELKS' CHARITY BALL

Long Beach Maidens Vie for Honors in Personality Contest

LONG BEACH, Oct. 27. (Special)—The Elks' charity circus and industrial show, with five merry days to their credit, and two days to go, is proving the amusement hit of the year in Long Beach. The big tent at Alamitos and Broadway has been crowded every night, the circus acts have been applauded as though they were from the Barnum-Ringling aggregation, the industrial show has revealed the industrial progress of the district, the automobile section has provided a first-class autumn exhibit, and everybody is pleased with everything, including the fact that the money realised from the event will go to the Elks' Christmas charity fund, to be used where it is most needed at holiday time.

What is regarded as the crowning feature of a series of nightly contests is the "Miss Personality of Long Beach" contest, in which twenty-one girls, selected in preliminaries, will compete for the title and a list of valuable prizes.

"Miss Personality" herself will receive a silver cup from the Elks, a complete fall sports wear outfit, a course in a dancing school and at least one basket of flowers. Each of the other twenty will receive a prize, ranging from modish chapeaux to silk lingerie.

All the contests have been arranged and staged by Kathryne Campbell, well-known special event impresario of Long Beach, who has arranged to have a number of stage and film notables to act as "Miss Personality" judges.

The last contest will be Saturday afternoon, when boys and girls will compete for the title of best harmonica player in the Long Beach district.

SLOT MACHINE WAR IS ON

San Diego County Continues to Collect Evidence in Antigambling Crusade

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 27.—It won't be long now, according to official information today, before warrants of arrest are served as sequels to the long list of search warrants served in collecting slot machines and punch boards since last Saturday morning, but the number of warrants of arrest will be in very small proportion to the 450 or more search warrants.

Probably not more than twenty-five arrests are to be made, it was said, and are not to include merchants who had harbored the devices, which the District Attorney believes are gambling devices, but which the owners say are vending machines within the law. Arrests are to be of owners and agents of machines and punchboards that had been placed throughout the county under agreements with persons operating the places.

While the deputy Sheriff and assistant collectors of machines have brought in about 250 pieces, as many more were hustled out of the way by owners before the official raiders got to them, according to Deputy King J. Powell who directed the drive. The companies that owned a majority of the machines had more motor trucks out than the Sheriff's office Saturday morning and could work faster because the officials stopped to make careful notation of names and addresses and description of machine or punchboard at each place visited.

Powell came upon a truck load of about 150 machines on a road in the northern part of the county, he said, and presumed that they were being hustled outside San Diego county jurisdiction. He did not believe he had authority to seize the machines thus in transport. Furthermore, the owners collected on Sunday while the officers could not legally serve seizure warrants.

Much valuable property attached to the punchboards is in possession of the Sheriff, and also it is supposed that there is considerable cash as well as operating lugs in the slot machines. Because of these values the official "collectors" were required to make careful note of the places from which each was taken. The value of the slot machines is also high in intrinsic worth, it was said, but actually little because outlawed in most parts of the country and therefore with small selling territory and demand.

Roses Win Sweepstakes at Exhibit

PASADENA, Oct. 27.—The sweepstakes prize for the best exhibition at Pasadena's annual fall flower show, which opened at Memorial Park yesterday, was awarded today to Howard & Smith for their display of roses. The orchid exhibit of Armacost & Royston took second honors.

First-prize winners among private growers in the various classes included prominent persons such as Mrs. Anita Baldwin, Mrs. W. P. Herbert, Noel T. Arnold, Mrs. Joseph Scott and many others.

Attendance at the show, which closes tomorrow night, has been large, despite rain. The exhibition is housed in a tent at Raymond avenue and Holly street.

ASSESSES FINE ON FAMILY HISTORIAN

GLENDALE, Oct. 27.—Biographers and historians who raid family albums of the pictures of a bygone day need expect no leniency in Police Judge F. H. Lowe's court.

William Scotten, 1550 Atchison street, Pasadena, a newspaper writer, was accused today by his aunt, Mrs. Anna MacDonald, 438 Pioneer Drive, Glendale, of having entered her house and taken eight valued photographs of members of her family from the album, the pictures being of relatives taken many years ago.

Scotten admitted that he had taken the photographs, but he said that they were relatives of his own and that he needed them in a history of his family that he is now compiling, to be used as illustrations. Judge Lowe ordered Scotten to return the pictures and to pay a fine of $10 in addition.

CHRISTMAS TREE FUND

VAN NUYS, Oct. 27. (AP)—Employees of the Water and Power Department here last night staged a huge benefit fund feast and Halloween dance at the department warehouse on Van Nuys Boulevard, one of the features being an electrically cooked ham dinner. Several hundred persons engaged in the merrymaking. Proceeds are to be given to the employees' Christmas tree fund, a Christmas celebration each year being an event by members.

BREAD PRICES DROP

HANFORD, Oct. 27.—A bread war among local bakers and distributors has dropped the price of bread from three loaves for 25 cents 4 cents a loaf on certain grades.

RED CROSS HAS ACTIVE YEAR'S WORK

Pasadena Chapter Holds Annual Meeting; Elect Advisory Board

PASADENA, Oct. 27.—Reports of progress during an unusually active year were made today by officers of the Pasadena chapter of the Red Cross at the charitable organization's annual meeting, held at the Maryland Hotel.

Dr. Chauncey F. Biggs, president of the chapter, who presided, urged an intensive campaign to win new memberships for the Red Cross. The national organization has set a goal of $5,000,000 in order to replenish the war-time general fund which has become depleted.

In a report on the activities of the year it was pointed out that Pasadena was the first city in the Pacific Coast division of the Red Cross to subscribe double its quota for the relief of Mississippi flood sufferers, and that the city ultimately subscribed a sum more than five times its original quota.

Members of the local advisory board, elected today, are Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Blacker, Dr. Roscoe H. Brown, Harry E. Fitzgerald, Frank F. Carpenter, E. F. Coop, Dr. H. M. Coulter, George P. Doan, Miss Louise Gianetti, Robert C. Kennan, Dr. Leslie E. Learned, F. W. Lyman, Mrs. A. Moss Merwin, Eugene O'Neill, John H. Ferman, Mrs. Robert Pitcairn, Charles H. Frisk, L. V. Shaw, J. C. Sloane, Charles F. Bradway and Col. George White.

Snorting Auto Causes Arrest of Boy Driver

CUCAMONGA, Oct. 27.—Cruz Bonillas, Cucamonga youth, believes in noise, and doctored up his automobile to get the maximum racket out of the machine. His penchant for noise landed him in Upland Jail last night, with a court trial facing him soon.

According to police, Bonillas removed the exhaust manifold and everything from his car that tended to muffle the banging of his engine. Then he drove his machine over highways, by-ways, railroad embankments or anything else that got in his way. At night his machine resembled a comet on wheels.

The climax was reached yesterday when his car hurtled the curb on Upland's main street, leaped over the sidewalk and turned a series of somersaults on the lawn of the Nazarene Church.

The noise and stunting of Bonillas's car caused neighbors to complain, fearing that death and destruction would follow one of his wild rides.

AUTO TURNS TURTLE; DRIVER IN HOSPITAL

BAKERSFIELD, Oct. 27.—When his light sedan failed to stay on the highway as it rounded a turn fifteen miles south of Bakersfield, hit loose dirt and overturned, Ed Williamson of Los Angeles suffered a broken right collar bone. The accident occurred early this morning on the Golden State Highway.

Williamson's companion, whose name could not be learned, was bruised and cut but not seriously injured, according to attendants at Bakersfield Emergency Hospital, where Williamson is confined. The two youths were coming to Bakersfield to pick cotton.

DISCUSS DAIRY TOPICS

PORTERVILLE, Oct. 27.—Successful methods in the raising of hogs and dairy operations will be discussed in a "hog and dairy" day to be staged tomorrow in the section west of here, under auspices of the Burton Farm Bureau Center. Those interested in the raising of hogs will gather at the Staewart Morrison ranch in the morning, while those wishing information regarding dairy stock will assemble at the M. L. Gilbert ranch in the afternoon. Experts will lead the talks.

CITY AIRPORT NEAR REALITY

Council to Act Today on Proposition

Long Beach to Have Finest Field in South

Government to Establish Base for Reserves

LONG BEACH, Oct. 27.—The first step in the development and extension of the Long Beach Municipal Airport will be taken by the City Council tomorrow when plans for the construction of hangars and headquarters buildings for the United States naval reserve air station will be considered and probably approved, it was announced at the City Hall today. The plans, which have been in readiness for some time, have been held in abeyance, pending completion of negotiations between the city of Long Beach and the Montana Land Company for the exchange of acreage which would give the city an airport second only in size to the field at Oakland.

With the consummation of the land deal and the lengthening of the airport runway to a distance of more than 5000 feet, the Federal government is ready now to proceed with the establishment of its Southern California naval reserve air base at Long Beach, it was said. Bids for the work of constructing the necessary buildings will be sought soon, it was said today.

No addition reports relative to the establishment of the Southern California base of the Maddux Air Lines, Inc., was available here today but city officials and local aviation enthusiasts are confident, they said, that enlargement of the municipal field under present plans will mean the taking over by the Maddux interests of a ten-acre plot under lease at the field and the establishment of the machine shops, administrative headquarters and Southern California air terminus of the Maddux company.

Additional Ford ships for service on the company's air lines are now being purchased at Detroit and it was said today that a conference with Ford officials in the eastern city will have an important bearing on the further development of the Long Beach airport.

Mail Service is Expanded

VAN NUYS, Oct. 27.—Beginning on November 1, next, all of the mile-square townsite of Van Nuys will be given city mail-delivery service, it is announced from the office of the assistant Postmaster-General at Washington. For this additional work two more carriers will be employed, granted on this basis.

Two years ago Van Nuys was granted its first city deliveries as a result of having completed sufficient sidewalk mileage as required by the postal authorities. Some parts of the town were left out of this service because of the absence of sidewalks in certain districts. Action is now pending for the paving of all walks within the next few months and the expansion of the delivery has been granted on this basis.

At present only two-thirds of the streets have had the mail service. About 325 more patrons of the local postoffice will be benefited by the new ruling, making a total of 1405 residence and 300 business houses. John Boecker and Mathew W. Needles, auxiliaries in the office, will be the new carriers. Two deliveries daily will be made in the most thickly populated parts of town. In the outer sections there will be one delivery daily, it is stated by Postmaster E. D. Gibson.

NATIVE SONS TO SAVE ANCIENT OLIVE TREE

CHATSWORTH, Oct. 27.—The outlining of an extensive landmark preservation program followed the barbecue that was held by sixty members of the Cahuenga Parlor, Native Sons of California, at Glover's Lakeside Park, near here. The old "positas" or springs that are in the San Fernando Valley foothills, adjoining Oakwood Cemetery, and which were used as a water supply by the mission padres when they were building San Fernando Mission, will be rehabilitated, it was proposed. While the padres were at work carrying this water at least a dozen miles, they set out olive trees in various parts of the western end of the valley. One of these old trees is still flourishing. It is more than 150 years of age. It was under its shade that the Native Sons enjoyed their barbecue banquet. An effort will be made to gain control of the small ground on which the tree grows and fence it as one of the ancient landmarks of the valley.

March Field to Protect West Coast

REDLANDS, Oct. 27.—That March Field, which is now an instruction field in the Army Air Service, is to eventually be the home of a bombing squadron which will combine with a pursuit squadron at Rockwell Field in San Diego as air protection for the west coast was the statement of Maj. R. H. Harmon, commandant of March Field when he spoke to the Rotary Club today.

Maj. Harmon stated that the local field is to be used as an instruction field only until this bombing group, the nucleus of which is to be formed at Rockwell next summer, is recruited to full strength, when it will take over the field and the instruction work will be moved to a more central location, probably in Texas near San Antonio.

Maj. Harmon said that it is expected the building program at the field will begin in January and that in twelve months all the buildings needed will be completed, for the ships, barracks for the men and quarters for the officers, and also the machine shops and other buildings needed.

Negro Preacher Goes to Prison

LONG BEACH, Oct. 27.—Rev. William R. Hardy, pastor of a negro church here, and convicted recently by a jury in Superior Court of manslaughter, was today sentenced to serve from one to ten years in San Quentin prison by Superior Court Judge James H. Pope, sitting in Department 28, in this city. Judge Pope denied a motion for a new trial, made by Atty. K. I. Perkey, and following the pronouncement of sentence, Atty. Perkey served notice of an appeal.

Hardy was convicted of killing Joseph J. Dianty, Montenegran bootblack, during a quarrel over the removal of Dianty's effects from his boardinghouse on California street on July 9, last. He was formally charged with murder but the jury rendered a compromise verdict.

MERCED MAY LOSE NATIONAL GUARD

HANFORD, Oct. 27.—It is announced by Maj. Francis Kimes that he has recommended to Adjutant-General Mittlestadt, that Company A One Hundred and Eighty-fourth Infantry Regiment of Merced, of which Capt. William J. Garrett and his lieutenants recently resigned, be put on probation for thirty days from November 1 and the expiration of that time unless the company comes up to the requirement of sixty bona fide enlisted men and there is an assurance that the community is behind the company with its support, it be mustered out of the California National Guard, as there are other communities anxious to possess a guard company, if that at Merced ceases to function.

YUMA ASKS FOR FLOOD PROTECTION

EL CENTRO, Oct. 27.—Yuma water users, through their association, have requested that the Imperial Irrigation District rebuild a pile jetty along the Arizona shore of the Colorado River opposite to the Imperial intake as a safety measure for Yuma Valley lands.

Directors of the Imperial district, at their meeting yesterday, asked Engineer M. J. Down for a report on the project. Down stated that portions of the protective jetty had been burned away and outlined plans for the reconstruction of the piling. Members of the board indicated that they would comply with the Yuma request.

HELD FOR FORGERY

ONTARIO, Oct. 27.—Following preliminary hearing before Judge George R. Crane in Ontario court yesterday, Paul and Boyd Childers, brothers, from Arizona, were bound over to Superior Court to answer to a charge of passing a worthless check on an Ontario merchant recently. Inability of the boys to raise $2000 each for bail caused them to be remanded to County Jail pending trial. The pair successfully passed a check for $19.50 on a local merchant, and a short time later were captured, due to the quick work of F. H. Wallihan, secretary-manager of the Ontario Business Men's Association.

FAMILY SPLIT IN WILL FIGHT

Three Daughters Arrayed Against Attorney Steely

Claim for $1800 of Wife's Estate Disallowed

Right to Half-Interest Won in Prior Litigation

The three daughters of John Steely, Los Angeles attorney, appeared against him in Probate Court yesterday to contest his claim for $1800 out of the $100,000 estate of their mother, Roberta Steely.

Mrs. Steely died three years ago and her estate has been in litigation ever since. By her will she left all her property to her daughters, Mrs. Helen Barnett, Mrs. Sophronia Moore and Mrs. Virginia McMartin. Their father attacked the will and sued to have the estate declared community property, in which he succeeded, thus establishing his right to a half interest.

A few months ago Judge Reeve, recently deceased, made an order, upon a motion without notice to the daughters, requiring the Title Insurance and Trust Company, administrator, to pay Steely $1800 on account of a claim for money advanced the estate.

Yesterday the daughters appeared before Judge Crail, represented by Attorney Willedd Andrews, to ask that this order be set aside. The order was granted. The trust company was represented by Attorney L. J. Bauer. If Steely wishes to press his claim he will have to sue.

Italian's Work to be Exhibited

An exhibition of forty canvases painted by Carlo Wostry, Italian artist, will be given in the art gallery of the Hollywood Public Library beginning next Tuesday, and continuing for a month.

Wostry, whose latest portrait, a painting of Col. Charles Lindbergh, has created interest, arrived in Los Angeles only recently from his home in Trieste.

For the opening of the exhibit a group of art lovers and patrons will be the guests of honor and will attend a musical program arranged by Irene D'Arville. Among the soloists are the Olga Mitzno Trio, violin, piano and 'cello; Paulina Tasca, dramatic soprano; Agien Hambled, pianist; Mme. Real Mureal, French tragedienne; Randal Le Fevre, pianist; Xavier Cugat, Spanish violinist, and Thomas Ferguson, Scottish baritone.

The exhibition of the Wostry paintings is being sponsored by Paul Francisco Lupo and Irene D'Arville.

KEEP BRAKES IN CONDITION

Traffic Speaker says A B C of Driving is Always Be Careful

The A B C of safety is Always Be Careful, Sergt. E. L. Johnson said in traffic talk over radio station KHJ yesterday in cautioning motorists to take due precautions.

Constant attention to lights and brakes to be sure that they are always in good working order is the best policy, Sergt Johnson said, and blowing the horn before rounding a sharp turn is always a safe precaution.

Seven Taken in Gambling Raid

Detective Lieutenants McMullen and Caddell of Hollywood division raided a house at 1105 North Serrano street last night and arrested seven men on charges of gambling. Card and dice games and other gambling devices were being operated by thirty-five men when the officers entered, they report.

Those taken into custody gave their names as Harry S. Gibbons, 54 years of age, 1834 Echo Park avenue; Harry A. Lee, 55, 130 South Alta street; Abe B. Golden, 32, 107 East Fifth street; Joseph Carr, 54, 1520 North Gower street; Mike Silva, 32, 1303 North Orange Drive; Harry E. All former Illinoisans and friends are invited to attend the Halloween party given by the Illinois State Society of Southern California tonight at 1137 South Hope street.

ADMIRAL PRAISES HARBOR

Port Strategic Insurance for Whole Nation, He Says; Project Aids Navy Defense Plans

Rear-Admiral Christian J. Peoples, general inspector for the Pacific Coast of the Navy Supply Corps, yesterday surveyed the local port and at noon held a conference aboard the flagship Texas with Admiral Charles F. Hughes, retiring commander-in-chief of the United States fleet.

Admiral Peoples declared that Los Angeles Harbor, combined with the natural wealth of the Southwest area, will prove one of the most valuable factors in the program of the Navy's plans for the future defense of the nation.

"You know, the remarkable development of this port and the Southwest back-country has been very gratifying to us," he said. "The building in the space of a few years of a great deep-water harbor here is a great engineering accomplishment, but is of immeasurably more value as economic and strategic insurance to all America.

"It works out like this. In the Navy's plan for the Pacific we have Hawaii as our strong outpost, backed by three powerful operating bases on the Pacific Coast, Los Angeles, San Francisco and Seattle. The Navy proved its confidence in Los Angeles by bringing the fleet here and we will continue to steadily broaden our scope of activities at this port."

Admiral Peoples, accompanied by his assistant, Lieut. Wilson S. Hullfish, will leave today for San Diego, where next week he will conduct a survey of the naval establishment.

OUR HISTORY IN PICTURES 858

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

IN REACHING BEECHER'S ISLAND, CAPT. CARPENTER, COMMANDING THE RELIEF COLUMN, RAN TO GREET THE WOUNDED "SANDY" FORSYTH. THE LATTER WAS SO OVERCOME WHEN HE KNEW THAT HELP HAD AT LAST ARRIVED AND SAW HIS BROTHER-OFFICER APPROACHING, THAT TO HIDE HIS EMOTION HE PRETENDED TO BE READING A BOOK ONE OF HIS SCOUTS HAD UNEARTHED FROM HIS SADDLEBAGS.

ALL AROUND BEECHER'S ISLAND WERE SIGNS OF THE DESPERATE STRUGGLE THAT HAD TAKEN PLACE. THE BODIES OF FORTY INDIANS AND THE CARCASSES OF MANY PONIES STILL LAY IN THE DRY BED OF THE ARICKAREE. THE INDIAN LOSS WAS ESTIMATED AS SEVENTY-FIVE KILLED AND TWO HUNDRED WOUNDED.

CARPENTER'S CAVALRYMEN GAVE THE RATIONS IN THEIR SADDLEBAGS TO FORSYTH'S MEN, AND SOON AFTER THE ARRIVAL OF THE REST OF THE RELIEF COLUMN WITH THE SUPPLY WAGONS, THE HUNGRY SCOUTS WERE ENJOYING THEIR FIRST REAL MEAL IN MORE THAN A WEEK.

THAT NIGHT THE COLORED TROOPERS OF THE TENTH CAVALRY STOOD GUARD, FOR THERE WAS STILL DANGER THAT THE CHEYENNES MIGHT RETURN, AND FORSYTH'S MEN NEEDED A MUCH-NEEDED REST.

VETERAN SHOE MAN TO QUIT FOR NEEDED REST

After thirty years in the retail and wholesale shoe business here, James P. Burns of 525 South Broadway is about to retire to take a much-needed rest, he announced yesterday. The footwear dealer has sold the lease on the store through W. Ross Campbell Company and is closing out his stock. He negotiated the lease fifteen years ago and it still has thirty-five years to run.

The Charitable Dollar—Before and After

The "Private Charity" Dollar
Only 66 cents for actual charity. 34 cents of every dollar for collection and expenses.

Your Community Chest

Something in which Every Citizen and Resident in Los Angeles has a Right to Take Pride!

NOBODY KNOWS, nobody ever could find out, before the Community Chest was established, just how much of every dollar which was directed by donors toward charitable ends, actually reached its goal. Before the Chest, charity in Los Angeles was a very uncertain thing. Hundreds of loyal men and women worked to raise funds, giving every penny to charity.

There have been a good many guesses made as to how much of the average dollar solicited, taken on tickets and raffles and chances, programmes and one-time publications actually was employed along the lines for which the donor intended. The highest average estimate is that sixty-six cents actually reached the goal out of each dollar. Other estimates were as low as forty-four cents out of a dollar.

If you give through the Community Chest you KNOW, you do not guess, that of every dollar NINETY-FOUR cents goes straight to the mark; only SIX cents (or less) is required to defray all expenses of the Chest organization.

Look at the two stacks of pennies, a dollar on each side. One represents the most favorable guess, as to days gone by. The other represents the CERTAINTY the Community Chest gives.

BE PROUD OF YOUR COMMUNITY CHEST

The Community Chest Dollar
94 cents directly, immediately and efficiently for Charity. Only 6 cents for every expense.

EFFICIENCY . . . The reason why the Community Chest dollar goes 94 cents to good works, and only six cents for costs, is because your Community Chest is efficient.

The Community Chest is Efficient because it employs EXPERTS. It does not disburse the money you give for Charity through amateurs. It avoids duplications, it requires careful accounting from every charitable medium, it watches every dollar and every cent to see that Charity gets it.

The Community Chest commands, the year around, the services of a large number of the ablest business men of Los Angeles who contribute their experience and ability to make the Chest more efficient, to eliminate waste and duplication, to make Charity hit the mark at which the givers aim their contributions.

What All This Means to YOU

What does this mean to you? Opportunity! After endless effort and study, the charitable organizations of Los Angeles have made it possible for you to give, with the knowledge that you have given wisely and well.

Your gift becomes a part of a great and beautiful Community effort. Divided into one hundred and fifty distinct and separate efforts, it is used to relieve all distress, to afford all protection to those who need protection; for all welfare work in the Community.

You can give, and you can help. Meet the army of volunteer solicitors half way. Make sure, yourself, that your generous gift reaches the Chest.

Boxing Commission Okeys Switch in Fight

Donald Figures on Bigger Crowd Next Week

BY KAY OWE

There will be no title bout at Gilmore Field Saturday night. Rain and the threat of continued bad weather yesterday combined to postpone the scramble between Joe Dundee, the champion, and Ace Hudkins, the challenger, for the world's welterweight crown until next Thursday night.

This date was decided upon after a conference between Promoter Dick Donald and Commissioner Seth Stralinger of the boxing commission, and it found favor in the eyes of all concerned—fighters, managers, promoters and the fans at large.

As a result of the postponement the fighters eased off in their training, but will go at it hammer and tongs again, starting tomorrow. Neither will have any difficulty in making weight, and it is simply a question of holding their edge and getting off.

The new date will not interfere with any other fight show next week, except the one at Culver City, and this probably will be postponed as a courtesy to Donald. Joe Woods and the much-discussed Oscar Baker were scheduled to meet in a sort of qualifying match for the Culver affair.

Although the seat sale for the championship bout had reached $40,000 yesterday, with $40,000 reserved and prospects of a $125,000 gate, Donald said last night he believes the postponement will add to the attendance.

This terrific interest in the football game between California and U.S.C. Saturday and the Babe Ruth-Lou Gehrig game at the ball park Sunday has distracted some of the interest in the fight.

Canzoneri to Fight Taylor

Offered $20,000 to fight Tony Canzoneri for the featherweight championship in New York December 5 Bud Taylor will accept the match, it was announced last night by his manager, Eddie Long. The offer was received yesterday from Tex Rickard, the bout to be staged in Madison Square Garden.

As a result of his victory over Johnny Dundee the other night Canzoneri is now the recognized featherweight king in the eyes of the New York Boxing Commission, although they refused the promoter permission to bill the bout as a championship one.

The fight will afford Taylor an opportunity to add a second title to his collection. He is the recognized bantamweight king in eighteen States, having beaten Canzoneri for the crown in Chicago last June.

GEHRIG AND RUTH SNEAK INTO CITY

Home-Run Twins Stop in Los Angeles on Way to San Diego for Game

"Bustin' Babe" Ruth and his clouting crony, "Larrupin' Lou" Gehrig, along with their exhibition tour manager, Christy Walsh, arrived in Los Angeles late last night, said "hello" to the sports writers at the Alexandria Hotel, and this morning pulled out for San Diego, where the home-run twins are scheduled to appear today.

Ruth and Gehrig will return here from the Border City Sunday morning for their big American Legion benefit game at Wrigley Field. The hard-hitting pair are in great shape and announce that they will show Los Angeles fans just why they are the world's greatest home-run sockers when they appear here Sunday.

In the meantime the advance sale for the big game is going on at a rapid rate and a capacity crowd seems assured. Tickets are on sale at Wrigley Field and at A. G. Spalding's sports store.

Gehrig, a very modest chap for one so famous, admitted while here last night that he was the most surprised individual in the world when he was voted the American League's most valuable player. Lou didn't know that Ruth, who previously was voted the honor, was ineligible for the award. He thought Babe would surely be voted the most valuable and was happily shocked when the laurels were awarded to him.

BEAR FANS CONFIDENT

Expect California Gridders to Clean Up Trojans and Then Seek Other Worlds to Conquer

BY ED R. HUGHES

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 27.—The California football team left Berkeley tonight on a special train for Los Angeles, where the Bears meet U.S.C. in the Coliseum Saturday afternoon in a football game that has the entire State of California talking.

The train bearing the athletes was only one of several going south and a lot of other special trains will go tomorrow. There will also be boatloads and ...fans in busses going to this game, which has created tremendous interest.

Tonight the California band, 110 strong, helped give Capt. Coltrin and his brave band a fitting send-off. Thousands of students were there. They sang their songs and gave their yells and called on coaches and players for speeches. This time last year the rooters merely went through the motions at California, for they felt before the game that the team was going to be licked.

CONDITIONS DIFFERENT

Conditions are entirely different this year. The Bears have done so well that the rooters have swung to the other extreme and now think the Bears are champions of the Coast, of the U.S.A., of both Americas, and by this time tomorrow night they will be taking in Europe, Asia and Africa. That's the way of the football fan. It is whole hog or none. Either his favorite team is composed of heroes or is made up of hoboes. Either the coaches are put up on pedestals or sent to the dog house.

The Bears and Trojans will both try hard to score early in the game Saturday. There is no secret about that. They will both shoot the entire works in

OBSERVATIONS

BILL HENRY

"RAIN, rain, go away—come and rain another day." That, as our feeble recollection goes, was the refrain we used to warble in our youth. Just at this moment it is doubtless being prayerfully emitted by the coaches of both the Bears and the Trojans. A sloppy field supposedly helps the powerful plunging team and hampers the light, fast boys. However, we'll be willing to gamble that both Howard Jones and Nibs Price would greatly prefer a nice, dry field tomorrow to the sloppy turf that was threatened yesterday morning. All that wet weather will do to the game, in our estimation, is to cut down the attendance. As far as the contest itself is concerned, it will be considerable of a football game, wet or dry.

The general consensus of opinion seems to be that a wet field will handicap the Bears and assist the Trojans. Our own guess is that the dampness would be a fifty-fifty proposition. Any ill

ROMANS IN WIN OVER JEFFERSON

L. A. High Lightweights Nab Crucial Battle by 25-to-18 Score

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS

L. A. High, 25; Jefferson, 18.
Manual Arts, 6; Franklin, 0.

Amid the frequent outbursts of the Honorable Mr. "Joe" Pluvius, well-known atmospheric controller, Coach Dave Ridderhof's "Rompin' Roman" lightweights from L. A. High defeated the Jefferson Midgets yesterday on the Democrats' field, 25 to 18.

The clash was the hardest-contested battle; the most thrilling encounter played this season in the 130-pound division. The issue was in doubt from the opening kick-off to the closing gun, a hectic struggle if there ever was one. Both sides put up a fight that was great to see and the ball changed hands with a frequency that kept up the excitement to the final minute of play.

Jefferson scored all of its touchdowns on passes ranging from 20 to 30 yards which the Romans could not seem to solve. It was this inability to figure the attack from the air that held the outcome of the game so long in doubt.

L. A. resorted to straight line bucks and short passes to put its scores over.

Dave Shiffner, diminutive Pioneer back, turned in two of the best plays of the afternoon, one coming late in the second quarter and resulting in a 40-yard dash to a touchdown. The other took place in the third period, when a 35-yard sprint added 6 points to the score.

As a result of this win the Romans are in line for the City League championship, which they won last year and tied for in 1925.

The line-ups:

MANUAL ARTS BABES TRIM FRANKLIN

Coach Carl Trieb's Manual Arts lightweights broke into the win column by defeating the Franklin panthers, 6 to 0, yesterday on a sloppy field at Franklin. Most of the athletes started the game as lightweights but the mud and water they picked up put them in the heavyweight class before the struggle was over.

The Toiler babes scored their touchdown in the first play of the fourth quarter, Red Trent lugging the ball over from the 4-yard line. George Eckenroth put Manual in position to score near the close of the third period when he blocked a Franklin punt. Capt. Herb Morales recovered for Manual and pushed his way to the 3-yard line before he was downed. After one play had lost a yard the quarter ended and the score was delayed until the last period.

The line-ups:

Franklin (0)		Manual Arts (6)

PRICE PLANS PRACTICE FOR THIS AFTERNOON

Trojans Drill in Rain for Grid Game

BY BRAVEN DYER

Howard Jones' Southern California footballers went through a heavy workout in the rain yesterday afternoon, the practice being the last strenuous drill before tomorrow's struggle with California at the Coliseum. The Trojans are about as accustomed to sloshing around in the rain as they are to winning football games by one point. Last night's workout was accordingly not terribly impressive. But the boys got up a good sweat, ran through signals for quite a spell, and had some defensive drill against California's passing attack.

FIELD LIKELY TO BE DRY

Having rained yesterday it is hardly likely that there will be rain for the game tomorrow but that doesn't stop people from talking about what effect the heavy going will have on the rival teams. Chances are that the field will be fast and dry tomorrow, but if it isn't the Trojans will probably be a bit better off than the Bears. We come to this conclusion by figuring that Southern California has a more powerful attack than California and that Morley Drury can probably outsmash any of the Bear backs when it comes to toting the pigskin in rough weather. Of course, California is a little better acquainted with wet going, which is a point to be remembered.

Charley Boren, the incapacitated Trojan end who has been in the hospital since Tuesday morning, surprised everybody by showing up at Bovard Field yesterday afternoon. He

Golden Bears on Edge for S.C. Battle

BY PAUL LOWRY

Coach Nibs Price leads his Golden Bears into Southern California this morning, and he will lead 'em out again tomorrow night. But between their coming and their going the Golden Bears have an engagement with the U.S.C. Trojans at the Coliseum tomorrow afternoon that will go a long way toward scrambling or unscrambling the Pacific Coast Conference situation.

Nibs is scheduled to unload his prized collection of gridiron athletes at a station in the bustling metropolis of Glendale, the boys having traveled thence by Mister Southern Pacific's Padre. From Glendale the California boys will be taken to the Hotel Huntington in Pasadena and are scheduled to work out at some field in the afternoon, site unknown.

ZACK FOR PUBLIC

Presumably this would be the Coliseum, but Mister Zack Farmer, who supervises things out that way, said last night that neither the Bears nor anyone else would play around on his field if it is soft from the rain. Zack considers the public first and the warriors second.

He abhors the thought of a crowd of 75,000 persons churning their way into the Coliseum tomorrow and being forced to gaze upon a field slashed by cleats and pitted by thudding pigskins. It doesn't make any difference to Zack what happens tomorrow, but he wants the field pure until the zero hour. For

BY BOB RAY

Manual Arts' gridiron will hold most of the interest of City League football fans this afternoon when the Toilers play hosts to Frank Hess's Franklin Kiteflyers in what figures to be the feature game of the second round of play. Two other games are on today's prep program, L. A. High meeting Jefferson at Housh Field and Polytechnic and Lincoln, who were scheduled to clash yesterday in the Coliseum but were prevented from doing so because Zack Farmer didn't want them to ruin his rain-soaked lawn for the Trojan-Golden Bear battle, will tangle on the Jefferson High gridiron.

The Manual-Franklin struggle figures to result in a whale of a battle, but the Kiteflyers are being tabbed to win by most of the wise boys. A defeat for Coach Jim Bissett's Toilers today will mean their elimination from championship possibilities so the Purple and Gray athletes ought to be fighting a lot harder than they were when L. A. High beat them.

KITEFLYERS LOOK GOOD

Hess's Kiteflyers jumped into the title-running last week when they swamped Jefferson, 32-6, in their opening game. The Kiteflyers uncorked a good running attack and a passing combination that looked like the money. The wet weather probably won't do their aerial attempts any good, but even at that the Kiteflyers figure to win unless they get too "cocky."

Nobody is giving Jefferson much of a tumble against L. A. High and the game figures to go to the Romans by a comfortable margin. The Romans are improving rapidly, as they showed last week against Manual, and figure to win today by a touchdown or two. Anything can happen on a muddy field, though, because the boys aren't used to sloppy weather and figure to fumble quite a bit.

POLY ELEVEN FAVORED

Unless they have improved a lot more than most people expect that they have, Coach Bill Bates's Lincoln Railsplitters will probably receipt for their third straight defeat at the hands of Polytechnic today. The Mechanics, although they lost to Hollywood, have one of the most powerful elevens in the loop and ought to win hands down today. The Jefferson field will be fast despite the rain, which will be a help to Poly's chances.

ROOSEVELT GRIDDERS MEET FAIRFAX

The second round of the Minor City League gridiron war gets under way today on three different football fields. Fremont, the favorite in the league race, will tackle the Harding squad on the latter's field. Roosevelt, the dark horse of the race, will meet the Fairfax eleven at Fairfax. This should be a torrid affair, as Fairfax has shown a surprising amount of strength. They humbled the Harding team last week under an avalanche of touchdowns.

GARFIELD AT BELMONT

The other game on the program will bring the Garfield and Belmont teams together. Belmont, although beaten last week by Roosevelt, is favored to cop today's contest. The Hilltoppers have been working hard all week preparing to get back into the running after being upset by the Rough Riders. Coaches Joe Hollenger and Clarence Ebers will have a reconstructed team in the line-up for today's battle. A defeat today at the hands of the Bulldogs means that Belmont will be out of the title race.

KENNEDY COPS BOUT IN PASADENA ARENA

Danny Kennedy defeated Mike Cardoza in the six-round main event at the Pasadena arena last night.

Bert Sampson won over Frankie Burns in a six-rounder. Dick Dundes stopped Ernie Tilter in the second round of a scheduled six-rounder. Dud Eades won over Al Hamilton in four founds. Nifty Gonzalez was given the nod over Teddy Williams in the opener.

FULLERTON BATTLES STRONG DRILLER TEAM TODAY; PREP ELEVENS IN CRUCIAL TILTS

FULLERTON, Oct. 27. (Exclusive)—Fullerton and Bakersfield High School football teams clash on the Union High School gridiron here tomorrow afternoon and it may prove to a pre-championship game, at that. Fullerton is a cinch to win the Orange County League and Bakersfield is due to come down into Southern California to represent that district.

It may be that tomorrow's game will be but the first of two encounters between the two teams. The heavy rain of today was figured as a help to the Fullerton chances inasmuch as Coach Smith has a much lighter combination than the Drillers, it was said.

Both teams rely greatly upon the forward pass and just what method of attack will be developed upon a soggy field remains to be seen.

BAY LEAGUE GRIDS IN THIRD ROUND

With only two undefeated teams remaining in the loop Bay League grid squads are preparing for the third round of play today. Santa Monica, holding wins over Venice and Compton, meets the strong San Pedro team at Pedro, while Woodrow Wilson, winners over Huntington Park, but tied by Redondo, will act as host to Venice in the two top-spot tussles. The first battle is a toss-up. The Pirates were beaten by Venice last week, but it was a powerful Venetian team that did it, and the Pedronians may come out on the heavy end of the score. Venice is favored over Wilson.

The title race has narrowed down to Samohi, Venice, San Pedro, Woodrow Wilson, Huntington Park and Inglewood. Compton and Redondo are out of it. Two more will be eliminated after today's round of play. Other league battles find Compton playing at Inglewood; and Redondo traveling to Huntington Park.

Although beaten by Samohi in the opening struggle, Venice, two-time champions of the league, are still conceded a good chance to cop the hunting. Venice displayed a powerful team last week in defeating Pedro, and her punting, which lost the Samohi fray, was much improved. Her today's affair at Wilson will come into the limelight, for if the Gondoliers hand the Presidents the short end of a score, the latter, one of the most powerful teams in the league, will be out of the race.

IMPORTANT TILTS IN COAST LOOP

SANTA ANA, Oct. 27. (Exclusive)—Four football games of vast importance will be played in the Coast Preparatory League race this week and we all should know a great deal more about prospective champions after they are held.

Santa Ana tackles the rugged Glendale Dynamiters at Poly Field here Saturday and the side that is defeated will pack up its tent and steal out of the championship thunder. The elevens appear to be evenly matched with Poly having what edge there might be because of its superior showing against Long Beach.

The real headliner of the week, however, is the joust between the Alhambra Moors and the unbeaten Pasadena Bulldogs. Alhambra hasn't lost a game either, but it was tied by Long Beach and if the Moors, coached by the former Anaheim mentor, George Hobbs, slip one over on the Bulldogs they will go into undisputed possession of first place. Pasadena has won three games in a row, all by narrow margins, and solely on the strength of its remarkable forward-passing attack but will be lucky to get by Alhambra.

San Diego and Whittier will draw a good deal of attention, too, because both these elevens are worth watching. Coach John Hobbs has his San Diego crew playing heads-up ball and Whittier is vastly improved this season. The team that loses will drop out of the running.

Long Beach will have a set-up in South Pasadena and Coach Russell Sprong probably will use only his second-stringers.

Standings follow:

COAST PREPARATORY LEAGUE

	W.	L.	T.	Pc.
Pasadena	2	0	0	1.000
Alhambra	2	0	1	.833
Long Beach	1	0	2	.667
Santa Ana	1	1	1	.500

Compton and San Bernardino Junior Colleges tackle each other at Compton today, in the feature attraction of this week's offerings in the Southern California Junior College Conference. San Bernardino is somewhat favored to topple Compton from its present position of league leader, inasmuch as the Gate City players last week submerged the touted Pasadena Junior College by a 13-6 score. However, Compton leads the league in points scored, and is the only team in the league with an untarnished goal line.

San Bernardino has a heavy, powerful team with a plentiful smattering of scintillating stars both in the backfield and line. The backfield is composed of Atkins, Stancer, Hamlin and "Bus" Fox. This "Bus" Fox person seems to be a baby who delights in leaving wreck, ruin, and blasted hopes in his wake. While Fox attended Colton High, several ball games were won for Colton largely through the individual efforts of this enterprising young gentleman.

With a 200-pound fullback, "Big Dick" White, who holds the record of having made 5 yards or more every time he has taken the ball this year, with little "Goldielocks" Holmes, quarterback, turning in more yardage than anyone else on the team, what with 50 and 60-yard runs, with Cecil Howard, left half, a 5.9s. man who is liable to get open any time, and Beau Wheeler, a very slightly smaller edition of "Big Dick," and a capable interference man, when not doing the smashing himself, verily Coach Ed Suggett should not worry about putting his backfield up against any junior college outfit in the Southland. Then, in the line, Compton ranks very strongly at tackle and guard. Burris and Pesler, guards, will certainly make very strong bids for all-conference berths.

With Compton perhaps having a shade on the backfield, the fortune of the game will depend to a large extent upon how the lines match up. San Bernardino outweighs the Compton boys considerably, and will therefore enter the game a slight favorite to capture the gonfalon.

Should San Bernardino win this game, they will have hurdled the last hard obstacle, and will be able to coast the rest of the race, secure in first place. Should San Bernardino lose to Compton, they will just as certainly be out of the picture for a long time. Assuredly, it a crucial game.

The probable line-ups will be:

Compton.		San Bernardino.
Willard	L.E.	McCoy
Holder	L.T.	Smith
Yeiser	L.G.	Adams
Burke	C.	Borzello
Stevens	R.G.	Flower
Burris	R.T.	Weist
Abbott	R.E.	Bailey
Holmes	Q.	Hamlin
Wheeler	L.H.	Stancer
Ralls	R.H.	Fox
White	F.	Atkins

JOE PIPAL WELCOMES BACK HIGH-JUMPER

If past performances count for anything Occidental will have a high jumper who will be up in the air with the best of them this season. Harry Ritchie, a transfer from Stanford University, is the trackster referred to. Last year he cleared 6ft. 2in. but was ineligible for Coast Conference competition. This year, back at Oxy where he started in as a freshman in 1924, he plans to have his best year, as it will be his last year of varsity competition. Needless to say, Coach Pipal doesn't feel sad over this welcome addition to his track squad.

SHUFFLE CALLAHAN ON HOLLYWOOD BILL

Shuffle Callahan, Chicago middleweight, will box the main event at the Hollywood ring week from tonight, it was announced last night by Willie Bernstein, who is managing him on the Coast for Eddie Kane.

Callahan's opponent will be picked from a list of available candidates including Everett Strong, Mark Judge and Herman Auerbach.

TROJAN BABES TACKLE BEARS

Undefeated Frosh Elevens in Title Game

U.S.C. Frosh Rated High With Win Over Cards

California Grids Figured to Cop Contest

BERKELEY, Oct. 27. (Exclusive)—The Trojabes, as the press of the Southland entitles the University of Southern California freshman football players, will make their final bid for the championship of the "Big Three." California, U.S.C and Stanford, in a meeting with Coach Clarence "Brick" Mitchell's Californians on the Memorial Stadium turf Saturday afternoon.

AUBREY DEVINE

Already conquerors of Stanford, Coach Aubrey Devine's Trojabes come here heralded and lauded. In Don Rieke and Hull and others they believe they have an eleven capable of stopping the undefeated cubs of California, representative of the finest lot of freshmen gathered together here in years. Although one star is on the side lines with both injuries and ineligibility, in the person of Clarence Garrity, 220-pound fullback, Mitchell still has enough power to wreck the entire Trojan band. That's what the more enthusiastic of the campus opine. Conservatism points to a closely fought contest, however, with Capt. Russ Avery, Roy Dennis, the giant tackle; Joel Cofield, brilliant halfback, and Medanich, the new fullback, given every opportunity to demonstrate that they have the goods and know how to deliver. Mitchell's line-up is a matter for public announcement immediately preceding game time.

CALIFORNIA GRIDDERS EXPERT IN CLIPPING

BERKELEY, Oct. 27. (Exclusive)—Among the numerous improvements noted on the University of California's transformed football varsity squad is an increased clipping ability. This characteristic was especially prominent in the Olympic Club contest, wherein the Bears valiantly came to the defense of Lee Eisan on his sensational punt returns.

The success of Eisan's run-backs was due in considerable part to the exceptional clipping turned in by his mates. There is no question but what Eisan's shiftiness "halt step," straight-arm, and heels are also important factors in his long punt returns. But the fact nevertheless stands out that he is getting a full share of clipping help from his fellow Bears.

FEATHERWEIGHTS TOP MAIN-STREET PROGRAM

Johnny Williams and Bobby Fernandez, fast local featherweights, will occupy the spotlight tomorrow night at the Main-street Athletic Club when they meet in an eight-round bout. The bout is a rematch as both boys met four weeks ago at the Main-street club and Williams won an unpopular decision. Bobby Herman tackles Freddy Albin in the six-round semi-wind-up. In a special event of six rounds Young Firpo and Twain Mark, two welterweights, will clash. The second bout of the evening will bring together Al Sing and Bob Palmani, flyweights. Joe Hernandes and Sol Lopez, bantamweights, open the show in a four-round affair.

FRENCH OFFICIAL TELLS OF STRATEGY WHICH WON DAVIS CUP FROM AMERICAN PLAYERS

NEW YORK, Oct. 27. (AP)—France, it is now disclosed, attributes her triumph in the Davis Cup tennis competition this year chiefly to the success of a carefully-calculated and pursued policy of "wearing down" the American ace, "Big Bill" Tilden.

This strategy was carried out to such a degree that the French doubles pair, Borotra and Brugnon, conceded slight chance of victory, went into their challenge round match at Philadelphia with final instructions to extend the match to five sets, at all costs, so that Tilden would be "softened up" for the battle he lost to Rene La Coste on the final day.

INSIDE STORY

The "inside story" of France's victorious quest for tennis laurels is told for the first time by M. Pierre Gillou, captain of the French team. Published in the current issue of American Lawn Tennis, as translated from the French publication "Tennis Et Golf," it reveals the thoroughness and foresight behind the invasion that overthrew America's seven-year tennis dynasty.

Satisfied that "Little Bill" Johnston, "only a shadow of his former self," was not seriously to be reckoned with, M. Gillou emphasizes that "it was therefore more and more against Tilden that we had to direct our attack."

The French strategy, the captain explains, was aimed at "harassing for three consecutive days the principal American attacker," a plan that was aided by the luck of the draw, pitting Tilden first against Cochet and against the French ace, La Coste, on the final day.

"When our doubles team entered the stadium," M. Gillou wrote, "my last recommendation was: 'Put all your forces to work so that this game lasts the five sets.' Because in my inner consciousness I could not believe that we would win the doubles.

"The doubles were therefore lost but Borotra and Brugnon had done their duty valiantly. On Friday evening, Tilden had nine sets in his legs and he carried the heavy load of these nine sets the next day against La Coste."

BACK STROKE DID IT

Commenting on La Coste's flawless strategy, stroking and defensive play in defeating Tilden, the French team captain remarks:

"One may say that it is La Coste's back stroke which has made him the greatest player on earth and which won the Davis Cup."

Tracing events leading up to the Davis Cup challenge round, M. Gillou recounts the meticulous care in the French players' preparations, particularly of La Coste; who kept in trim by rope jumping and muscle exercising twice daily in his hotel, as well as by practice and competition.

"The day before the battle (at Philadelphia) he was very calm," wrote M. Gillou. "No nervousness, but a reasonable confidence. La Coste took champagne with his dinner, Cochet slept, Brugnon joked, Borotra telephoned."

After paying tribute to the "greatness of the soul of Tilden in defeat," M. Gillou passes to the incidents of the gallery demonstrations during the deciding Cochet-Johnston match with this comment:

"Let it be well understood that I do not protest against the attitude of the public—doubtless in our country it would have been even more noisy; I simply point out how difficult it was for Cochet to play under those conditions, and the merit which is due him for retaining his morale and coolness intact to the end."

TROJANS DRILL IN RAIN FOR CALIFORNIA BATTLE

was walking with the aid of a cane and had his right l egin a light cast. Charley said that the cast will be removed Saturday morning and that he will be ready to take his place against the Bears. However, the dope is that Jones intends to start Lowry McCaslin at left end and it is doubtful if Boren will see any action at all unless his physicians inform the Trojan mentor that everything is o.k. Jones won't endanger the life or limb of any of his players by using 'em when they're not right.

The boys had a lot of fun trying to get accustomed to handling the wet and slippery pigskin. Last year's game with the Oregon Aggies was played in the mud at Portland but so far this season the Trojans have escaped even a wet day for practice. Nathan Barragar and John Fox, centers, kept massaging the ball with a towel as they shot it back to the Trojan punters.

Jess Hibbs, Drury and Howard Elliott got off some long punts before the ball got very heavy, but as the weight of the pigskin increased the length of the kicks suffered a corresponding decrease. The Trojan pass receivers had a hard time hanging onto the ball.

Jones took his whole squad out of town last night in order to get them away from the well-meaning but anoying back-slapping friends and alumni. The boys will return this morning for classes and practice again at Bovard Field. But tonight they will go back to their suburban hangout and remain there until time for the game tomorrow.

Bert Heiser was all a-twitter yesterday over reports that Pete Heiser, the Stanford frosh guard, was his brother. "That's not so," snorted Bert. "If he were my brother do you suppose I'd let him get to Stanford alive? He's no relative of mine but after seeing him in action Saturday I'll have to admit he's a good football player."

GRID NOTES

PULLMAN (Wash.) Oct. 27. (AP)—The Washington State Cougars were pointed today for their clash Saturday with Oregon State at Corvallis, with the hope that the seventeenth meeting of their moleskin elevens will alter advantage in total scores that the Orangemen hold for the previous sixteen battles.

In the twenty-four years of athletic relations between the two institutions, Oregon State has won ten games to the Cougars' five. One game ended in a 3-3 tie.

SEATTLE, Oct. 27. (AP)—Coach Enoch Bagshaw of the undefeated University of Washington football team is "pointing" for the Stanford game.

The Husky mentor expects to send his second string against Whitman College here Saturday and save the regulars for the Stanford contest here next week.

SPOKANE, Oct. 27. (AP)—Coach Clipper Smith and twenty-three of his Gonzaga Bulldogs were headed today for California, and one of the toughest football battles of the season for them—a tilt at San Francisco next Sunday with St. Mary's.

Gonzaga and St. Mary's fought to a scoreless tie here last year, after St. Mary's had defeated California and gone through the season without a loss. The Bulldogs are banking on this to efface the memory of St. Mary's victory over Stanford this year. Otherwise, Gonzaga has some cause for worry, for two first-string men were left behind. Tony Cable, right halfback, and Elio Fradioni, right tackle, are out with injuries.

Gonzaga takes on Loyola of California at Los Angeles Saturday, November 5.

EUGENE (Od.) Oct. 27. (AP)—The University of Oregon football squad in charge of Head Coach John J. McEwan, left Eugene today for Palo Alto, Cal., where the Stanford University Cardinals will be met Saturday in a Pacific Coast Conference game.

When the Oregon team tramps on the Stanford gridiron, the Webfoots will be wearing blue-cotton jerseys with white numbers instead of the regular green.

OAKLAND, Oct. 27. (AP)—St. Mary's College football warriors, preparing for their clash with Gonzaga Sunday at San Francisco, finished heavy practice with a whirlwind scrimmage today. The squad will taper off tomorrow with a light workout.

Coach Ed Madigan is making every effort to bolster the left side of his backfield, weakened through loss of O'Gorman a few weeks ago and lately because of injuries to Bogan. Madigan's latest move has been to shift Haley, a quarterback, to the left halfback position.

The Gonzaga team, numbering twenty-three players, is due to arrive tomorrow from Spokane. They will be quartered in San Francisco and plan workouts at Kezar Stadium tomorrow and Saturday.

Last year Gonzaga held St. Mary's to a scoreless tie in the north to slightly mar the record of the Oakland College eleven, which went through the season undefeated.

BANNING TRACK HAS BENEFITED BY RAIN

The recent rain at Banning has put the Legion Speedway in great shape for the coming Armistice Day races, on November 11, according to the American Legion race committee. Reg Millington, chairman, stated that the moisture packed the banks solid and a hard surface will greet the speed kings Monday when they resume their practice spins. Thirty-five of the country's greatest drivers are entered in the seven races and everything points to a great speed duel. Among the entries are two former world's dirt-track champions, the present title-holder, and a host of other big favorites.

Tommy O'Brien Defeats Firpo

Tommy O'Brien defeated Young Firpo in the ten-round main event at the Culver City arena last night.

In the six-round semi-wind-up, Sammy Bruce won over Frank Terney. Kenneth Golden scored an upset when he knocked out Sandy Garrison in the second round of the special event. Joe Fleming defeated Herman Rittershaus in four rounds and Charles Parks won the opener over Loreta Moreno.

FIREMEN TO PLAY ON WRIGLEY FIELD GRID

Athletic Director Barnett of the Los Angeles Fire Department football team has secured Wrigley Park for an energetic schedule of games throughout November. The first one November 6 will find the smoke-eaters pitted against the Los Angeles Prep All-Stars. The San Bernardino Athletic Club comes November 13, the Porterville American Legion November 20 and the strong San Diego all-fleet aggregation November 27. The final Maier Park game will be played Sunday against the March Field aviators from Riverside.

RACE FOR ALL-AMERICAN HONORS GETTING WARM

BY ALAN G. GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Oct. 27. (AP) — The race for all-American football honors this year, particularly among the backfield men, is under way with the ballyhoo for various candidates being sounded in all sectors of the college gridiron front.

MORTON KAER

Before the touchdown harvest is completed it promises to develop many a warm debate over sectional favorites. From a random survey of the field it seems that the number and caliber of ball carriers is the highest it has been since 1925, when the experts staggered through the job of trying to find a backfield "big four" out of a collection that only included such satellites as Red Grange, Ernie Nevers, George Wilson, Eddie Tryon, Bennie Friedman, "Peggy" Flournoy, Jack Slagle and "Swede" Oberlander.

Another month may shift the prospect, but it looms like another difficult assignment in selecting the all-American cast from an array that now numbers such stars as Bill Spears of Vanderbilt, Christy Flanagan of Notre Dame, Herb Joesting of Minnesota, a 1926 all-American; Myles Lane of Dartmouth, eastern high scorer; Ed Witmer, Princeton's sophomore ace; Bill Ames of Washington and Jefferson, Morely Drury of Southern California; Glenn Presnell, Nebraska; "Gibby" Welch of Pittsburgh, Louis Gilbert of Pitt, Bruce Caldwell of Yale, Tom Nash of Northwestern, Frank Bucek, New York University's point machine, and "Stumpy" Thomason, Georgia Tech's "Golden Tornado."

These stars are subject to change in light, while many others are coming to the front. Their accompanies many notables, such as such forwards as Benny Friedman, Michigan captain and star; Biggiant Army tackle; Hinkle, Dartmouth tackle, and "Tex" Oliver, Harvard tackle, have been mentioned.

'BRICK' MARCUS BOOSTED AS PLAYER THIS WEEK

BERKELEY, Oct. 27. (Exclusive)—Along with his several months improved running game, increased speed, Irving (Brick) Marcus, the flying Prince of the University of California football team, also is entering stronger defensive game than last season.

Marcus's deficiency as a defensive player, in fact, was the only shortcoming in his play during the 1926 season. Now possessing fine defensive man plus his field brilliance, the ace is decidedly valuable to Coach Nibs) Price and particularly some to opposing elevens.

GRANGE'S GRID MARK IN DANGER

NEW YORK, Oct. 27. (AP)—With five more games to play, "Ten Yards" Briante, New York University fullback, is out to tie or surpass Red Grange's 1923 record of gaining 1260 yards in scrimmage.

Briante has made 217 yards in the ninety times he has carried the ball. He was used in only half of last week's game against Rutgers.

game against the Bulldogs than the regulars in their present state of mind.

Twenty-five men will compose the Redlands squad. Outstanding Bulldog athletes are Jimmy Fox, a plunging fullback who also does the punting; Loper, who will start at quarter, and Colvin, halfback, who features in the Redlands passing attack.

Two important conference games are scheduled for tomorrow afternoon. Coach Eugene Nixon's Pomona squad, twenty-five strong, leaves today for San Diego to battle the strong Aztec eleven. On Patterson Field, the Oxy Tigers go into action with Caltech.

The men who made up the Sagehen squad are Manildi, Hartman, Merritt, Williams, Colley, Martin, Backstrand, Bishop, Mitchell, Miller, Archbald, Russell, Mayes, Natland, Bell, Badham, Dyer, Gregory, Hagestead, Judy, Morin, Rodecker, Tucker, Spaulding, Waterbury and Nichols.

Pomona anticipates a victory over San Diego State, which will give the Sagehens a clean slate when they face the Bruins in the Coliseum on the following Saturday. Oxy is also a favorite over the Engineers.

FAIRFAX GRIDDERS DEFEAT ROOSEVELT

Fairfax High School's lightweight football team nosed out the Roosevelt Rough Riders yesterday in a game played at Roosevelt Field by a 12-to-0 score. The game was marked by fumbles on both sides due to a sloppy field. Steinbach and Burroughs, two substitutes, made the only scores of the day. Burroughs made the first touchdown by bucking the ball from the 8-yard line. Steinbach bucked the second touchdown over for the Colonials in the last five minutes of play. Yesterday's victory was the second this season for Fairfax.

TROJAN CENTER IS REBUILT FULLBACK

Nathan Barragar Battling to Fill Jeff Cravath's Shoes

BY BRAVEN DYER

WHEN Jeff Cravath grabbed off his sheepskin and a necklace of Phi Beta Kappa keys last spring the University of Southern California football team lost a great center. There was much wailing and gnashing of teeth by all rabid Trojan fans and just as much speculation as to who would replace the aforementioned Jeff Cravath.

JEFF CRAVATH

Spring practice revealed John Fox and Tom McMahon as the most promising candidates. Fox, as understudy to Cravath last year, earned his letter, while McMahon had played with the frosh. Tom weighed 230 pounds and was fairly fast with all his avoirdupois. Jones, with these two chaps available, was not nearly as worried over the center berth as he became some months later.

McMAHON OUT

The dawn of fall practice brought with it the announcement that McMahon would have to spend a year with the Spartans before being eligible for varsity service. That was a tough blow. And then, as day followed day, as they say in the movies, it became apparent that Fox wasn't going to make the grade. In fact, Jones had suspected as much for some time and with the loss of McMahon had looked around for other center material.

The Trojan mentor's eagle eye fell on Nathan Barragar, a blond boy with plenty of football fight, even if he was only a sophomore. Then and there Barragar became a center. Of course, he wasn't a good center as soon as Jones looked at him, for most good football players are made, not born. In fact, because of his erratic passing in a couple of games, some folks were unkind enough to say that Nate was anything but a good center. But this was a bit harsh, for having been a fullback during his prep days and as a frosh player, Barragar was under quite a handicap in jumping into that center berth all of a sudden.

It was in the Oregon Aggie game that Jones decided Fox would not do as a regular and that Barragar most certainly would. And this in spite of several bad passes by Nate, one of which resulted in an Oregon touchdown. But Barragar had the old battling spirit and Fox didn't, so Nate got the call for the Stanford game.

CAME THROUGH

Barragar's playing in the Stanford battle justified Jones's faith in the blond sophomore's ability. Nate played a superb defensive game. It was his terrific tackling of Wilton that caused the Stanford player to fumble, Saunders picking up the ball to run for the first Trojan touchdown. It was his work on forward passes that prevented many a Stanford toss from being completed. Having been a fullback before Nate comes by his defensive playing rather naturally, which is a good break for Jones, for in this day and age the center carries a heavy defensive burden.

In tomorrow's game with California, Barragar will be opposed by Roy Riegels. The Bear center "came up from the ranks" much after the manner of Barragar. At the start of the season Ehrhmeyer, who had been groomed for the berth at California, was injured and put out for the season. Riegels went into the position and his work has been one of the bright spots of the Bear line. Roy weighs 175 pounds, while Barragar is credited with 178.

When you see Barragar make a good play give him a hand. He deserves it when you consider the handicap he is up against. And if he shoots a bad pass or two don't criticise him to severely, for there's no harder worker on the Trojan club than this blond-headed sophomore scrapper who some day may be another Jeff Cravath.

that reason he forbade a high school game there yesterday—the Poly-Jefferson affair.

The coming of the Bear pigskinners is a sort of a foray into a strange land. They haven't been here to play U.S.C. since 1923, when they knocked over the Trojans, 13 to 7. Since then a lot of things have happened. There was the year of the big split, when the boys made faces at one another. Andy Smith, the tutor of the California "wonder teams," passed on to the great beyond. Nibs Price, Andy's assistant, took the helm, and finally U.S.C. won from California, 37 to 0.

This happened last year, and it was such a shock to the Golden Bears that they are said to have ganged together this year for the sole purpose of beating U.S.C., if nobody else.

LICKED EVERYBODY

But the strange part of it is that the holdovers from last year's team, which couldn't beat anybody, plus some new additions, have licked everything in sight this season.

Not only licked 'em, but kept their own goal line unsullied except for a lone touchdown scored by Santa Clara in the opening game of the season.

This, it seems, is a pretty good indication that the gang of forty-seven Bears Nibs is bringing with him are pretty smart defensively as well as being darned good offensively.

You must admit that after gazing at the season's record: Santa Clara, 14 to 6; Nevada, 54 to 0; St. Mary's, 13 to 0; Oregon, 16 to 0, and the Olympic Club, 21 to 0.

But how good these Bears are going to be against U.S.C. tomorrow is another matter. They haven't met a team the caliber of U.S.C., and there is nothing the Trojans would like better than to beat the Bears.

However, if Howard Jones's boys are going to wave the pom-poms of victory they will have to step on the gas harder than they did against California at Berkeley last fall.

UNABLE TO SCORE

Against that misfit California aggregation which failed to win a conference game the Trojans were unable to score until the tail end of the second half, two minutes from the finish. The third quarter also would have been fruitless except for Kaer's forty-eight-yard run for a touchdown, a brilliant individual effort in which the all-American hero reversed his field and cut back in his dash for the goal line.

Of course the Bears never got anywhere in that game, offensively. They only made one first down and gained forty-six yards to U.S.C.'s twenty-seven first downs and over 600 yards, but nevertheless, they managed to make it pretty tough when U.S.C. scores were in sight.

This year they will not only make it tougher, but with a pair of ace-high booters, good ends and a tight line the Bears can play that old game that made Andy Smith's teams so famous—kick and wait for the breaks.

With Lee Eisan, Benny Lom, "Brick" Marcus and Ralph Dougery as one backfield and "Speed" Newman, Evans, Cockburn and Clymer as another, the Bears have plenty of speed and punch back of the line, and are not afraid of anybody, and can take advantage of the breaks just as they did in the old days.

The game will be played rain or shine, so if you still have a chance to grab a stray ducat, get it while the getting is good.

Absent 300,000, which is one-fourth of the miners in England, are still unemployed.

BABE AND LOU ARRIVE HERE

ed Larrupin' Lou Gehrig's nine by the score of 7 to 6 here this afternoon on a sloppy field. Ruth and Gehrig each hit home runs for the edification of some 8500 fans who turned out to greet them. Kids not not break up the game in the eighth inning, but they had so delayed the affair by crashing the bench, that the game was called an inning short. The score:

OUTSIDE MEN CAN'T BUY SEATTLE CLUB

SEATTLE, Oct. 27. (AP)—The Post Intelligencer quotes Charles L. Lockhard, president of the Seattle Baseball Club, as declaring that the club is not for sale to other than Seattle men. No offer has been made for the club by local interests, he added.

Reports had been current that a major-league team would soon buy the Seattle club as a "farm."

Lockhard also denied reports of dissension between himself and Wade Killefer, manager and part owner of the Indians. Killefer, he said, will remain with the Seattle team.

GOLFERS SET FOR TOURNEY

Star Pro Players Ready for Title Tournament at Dallas, Tex.

DALLAS (Tex.) Oct. 27. (AP)—The list of sixty-nine entries in the 1927 Professional Golfers' Association tournament which starts with medal play here Monday, was nearly complete today with the arrival of Tommy Armour, Bobby Cruickshank, John Golden and half a score of other internationally famous pros. Three snappy 70's, one under par, were turned in during practice rounds today.

Although Texas fans are going to be greatly disappointed if Harry Cooper, a local product who knows Cedar Crest course like a bulldog knows his own backyard, does not carry off both medal and match play, practice scores indicate that Lighthorse Harry will have to step some to do it.

In the Cooper-Hagen exhibition match for $2500, won by the former here last spring, Harry took a seven on the wicked No. 10, a half moon which makes an ordinary dogleg look straight, Gene Sarazen yesterday did it in a birdie four while playing the course for the first time. Gene's practice mark of 70 was tied today by James Foulis of Hinsdale, Ill.; Al Espinosa and Mortimer Dutra, Tacoma, Wash.; Bobby Cruickshank and Tommy Armour paired for a practice round today, but did not keep score.

MILLER GETS NOD IN BOUT

DAYTON (Ky.) Oct. 27. (AP)—Freddie Miller, Cincinnati, featherweight, won the newspaper decision over Red Wise, Portsmouth, O., in a six-round bout here last night.

Johnny McCoy Fights Tommy Hughes for Flyweight Title at Legion Stadium Tonigh

CHAMPIONSHIP BATTLE ON TAP

Final Bout of Elimination Tourney on Tonight

Winner of Hollywood Fight Gets Title Laurels

Four Matches on Stadium Preliminary Program

Johnny McCoy of El Paso fights Tommy Hughes of Cleveland for the flyweight championship of the world tonight at the Hollywood American Legion stadium. There will be no draw as the referee is expected to declare a winner and McCoy is a favorite.

TOMMY HUGHES

This is the final of the flyweight tournament. It is the first world's championship fight ever staged at the Legion stadium and the house will probably be packed to see who the California Boxing Commission is going to award Fidel La Barba's title to.

After a series of elimination trials Tommy Hughes and Johnny McCoy have come through victorious. Hughes beat two very good flyweights when he outpointed Harry Goldstein of Boston and stopped Boy Wally of Singapore. Hughes is a hard puncher and if there is any knockout Tommy will get it.

Johnny McCoy beat Britt Gorman of Minneapolis and Willie Davies to get into the final. Davies had beaten Corporal Izzy Schwartz and was a heavy favorite to win the tournament. When he was easily outpointed by Johnny McCoy the wise birds asserted that McCoy would win. When the same fellows saw Tommy Hughes stop Wally in the tenth round after fighting a losing fight they realized that McCoy is no cinch and that if Hughes ever hits him on the lug he is apt to take the count.

The California Boxing Commission has sanctioned the tournament and that body will award the title to the winner. The winner of the New York tournament was Corporal Izzy Schwartz. He was eliminated in the first tournament fight by Willie Davies so the winner has a just claim on the title.

Manager Tom Gallery has arranged four fast fights to support the main event. Jackie Carr and Frankie Terndorf are a cinch to put on a whale of a fight. They are lightweights and each has a long string of victories. Carr has a slight edge if there is any.

Jimmy Murphy, who fights Billy Wilson, has plenty of class and for a youngster looks like a coming main-eventer. He has a wallop that may flatten Wilson.

The two four-rounders are between Johnny Fernando and Manuel Frayo and Virgil Chandler and Frankie Pitcher.

BEAR GRIDIRON FANS CONFIDENT

this game, depending upon working up other plays to be used in important games later in the season. All the football the boys on both teams know will be used Saturday.

For the first time this season the Trojans will have their full strength in the backfield in this game. Don Williams, the little guy who ripped the Notre Dame line to shreds last year, carrying the ball 87 yards on thirteen successive plays and scoring a touchdown, has been nursing an injured leg and he was not used in the Stanford game. But Don is all right now and he is expected to shine against California.

ALL THREE READY

In the Stanford game Capt. Drury was the workhorse. When he was resting Elliott took his place and did well. But Saturday, Drury, Elliott and Williams will all be available and they will all be used. Fortunately for the Bears, perhaps, they will not all three be in the game at the same time.

All the coaches on the Coast have the running plays of the Trojans spotted cold, but so strong and compact is the interference furnished the runner, that the play is hard to stop even when the other fellow knows what is coming.

The California ends and tackles have not been up against anything as tough as this play this year, so they may have their troubles. Once Drury, Williams or Elliott get around an end or between end and tackle, a long gain may result, for each of these men knows how to handle himself in the open.

Head Coach Nibs Price of the Bears says if the Bears score once they will score at least twice. That should be a comfort to those betting on the Bears.

Women Golfers Honor Western Titlist Today

Mrs. Harry Pressler, women's western golf champ, will be the guest of honor at a special luncheon and eighteen - hole medal tournament, scheduled for the Los Angeles Country Club today.

MRS. HARRY PRESSLER

Mrs. A. E. D. Trabue, auxiliary chairman in charge of the first official reception arranged in honor of the youthful San Gabriel golfer, stated late last night that rain today would switch the golf program to bridge, promising an entertaining afternoon for all golfers and friends, who are urged to attend.

In addition to winning the western in her first start, Mrs. Pressler threw a profound scare into national challengers and then traveled to Canada to take a scientific golfing shot at the Canadian open. Mrs. Pressler qualified well up with the leaders in both major affairs and won two matches in each championship, quite a record for even an experienced golfer, and Mrs. Pressler has been playing less than three years.

C. M. Kellogg, president; Tex Schramm, and, in fact, San Gabriel en masse, will honor Mrs. Pressler with a dinner-dance in the club home next Tuesday evening. More than 100 women golfers have signed for the Beverly affair today.

RAIN WASHES OUT WOMEN'S MATCHES

Rain over the circuit yesterday caused a postponement of all games scheduled in the Women's Auxiliary Golf League. The semiweekly inter-club matches will be played next Tuesday, unless otherwise arranged by club team captains.

MOUNTAIN MEADOWS PLAY WILL OPEN TOMORROW

The annual invitational tournament of the Mountain Meadows Country Club, an eighteen-hole medal affair in three classes, will get under way tomorrow. Entrants may golf for club trophies Sunday also.

OBSERVATIONS BY BILL HENRY

effect of a wet field and a wet ball on the Bears because of their more open style of play ought to be offset somewhat by their greater familiarity with play under these conditions. A wet field always helps a team that relies on kicking and waiting for the breaks. We don't believe anybody is going to stand right up and whoop for joy over dampness.

Ever since Uncle John Daggett talked the proprietor of this colyum into broadcasting the football games at the Coliseum over KHJ we've been running into funny reactions by folks who've heard about it. A percentage of the folks who have mentioned the fact to us have the idea that we're taking Charley Keppen's place announcing the play by play out at the Coliseum. Another delegation thinks we're the only guy broadcasting the game, and that no matter what station they happen to tune in on, they are listening to yours truly.

One kind-hearted soul dropped us a line and told us that he had always enjoyed reading our column but when we were broadcasting the Trojan-Stanford game we got so excited he couldn't understand what was going on. The facts of the matter are that we didn't broadcast the Trojan-Stanford game, we don't announce in the Coliseum, we merely tell the folks who happen to be tuned in on KHJ about the games at the Coliseum, and we'll be doing business at the same old stand tomorrow doing our best to tell KHJ listeners what the Trojans are doing to the California Bears, and vice versa.

OXY STUDENTS HOLD CALTECH GRID RALLY

Bob Donaldson, yell king at Occidental College, hopes to stir up the Tiger rooters today in the weekly student rally to be held at noon in Alumni Hall. The Bengals are not the least bit overconfident but on the contrary are looking forward to a tough scrap with the Engineers' eleven. Several new yells and bleacher stunts have been arranged by Donaldson for the students' rally today and will be in vogue at the coming Tech and Tiger clash at Patterson Field Saturday.

REYNOLDS DEFEATS TURNER

COLUMBUS (O.) Oct. 27. (AP)—Jack Reynolds of Indianapolis, world's welterweight champion, defeated Joe Turner, Washington, in a fast wrestling match here last night.

LOYOLA GRIDS LEAVE FOR GAME WITH ARIZONA TEAM

Bill Hess with a squad of twenty-five men left for Flagstaff at 8 o'clock this morning, where they will play the Arizona State Teachers. The Lions' roster at present is free from injuries, and they should face the Lumberjacks with their full strength.

The high altitude will cause the Lions to be under somewhat of a handicap, but whether it will affect their playing to a great extent will not be known until after the game. It will be the first time that the Jesuit boys have had a contest under such conditions. So with this in mind Hess has been working his charges overtime during the week.

Last year the Lions trounced the Lumberjacks by the score of 21 to 7 on the local field. By comparative scores the Lions are only three points better than the Lumberjacks. The Lions defeated Tempe Teachers 25 to 3, and the Lumberjacks chalked up a 19-to-0 win over Tempe last Saturday.

With the Gonzaga game staring them in the eyes for the following week, the Loyola gridders will have to set a fast pace to remain undefeated. If the regulars are able to score once or twice in the early part of the game, Hess will undoubtedly send in his reserves, for he is very anxious to have his first string intact for the Gonzaga fracas.

ARCHER FAILS TO BREAK GOLF MARK

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 27. (AP)—Using a bow and arrow, Howard H. McChesney, Minneapolis archer, failed to equal Bobby Jones's golf record of 67 at the Minnikahda Club course.

McChesney went around the course with his bow and arrow yesterday in 73, six strokes above Jones's mark, made during the national amateur golf championship last August.

FRENCH BRED RACERS WIN ENGLISH PURSES

NEWMARKET (Eng.) Oct. 27. (AP) French bred racers captured first and second places in the race for the famous Jockey Club Cup over the two-and-a-quarter-mile distance today.

Baron Edouard De Rothschild's Mont Bernina, 4-year-old, won by four lengths from M. Jacques Wittouck's 4-year-old Bois Josselyn, with F. W. Morlock's 3-year-old Adieu, in third place, another length back. Six ran.

ARDOUIN, HEALEY STRENGTHEN MERCURY CLUB WRESTLING TEAM

The complete squad of wrestlers who will represent the L.A.A.C. in the Pacific Coast amateur tournament at the Olympic Auditorium November 3 and 4 was announced yesterday by Mercury officials. The club will be strong in all divisions with Louis Ardouin, Coast champion, and Jim Healey runner-up to Ardouin for the Southern California title, both due to show the Simon-pures something in the heavyweight section.

Johnny Huemerich, former Coast champion at 147 pounds, Glen Cooper, Southern California 118-pound champion, Lawrence Sharpe, 126 pounds, and Morris McGill, 160 pounds, both Southern California champions, will also be good bets for more honors.

The probable team includes Glenn Cooper and Peter Mordigan, 118 pounds; Lawrence Sharpe, 126 pounds; Johnny Huemerich, Stover, Campbell and Morehouse (unattached,) 135 pounds; Jimmy Rivers, Ward, Patton, Sam Fisher and Levin, 147 pounds; Morris McGill, Reuben Shaeffer and Hodge, 160 pounds; Marion Betty, Floyd Edgerton, 175 pounds; and Louis Ardouin and Jim Healey, heavyweights.

OXY SOCCER TILTS POSTPONED BY RAIN

The first soccer tilts in the annual intermural sports program at Occidental were postponed until Monday afternoon by Manager Ernie Ketchersid due to the rainstorm out Eagle Rock way that placed the soccer field in a terrible condition.

The freshmen and seniors were slated for a bloody battle yesterday but will start their contest on Monday because of the damages of the rain. The juniors and sophs will battle on Wednesday.

OXY FRESH GRIDS NOT TO TACKLE LAWYERS

The Occidental freshman football eleven and the Lawyers of Southwestern University, slated to do battle for a preliminary to the Occidental-Caltech conference tilt at Patterson Field Saturday afternoon, have canceled the contest by consent of both coaches of the two squads. The Tiger and Engineer struggle will start promptly at 2:30 o'clock and will be preceded by no preliminary game at all, according to Graduate Manager Phil Ellsworth at Occidental.

NATIONALISTA FAVORED TO TRIM O'DOWD AT OLYM

Young Nationalista is going home to the Philippines after his ten-round bout with Midget Mike O'Dowd next Tuesday night at the Olympic. He expects to eat a lot of rice and come back a legitimate 126-pounder. At present the little Filipino can't make 116 and he can't do 126. He tips around 121 to 122 pounds.

Johnny Sampson, manager of Nationalista, made the announcement yesterday he was sending the boy home and when he comes back he will try to have 205 more fights.

Nationalista has piled up the astounding record of 285 battles in five years for an average of fifty-seven fights a year. No other boxer ever engaged in that many contests over so long a period.

The Filipino's color has always made him an audience-pleaser and he is always good for some first-class thrills. He nearly knocked out Joey Sangor at Portland just a week before Joey whipped Taylor here.

Jack Dugan, who meets Dario Barron in the other ten-round bout, comes highly rated. He is a 130-pounder. He is not so well known here as O'Dowd because the junior lightweights have few boxers of any color in it. Tod Morgan is the champion, but he is not the kind of a fighter who gets in the headlines often and favorably.

NOW A MOTOR OIL WITH ENDURANCE BEYOND BELIEF

PROVED!

In a gruelling test equal to the driving of an automobile up a stiff grade 750 miles long, at 45 miles an hour, without stopping.

CYCOL is today a motor oil whose performance actually challenges belief. A startling statement, that, for any motor oil—but true, every word of it.

Months of severest motor-laboratory and road tests with the improved Cycol, now made by a process entirely new to motor oil refining, show results that are perfectly astounding to automotive engineers, lubricant authorities and motor experts generally.

If you are interested in a motor oil that assures intensified protection to your engine, that stands up better under the heaviest test-bombardments to which any motor oil can be subjected, that cuts down motor oil costs, then you will use Cycol. And once trying Cycol in your own motor, you'll be just as enthusiastic about its performance as we are.

Fill your crank case with Cycol today. Test and check it in any possible way. The results obtained will convince you that the newly improved Cycol is a tremendous advance in lubricating accomplishment. Try it today!

Rumors Rife on Yule Plans for Giannini Stocks

Rumors of an extra cash dividend to be paid on the outstanding capital stock of the Bank of Italy around the middle of December, as a special Christmas distribution, were current on the floor of the Los Angeles Stock Exchange yesterday. While the reports could not be confirmed, they came from sources considered reliable.

Disbursements, ranging all the way from 50 cents to $1 a share, are suggested as the extra distribution, which would be in addition to the regular quarterly payment of $1.31 a share.

An unconfirmed report from San Francisco yesterday also stated that the Bancitaly Corporation is likely to pay a 50-cent extra cash dividend on its capital stock January 1, 1928. Still another rumor suggests an 11 per cent stock dividend for Bancitaly. The northern report believes the cash dividend the more logical.

Stock Offering for Reo Motor on Sale Today

An issue of 135,000 shares of Reo Motor Car Company common stock will be offered for public subscription today by a banking group headed by Keane, Higbie & Co., and Otis & Co., at $27 a share. This stock, which is of $10 par value, has been acquired from individuals and does not involve any new financing by the company. The company has 2,000,000 shares of common stock authorized and outstanding and has no preferred stock or bonded indebtedness.

The Reo Motor Car Company, incorporated under the laws of Michigan in August, 1904, and one of the pioneers in the motor industry, has had a successful history of twenty-three years under the same management. During this period it has never failed to show a profit in any year. Sales for 1926 amounted to $44,059,627 for the 34,542 units produced. For the six months ended August 31, last, sales totaled $36,000,000.

The company's low capitalization, the consistent absence of preferred stock and bonds, together with sustained strong earnings, have permitted it to share profits generously with its stockholders, the bankers state.

Newspaper Lien Issue Out Today

Offering will be made today of an issue of $20,000,000 Hearst Publications, Inc., first mortgage and collateral trust 6 1-4 per cent serial bonds by a group headed by the Anglo London Paris Company, Halsey, Stuart & Co., and including the Continental and Commercial Company, A. B. Leach & Co., Inc., A. G. Becker & Co., Hill, Joiner & Co., Inc., S. W. Straus & Co., and Schwabacher & Co.

The bonds mature serially, November 1, 1928 to 1947, inclusive. The 1928 maturity is priced at 101.30, yielding 5 per cent, the 1929 maturity at 101.40, yielding 5.50 per cent, and the 1930 maturity at 100.68, yielding 6 per cent, while the remainder of the maturities are priced at 100 and interest to yield 6.25 per cent. The bonds will be a direct obligation of the Hearst Publications, Inc., and will be secured by a first mortgage lien on real estate, buildings equipment and other fixed assets now owned or hereafter acquired.

LONDON, Oct. 27. (By wireless)—Investments continued steady today, though other markets were inclined to be dull. Marconi was lower as a result of a warning statement by the board in which a conservative view was taken about dividends and recent rumors of expansions were denied. Celanese and kindred shares were also easier on realizations.

Lord Inchcape has an article in the Shipping World emphasizing the damage inflicted by our heavy national and local taxation upon the iron and steel and shipping industries.

HEALDSBURG BANK ANNEXED BY CHAIN

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 27. (AP)—The National Bancitaly Company announced here today it had purchased the First National Bank of Healdsburg for a consideration approximating $2,000,000. The Healdsburg institution is known as one of the oldest banks in Northern California, having been founded in 1877. It is to continue operations under the same name and officers, the purchasers announced. C. W. Weaver is president and J. W. Miller cashier.

PAN-WESTERN REPORT OUT

Net Profits in Third Quarter More Than in First Quarter and $110,000 Over First Half Year

BY CARL P. MILLER

E. L. Doheny, president of the Pan-American Western Petroleum Company, late yesterday issued the corporation's consolidated profit-and-loss statement covering operations of the company for the third quarter and for the first nine months of the current year. The report shows the company to be holding its own under the trying conditions which have prevailed in the oil industry since early in the year.

Net profits of the company for the nine months ended September 30, last, after all charges, including depreciation, depletion and provision for Federal income tax, amounted to $437,756.63, as compared with $2,076,048.60 in the corresponding nine months of last year, a decrease of $1,638,291.97. This is equivalent to $7 cents a share on the 500,000 shares of Class A and Class B stocks outstanding, as against $4.15 a share earned after similar charges on the same capitalization in the first nine months of 1926.

While net profits of the corporation in the nine months' period were substantially less than for the corresponding period of last year, earnings in the three months ended September 30, last, showed a decided improvement over the second quarter, when operations of the company resulted in a deficit, and were more in line with earnings of the corporation in the third quarter of recent years.

For the three months ended September 30, last, net profits of Pan American Western, after all charges, including depreciation, depletion and tax provision, amounted to $273,942.75, equal to 55 cents a share on the company's outstanding capitalization, as compared with net profits of $448,930.16, or 89 cents a share, for the third quarter of 1926. Operations in the second quarter of this year resulted in a net loss of $96,325.02.

IMPROVEMENT SHOWN

In other words, net earnings of the corporation in the third quarter improved $370,000 over results of the second three months' period, were greater than the net of $260,138.90 in the first quarter, and were more than $110,000 larger than net profits for the first six months of this year.

Gross sales of the company for the nine months of this year aggregated $23,623,082.26, as against $25,815,870.05 for the corresponding period of last year, a decrease of $2,192,787.79. For the third quarter gross sales amounted to $8,774,517.32, a decline of $618,594.42 from gross sales of $9,393,111.74 in the third quarter of last year. Net earnings from operations declined from $6,589,619.34 in the nine months ended September 30, 1926, to $5,262,397.75 in the three quarters of this year, a decrease of $1,307,221.59. In the third quarter net earnings from operations totaled $1,873,157.09, as against $1,975,129.26 in that period last year.

The company continued its policy of writing off substantial depreciation and depletion reserves, these deductions amounting to $2,958,849.87 in the three quarters of this year, as compared with $2,593,785.60 in the nine months of last year, an increase of $365,065.27. Depreciation and depletion write-offs in the three months ended September 30, last, amounted to $938,330.33, as against $920,054.07 in the third quarter of 1926, a gain of more than $38,300.

Deduction for interest increased from $1,322,848.48 in the nine months of 1926, to $1,385,540.36 in the nine months just passed, and from $461,540.10 in the third quarter of 1926 to $465,057.36 in the three months ended September 30, last.

INCOME ACCOUNT

The company's consolidated profit-and-loss account for the nine months ended September 30, last, and for the third quarter, follows:

	Third quarter.	Nine months.

Net Earnings of Du Pont de Nemours Gain

NEW YORK, Oct. 27. (AP)—Substantially larger income for the first nine months of 1927 than in the corresponding period of 1926, is reported by E. I. Du Pont de Nemours & Co., large holders of General Motors stock. The company earned $32,726,558, equivalent to $12.30 a share on its common stock, against $31,569,334, or $11.86 a share a year ago, which included about $2,000,000 in interest from the government on account of refund of taxes overpaid for 1915 to 1924, inclusive.

Third quarter net income was $12,488,554, against $13,437,856 in the third quarter of 1926. After deducting debenture stock dividends, $11,289,914 remained for the no-par stock, or $4.24 a share, against $4.60 a share in the third quarter last year.

Income for the nine months from investment in General Motors Corporation was $23,952,265, compared with $20,129,413 in nine months of 1926, and income from the same source in the third quarter was $7,982,933, against $8,815,641 in the third quarter last year.

Dividends amounting to $27,945,999 on the common stock were paid in the nine months, or $10.50 a share on the 2,661,658 shares outstanding, compared with $23,286,440, or $8.75 a share on the same number of shares in the previous corresponding period.

CALIFORNIA-OREGON POWER GETS PERMIT

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 27. (AP)—The California-Oregon Power Company has been granted authority by the State Railroad Commission to issue and sell, on or before June 30, 1928, at not less than $96 per share, 15,000 shares of its 6 per cent preferred stock, of an aggregate par value of $1,500,000 and $4,000,000 of its fifteen-year 5½ per cent debentures at not less than 94½ per cent of face value plus accrued interest. The proceeds will be used to pay indebtedness to the Standard Gas and Electric Company, and to finance additions and betterments.

MOVEMENT OF STOCKS IRREGULAR

Giannini Shares Strong on Rumors of Melons; Richfield Leads Oil Activity

Movement of prices on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange yesterday failed to show any definite trend, although advances were in the majority. Bank of Italy sold off to 205½ in the early trading, but rallied in the afternoon on rumors of a prospective Christmas melon to a high and close at 206½, although a buyer's-7 order was executed at 208½. Bank of Italy rights advanced to 6.25 at the opening, sold off to 5.80 and rallied again to 6.23 and closed 7 cents net lower at 6.12½.

Bancitaly Corporation sold from 117 to 117 3-8, closing at 117 for a net loss of ½ of a point. United Bank and Trust Company of San Francisco sold off to 183 in the morning and rallied to a close in the afternoon at 187 for a net gain of 2 points over Wednesday's close. Los Angeles-First National declined ½ of a point to a low and close at 95½.

Oil stocks were irregular. Standard of California receded 5-8 of a point to 54 1-4. Union Oil lost 3-4 of a point to 43 3-4 and Associates added 1-4 of a point to 44. California Petroleum receded ½ of a point to 21 1-4. Richfield was strong, adding 7-8 of a point to 21 3-8. Rio Grande moved up ½ of a point to 20, and Holly Development brought 1.40. Pan American added ½ of a point to 19.

Edison 6 per cent preferred advanced a fraction to 25 3-4, the common lost 1-4 of a point to 29 and the 7 per cent preferred held firm at 28 7-8. Los Angeles Gas and Electric preferred held steady at 104 3-8, and Los Angeles Investment at 2.65. Trading in the mining issues was at firm figures.

Woman Fails to Beat Way to Honolulu

ABOARD STEAMSHIP MAUI AT SEA, Oct. 27. (AP)—Miss Betty Simpson of Brownsville, Tex., who stowed away on the steamship President Polk, which sailed from San Francisco Friday for Honolulu, was transferred at sea today to the steamship Maui. She will arrive in San Francisco November 1.

Miss Simpson almost succeeded in reaching Honolulu, the Maui being encountered one day out from the island port, bound for the mainland.

Miss Simpson, 24 years of age, exhibited scrapbooks in San Francisco the 16th inst. which credited her with having traveled 47,000 miles since leaving her father's farm near Brownsville three years ago. Much of her traveling, the records stated, was as a stowaway.

Hagen Leaves on Trade Tour

C. O. Hagen, vice-president of the O. J. Weber Company, Los Angeles dealers of creamery and dairy machinery and supplies, set out a few days ago on an extensive trip to the Orient and Australia with a view to enlarging the export business of his company. Mr. Hagen will first visit in the East and will sail from Seattle on November 3. He will tour Japan, China, the Philippines, Australia and New Zealand and return home early in the new year via the Hawaiian Islands.

The United States leads the world in the handling of milk and the development of sanitary and clean methods of production and distribution, Mr. Hagen stated before he left. In countries of the Orient, methods are very primitive, he said, but in the larger cities there is an increasing demand for improvement. In Australia, a new law requires the bottling of milk. These factors give promise of a large opportunity for the export of machinery of this character from Los Angeles to countries bordering the Pacific.

Bondholders of Project to Act

Interested bondholders of the Williams Irrigation District, Colusa county, have formed a bondholders' committee for the purpose of reorganization of the district, it was announced yesterday. The committee includes Frank C. Lynch, San Diego; John G. McGregor, San Diego, and P. B. Dickey, Los Angeles. Charles H. Harvey, San Francisco, is acting as secretary of the committee.

All bondholders are requested to deposit their bonds with the Farmers' and Merchants' National Bank of Los Angeles, the selected depository, in order that the bondholders' committee may be in full authority to act.

UTILITY CAPITAL BOOST APPROVED

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 27. (AP)—Issue and sale by the Great Western Power Company of California of $2,500,000 of common capital stock for the purpose of reimbursing its treasury and financing in part expenditure of $7,300,878.39 on capital account, was authorized by the State Railroad Commission here today.

STOCKS OF AIRLINES APPROVED

Maddux Company Issued Permit to Sell Block of Securities

J. M. Friedlander, State Corporation Commissioner, yesterday granted a permit to Maddux Air Lines, Inc., a Delaware corporation with a capitalization of $5,000,000, divided into 50,000 shares of preferred stock with a par value of $100 a share and 50,000 shares of common stock without par value.

Under the permit, the company may sell and issue 5000 preferred and 5010 common shares, as follows: Ten shares of common stock to the incorporators for $1 each; 500 preferred and 250 common to J. L. Maddux in exchange for an airplane; 4500 preferred and 2250 common at a price of $200 for units of two shares of the former and one of the latter, and 2500 common shares to the company's directors as part payment for services with their right to receive 22,500 additional common shares as final payment for those services.

According to the application filed with the department, the company was organized for the purpose of engaging in the aerial transportation business and proposes to establish its first route between Los Angeles and San Diego, using all-metal three-motor commercial planes for the hauling of passengers and freight on regular schedule. Eventually it plans to establish a line between Los Angeles and Dallas, Tex., and other lines to be determined by the directors.

The plane to be acquired from Maddux is a Ford ship which has been operating between Los Angeles and San Diego. This plane, the department was informed, has operated at a profit in a service that has extended over a period of sixty days.

Officers of the company are J. L. Maddux, president; Charles H. Lathrop, J. B. Lyman, vice-presidents; Benjamin F. Biedsoe, secretary; Perry W. Weidner, treasurer; Harry H. Culver, C. C. Tanner and Milton Bacon, directors.

Pacific Lighting Votes to Retire Issue of Bonds

Directors of the Pacific Lighting Corporation, at their regular monthly meeting in San Francisco yesterday, officially authorized the retirement of the corporation's 6 per cent secured gold bonds outstanding in the amount of $4,000,000. It was announced late yesterday by Robert W. Miller, vice-president of the corporation. The bonds, due February 1, 1940, will be called on February 1, 1928, at 103½ and accrued interest.

Under the terms of the corporation's trust indenture securing the bonds the official call for redemption must be issued sixty days prior to the date of redemption. This call will be issued officially at a later date, Mr. Miller stated.

The corporation recently amended its articles of incorporation, changing the capital structure to provide for the issuance of no par value stocks to replace the former $100 par value preferred and common shares, and at the same time increased the authorized amounts of each issue.

With the redemption of outstanding secured gold bonds the Pacific Lighting Corporation will have no bonded indebtedness.

Distribution of Pacific Gas Stocks Broad

A new analysis of stock distribution of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company has just been completed, disclosing 47,043 holders of the utility's preferred and common shares, of whom 39,374, or 83.7 per cent, are Californians, according to a statement just issued by A. F. Hockenbeamer, president of the company.

The majority of the holdings, Mr. Hockenbeamer points out, are quite limited in extent, 16,527 stockholders, or 39 per cent, holding from one to twenty-five shares, and 11,452, or 24.3 per cent, between twenty-six and fifty shares of the $25 par value stocks. The aggregate of these holdings of between one and fifty shares accounts for 39,795, or 63 per cent of the company's roster.

"No less than 454 of this company's stockholders," Mr. Hockenbeamer said, "hold only one $25 share of stock, purchased in many instances on the easy-payment plan. These small stockholders, in fact, outnumber the holders of blocks exceeding 1000 shares, of whom there are 444. The number of women holding the company's preferred stocks exceeds by upward of 1000 the number of men stockholders, there being 12,962 of the former and 11,924 of the latter. There are, however, approximately 1700 more men than women holding common shares."

Bethlehem Net Income Off in Third Quarter

NEW YORK, Oct. 27. (AP)—Net income of Bethlehem Steel Corporation for the third quarter this year dropped to $2,788,053 from $4,550,978 in the corresponding period of 1926.

Net income for the nine months of 1927 was $13,454,971 equal to $4.68 a share on the common stock against $15,764,851, or $5.93 a share, in the same period of last year.

No action was taken on the resumption of dividends on the common stock but the regular quarterly dividend of $1.75 a share on the preferred was authorized.

Third-quarter earnings were equivalent to 61 cents a share on the common, against $1.86 in the second quarter and $1.57 in the third quarter last year.

Unfilled orders on September 30 were $52,321,794 against $48,655,754 on June 30, and $44,553,571 on September 30, 1926.

Total income for the nine months was $31,897,074 against $34,654,135 a year ago. Surplus after preferred dividends was $8,362,271 against $10,694,691.

SELLING WASTE ASSAILED

Director of Foreign and Domestic Commerce Bureau Starts Campaign to Reduce Costs

BY PAUL WILLARD GARRET

[Copyright, 1927, by New York Evening Post, Inc.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—Dr. Julius Klein, director of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, has discovered that millions of American dollars each year are being squandered in inefficient selling efforts and he wants to do something to stop the waste.

In his campaign Dr. Klein undoubtedly will have the support of the main body of business men of this country, who are ready to admit that trade has outgrown present methods of handling it.

Dr. Klein thinks that the government, supplementing the work of private agencies, can play a big part in market research. He says that assisting business in solving present-day problems of distribution is one of the most important functions which now confronts the economic service units at Washington. It is the government's big job.

The Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, announces Dr. Klein, is about to release the first of a series of regional commercial surveys, which attempt to determine the basic commercial attributes, the factors affecting distribution and the actual status of the buying power of the various economic areas of the country.

For this purpose the country has been divided into nine large regions and the survey covering five Southeastern States will be available for distribution before the holidays. Those on the New England area and the Pacific Southwest are well under way and it is hoped that Congress will authorize the completion of all nine of these surveys within the next three years.

Speaking yesterday before the American Association of Advertising Agencies in Washington Dr. Klein declared that the science of distribution has failed to keep pace with improved manufacturing methods. Efficient manufacturing has not had a counterpart in that other great phase of business—distribution. We have no yardstick by which we can measure progress in distribution as we can in manufacturing because no fundamental census of the distributive agencies has been compiled.

We are lacking, said Dr. Klein, in an accurate comprehensive information as to the largest single item in our whole commercial activity, namely, the volume of wholesale or retail trade, or as to the character of the outlets through which various commodities are handled.

With some minor deductions approximately the whole of the sum of $89,000,000,000 was spent last year in the United States for commodities and services and just how or where the money went no one knows.

Dr. Klein said: "Millions are squandered in chasing the mirage of a national market for commodities of the list, notably among the insurance, baking and packing shares. Continental, Fidelity-Phenix and Rossia Insurance all chalked up new peak prices, with extreme gains of 11½, 7 1-4 and 19 1-8 points respectively. Cudahy led the packing shares.

The hardest-hit issues were the speculative leaders, such as General Motors, United States Steel, General Electric, American Smelting, Radio, and others. Steel common touched a new low for the movement, and closed around 124 3-8, with a net loss of more than 2 points. General Motors

BROKER LOANS DROP

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27. (AP)—Loans to brokers and dealers held by Federal Reserve member banks for the week ending the 26th inst., amounted to $3,343,777,000, comparing with $3,434,107,000 the previous week.

STOCK PRICES RENEW SLUMP

Resumption of Bear Selling Unsettles Market

Speculative Leaders Forced to New Low Levels

Steel Situation Blamed for Aiding Decline

NEW YORK, Oct. 27. (AP)—Speculative selling, particularly in the steel group, brought further recessions in the stock market today, some of the leading issues declining to new low levels for the movement. The unsettling of the market was largely due to unsatisfactory conditions in the steel industry, which encouraged bear raiders to loose another spirited attack on the volatile shares.

Although rallying tendencies developed for a time in the early afternoon, and there were evidences of short covering on the rebound in some issues, the pressure continued heavy, and prices at the close were following an uncertain trend. Nevertheless, there was quite a sprinkling of strong spots in divers sections of the list, notably among the insurance, baking and packing shares. Continental, Fidelity-Phenix and Rossia Insurance all chalked up new peak prices, with extreme gains of 11½, 7 1-4 and 19 1-8 points respectively. Cudahy led the packing shares.

The hardest-hit issues were the speculative leaders, such as General Motors, United States Steel, General Electric, American Smelting, Radio, and others. Steel common touched a new low for the movement, and closed around 124 3-8, with a net loss of more than 2 points. General Motors

Wheat Market Rules Firmer, Corn Weakens

CHICAGO, Oct. 25. (Exclusive)—Local sentiment was more friendly to the buying side of wheat today, and while there were numerous breaks in sympathy with corn and on selling or the Northwest, the close was at net gains of ¼@⅝c. December finished at 1.24⅝@1.24¾ and March 1.28¼@1.28⅝. Corn sold at a new low on the crop on the deferred deliveries and within ⅛c of the bottom on the December, but rallied with wheat and lost only ⅛@¼c, with December 81⅛@81⅝ and March 85⅝@85¾. Oats were unchanged to ⅛c higher and rye ½c higher to ¼c lower.

A number of local traders in wheat have taken the bull side of the market, feeling that Chicago is selling too low as compared with other world markets, and had some assistance in the way of an unexpected advance of 1⅜@1⅝d in Liverpool and strength in Winnipeg. The latter gained ⅝@⅞c, and there was a marked improvement in the export demand, with sales of 1,600,000 to 1,750,000 bushels in all positions, largely Manitobas. Foreign buyers have apparently been holding off, waiting for the big after-harvest movement to get under way in the Canadian Northwest, and the increased takings were not a surprise.

Messages from Winnipeg indicated that hedging pressure there was not heavy, despite the immense interior movement. Farmers delivered 6,856,000 bushels on Wednesday, compared with 4,062,000 bushels last year. There was a good demand for cash wheat in the leading markets, with St. Louis reporting 40,000 bushels of hard winter sold at the best premium of the season. Local spot basis was firm and at Kansas City firm to 1c higher.

Local pressure was largely responsible for the break in corn, as sentiment was decidedly bearish. On the decline, commission houses bought in small lots, and there was also support from shorts and spreaders. Buying during the day was regarded by some pit brokers as of a better class than of late. Cash interests took December and sold May at 7c difference. Final hooking returns from Illinois and Indiana indicated disappointing yields, as compared with expectations. Weather is favorable for field work. Buenos Aires closed unchanged on December at 76⅝, or only 8c under Chicago and 2¾c over the same month in Kansas City. There was 56,000 to 100,000 bushels of corn estimated sold for export at the gulf.

Houses with northwestern and Winnipeg connections were on the buying side of December oats, and with buying of that future against sales of May, it acted rather tight and showed the most strength. At no time did the market show any weakness of consequence, and sentiment as a whole was more friendly to the buying side. Foreign interests were buyers of March rye, which showed the most strength. The Northwest was on both sides of the market. A limited export business was put through at the seaboard.

Liquidation in lard spent its force early, with offerings taken by packers and shorts, making a stronger market, with the close 1¼@1⅝c higher. Changing from the near-by to distant futures was also a feature.

Short ribs were unchanged to 5c lower and bellies 10@23¼c lower.

LOS ANGELES MARKET

...Fairly active demand developed for ...today's moderate supply and a fair clearance ...of 150 of fifteen loads sold on a steady ...to 25c basis. Several lots of plain, half-fat ...and fat cows were still unsold, but indications ...are no appreciable number would be carried ...over.

...Today's top was 8.50, paid for a load of ...cows in good 1020-pound California steers. ...Bulk of the receipts consisted of small lots of cows ...and heifers from 6.75@8.00, with a few individ... ...ual sales higher. Late Wednesday a three-load ...lot of good 1020-pound Central California ...steers was over the scales for 10.00.

...Calves: One load of 165-pound heifers topped at 7.50, ...while the best cows in load lots made 6.00, this ...being a car of 1060-pound averagers. Other ...good calves were mostly common and medium ...grades from 5.50@6.50, including the majority ...of the run sold. Cutters moved freely from ...4.00@4.50, with low cutters from 2.75@2.50. ...Veal is light supply, a few good kinds ...bringing 6.00@6.50, with common and me... ...dium lots from 5.00@5.50.

...Hogs: Demand continued narrow, except for ...good and choice light and handy weight calves ...weights, and with practically all of the sup... ...plies thin and heavy calves, the resultant ...tone was slow and draggy at about steady ...with a few lots of milk veal... sold from ...4.50@5.00, with thin and heavy calves went ...mostly from 3.50@4.00.

...Sheep: Fairly broad demand cleaned up the ...day's supply on the morning ...of Saturday's supply on the morning ...of the seven prices, but mostly around 25c ...lower. Saturday's top was 13.25, paid for two ...lots of 90 and 100-pound wethers, while the ...bulk of the sales 120 to 130-pound butch... ...ers were from 12.75@13.25. A load of 230-... ...pound butchers cashed for 11.90, while ...a load of 112 to 115-pound Californias cleared ...at 12.50@12.85. A sizable lot of 230-pound ...butcher lambs 11.75, while three loads of ...92 to 100-pound kinds turned from 11.25 ...to 11.50, fairly even went over largely from ...11.00@11.25. A small lot of 85-pound feeder pigs ...sold at 10.00 per cwt.

...Yesterday's receipts consisted of three ...cars of range feeders, medium grade California ...steers, with sales being made up to a late ...hour to choice light and handy weight ...kinds from 11.50@13.50, with me... ...dium sized ones from 9.50@10.50.

NEW YORK BOND PRICES

NEW YORK, Oct. 27. (AP)—Competition by new offerings, of which a total of more than $740,000,000 since the 1st inst., set a new monthly record for all time, continuing to restrict trading in the bond market today. Prices receded in some instances, apparently affected by the growing volume of new material, but losses in the main were confined to fractions.

Buying of high-grade railway liens continued to feature the trade. Chicago, Burlington and Quincy 4½'s sold as high as 102 1-8 for the first time this year, and fractional improvements were recorded by Missouri Pacific 5's, Big Four 6's and Long Island 5's. Moderately heavy offerings of Kansas City Southern 3's were absorbed around the last quotation of 77.

More than $500,000 in Shell Union Oil 5's were absorbed at a small fractional recession, coincident with the offering of $30,000,000 bonds of Shell Pipe Lines, a subsidiary. General Motors Acceptance 6's sold up fractionally to 103, less than a point under their year's high.

Foreign obligations were irregular, with losses in the majority. Several French issues were in moderate demand, and Berlin Elevated 6½'s stood out with a gain of a point.

Rather heavy accumulation of Treasury 3 3-8's and moderate buying of the Liberties brought a firmer tone to the Federal government group.

The quotations represent sales of bonds (in thousands of dollars) and the high, low and closing prices in the order given. In computing transactions, the close is omitted when the same as the high, and both low and close when same as the high.

W HOWARD C. KEGLEY

after spraying oil and mud over derrick and across the road the Pacific Eastern Production Company's Bakersfield city limits was blown-in intermittently yesterday with streams of coming in a producer.

Oil men for a number of months and hundreds of interested residents were keeping a constant watch at the well. Gas is escaping from the hole by heads, blowing out the pressure accumulates and then subsiding. The drilling crew is idle. After the first spraying of mud and oil the gas came and the well with barely perceptible traces of oil.

Visitors who visited the well yesterday returned to a meeting at which prospects in the well were believed. The most experienced oil operators, associated with the company operating at Bakersfield would not venture a prediction whether or not probable outcome of the continued intermittent blowing of the well.

By Our Staff

Oil operators are awaiting with interest the test to be made in the well of the Petroleum Company's property in Block No. 1 well, at Seacliff. Reports are to the effect that the certain may be drilled out Saturday or Sunday and that a production test will be made thereafter, to see what quantities of the Seacliff district will produce.

The oil found the first sands at 1000 feet, and has been picked up as a formation for quite a distance down. It had one small flow, but in two weeks ago, but in two days it has been lacking in pressure. It is the opinion of field men, however, that the shallow zone should be able to produce some oil. The real question is—will it produce commercially.

Bonus Offers Reported

Several independent oil operators in this district assert that in recent days they have been offered substantial bonuses to withdraw their supply of crude from California companies and turn it to Atlantic seaboard refineries and marketers. It is asserted that the bonus offers are substantial, and that they come from excellent companies, a fact which leads many California producers to believe that the market is steadily strengthening and that an increase ought to occur before many weeks elapse.

Geology Unchanged

Some of the companies operating in the Ventura-avenue field have not changed their geological opinions since the Petroleum Securities Company completed its Orion No. 3 as a gusher a few days ago, although there are field men who are decidedly puzzled over the well's actions.

It is apparent that the Shell Company, which holds leases just north of the Orion property, thought well of the Orion land long ago, but regarded it as being too deep a drilling proposition to be profitable. The well went away over 6000 feet and got about 5000 barrels.

The prevailing opinion is that there are probably some good wells down on the south dip of the field, but that they are too deep to be worth competitive drilling. The Orton's behavior, however, will doubtless provoke considerable drilling in new territory during the next few weeks.

METAL MARKETS

CLEVELAND, Oct. 27. (Exclusive)—Daily Metal Trade today says: Users of both hot and cold rolled strip steel, mainly in the automotive industry, have been closing up some tonnage at concessions understood to be as much as $2 a ton under the quoted market levels. This has served to disturb the situation, in as much as smaller consumers are endeavoring to obtain the same prices on smaller lots. The usual quotation on hot strip continues 2.15c, but concessions down to 2c are reported.

Makers are not anxious to quote less than 3.25c on lots of cold strip involving one to three tons at a time, but buyers report as low as 1.95c quoted on attractive tonnages. Foreign steel is depressing warehouse prices at Philadelphia.

Copper is quiet at 13.25c, delivered, Connecticut. Zinc sales are light, with prime western 5.90c, St. Louis. Lead is quiet at 6c, St. Louis. Tin is lower at 59.25¼c, New York.

Cotton Prices Ease Down on Steady Market

NEW YORK, Oct. 27. (Exclusive) The cotton market's good advance of Tuesday and yesterday was continued in the early trading today, with prices going up about 25 points on the average for the general list. This compared with the closing price of 55 to 60 points of yesterday and 95 to 100 of Tuesday, made a total advance of between 180 and 190 points, or nearly $9.50 a bale from the low levels of Monday.

This morning's advance brought December contracts up to 21 1-4 cents; January, near 21 3-8 cents; March, above 21½, and May, to near 21 3-4 cents.

Its was mostly due to further covering of shorts and new buying by local traders and commission houses on the bullish interpretations placed on Tuesday's census report on the ginning of 8,118,000 bales of the crop having been so much below the trade's expectations. Since that report appeared early Tuesday, the idea has prevailed that it foreshadows little change in the next government crop estimate, due November 9 from the last figures of 12,678,000 bales without linters issued the 8th on the 1st inst. condition—whereas there had been a feeling for the past fortnight this coming report would raise the indicated yield to about 13,000,000 bales.

The Liverpool market was stronger and higher this morning in following yesterday's advance, but did not hold it, last prices there today being but 11 to 12 points above their closing of yesterday, whereas they should have held a rise of 18 to 18 to meet our advance of yesterday. Liverpool houses were large sellers of cotton here on balance throughout the forenoon.

This, with the continuance of the recent excellent weather in the cotton belt, caused some reaction in this market during the afternoon from the best prices of the morning. It extended to 40 to 50 points at one time, but renewed good trade buying kept the undertone very steady with the average of prices for the general list holding within 10 to 20 points of yesterday's closing through the last hour.

RUBBER MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 27. (Exclusive)—The outside crude-rubber market maintained a steady tone on a moderate turnover. New York spot was traded at 24¾c, unchanged. London cables were firm with spot quoted at 16¾d, same as on the previous close.

Washington advices say that the Bureau of Standards has found a substitute for rubber which may help to free American consumers from the virtual British monopoly. Substitute is guayule rubber produced from a shrub that grows in Mexico and California. If properly prepared it has been found by the bureau to compete favorably with plantation rubber.

NEW YORK CURB STOCKS

NEW YORK, Oct. 27. (AP)—Prices of curb market securities started upward in early dealings today, several issues touching new records, but before the market closed, many which had shown strength, lost much of their gains on afternoon profit-taking.

A decidedly mixed price trend characterized the industrial group. Deere & Co. added 5 points more to its substantial rise yesterday, closing at 208, American Rolling Mills also was strong, moving up more than 3 points. Celanese dropped 4½. Celluloid preferred issues moved up 2 points or more and Borden Company lost 2 points.

Oils were heavy. Illinois Pipe Line lost more than 2 points and several others, including Vacuum, Standard of Indiana and Continental closed fractionally lower.

The motors were fairly active. Ford of Canada added 5 more points to its 20-point advance yesterday and Reo Motors showed early strength, but yielded to realizing in late dealings.

Public utilities were irregular, Northeastern Power and Lone Star Gas were active, scoring moderate net gains, but Electric Bond and Share, Cities Service and a few others closed fractionally lower.

New Montana Mining felt the effect of liquidation, losing more than 2 points on the day.

Tr unpaidis transmission the closing price is entitled when same as the low, and both low and close when same as the high.

MATE'S MIND UNFAITHFUL WIFE WAILS

Psychologist Tells Court Mental Infidelity May be Serious Thing

CHICAGO, Oct. 27. (Exclusive)—Mental infidelity, a new charge in divorce proceedings, was put under the magnifying glass today by psychologists and divorce judges. Mrs. Pauline K. Carlstrome, suing for divorce, testified that while they were on their honeymoon the thoughts and affections of her husband, Charles J. Carlstrome, real-estate dealer, were with Mrs. Olive Steele, and she offered a number of letters to prove her charge.

"Mental infidelity is a serious thing," said Dr. Harold S. Hulbert, one of the experts in the Leopold-Loeb murder case. "It makes the person afflicted with it dissatisfied with life and it may be fatal. It tends to suicide unless checked. Mental faithfulness means having emotion for only one person. There may be an appreciation of another's intellect or beauty, without emotion. The best example is a mother, who may see and admire children more attractive than her own without wishing to get rid of her own and acquire the more attractive ones."

"Mental infidelity," said Judge Sabath, who has heard thousands of divorce cases, "constitutes to the other one of a married pair, a greater cruelty than would a blow or other physical abuse and is quite as harmful as physical unfaithfulness. The courts, however, do not recognize mental infidelity, by itself, as a reason for divorce."

Remember Grandma

By ELLIS PARKER BUTLER

Grandma

BEYOND all question, the most precious thing we had in our house was grandma. She was old, even for a grandma, and they are supposed to be rather oldish, generally, although some are quite young. She was forgetful, but so dear about it.

Sometimes we had to manage things for her. So, when we all loved her so much, we were dreadfully shocked to get the telegram. Father and mother and I had gone up in the mountains, but we could not take grandma, and we had been there only one night when the telegram came. It was from my married sister and said:

Come home at once. Grandma inexplicably floppy. JANE.

The clerk handed us another telegram and when father tore it open, it said:

Please come home. Grandma has had an attack of floppiness.

C. J. BIGGS.

Biggs was our housekeeper. Just as we were getting on the train, the messenger-boy came tearing down from the hotel, and he had another telegram. Father gave him some money, got on the train just as it was pulling out. When we opened the telegram, it said:

"Better come home. Grandma flopping dreadfully. SUSAN.

Susan was our maid—a very good one, although sometimes forgetful. So we were quite disturbed all the way home; and when we reached home, we found that nothing had been exaggerated, for grandma was indeed floppy.

Then the doctor questioned us closely about grandma's habits

STATE'S GROWTH TO BE REVIEWED

Development Association to Hear Reports Today

California Progress in Many Fields Will be Told

President Cites Loyalty of Conference Visitors

California's progress in many fields will be reviewed before California Development Association directors when they will sit to hear reports from regional, department and State-wide committee heads in their second annual State-wide conference.

Preliminary meetings yesterday engaged about a dozen principal groups preparing for today's presentation of achievements and recommendations for future plans. The conferees will be guests of the Chamber of Commerce at a luncheon this noon.

They have assembled some 240 or more delegates from all parts of the State for this meeting." Reuben B. Robertson of San Francisco, president of the association, said in opening the conference. "More than fifty counties are represented. The attendance have come here at their own expense actuated by a desire for service to the interests of our great State. We can solve California's problems only when the minds of California meet in common communion. Conference softens prejudice and fosters understanding."

Secretary of Commerce Hoover sent a message to the conference, in which he emphasized it "for your consideration work."

AERONAUTICS IMPORTANT

At a luncheon where all delegates were present, President Hale said one of the important works of committees was that of the aeronautics committee. He said its various agencies and activities have established seventy-two airports in California. One of the objects on which it now is concentrating is legislation so that insurance in this field may not result unfortunately to the industry.

Of the association's agencies effected, he said, cotton industry changes have brought 2 to 3 cents a pound for California cotton and greater competition. A cotton committee reported that 144,000 bales yielding $16,000,000 is the 1927 crop estimate. This, it was pointed out, is more than California cotton consumed immediately adjacent to Imperial Valley cotton lands.

"It looks now as if we would be able to work out a State building program," President Hale said. A report which he said California must have on such widely varied subjects as the suggestions that building should go far and wide and that the State is ready in need of a uniform code.

A vocational code soon will promote a system wherein pupils completing courses for naming the best fields of interest in California, it is recommended. Another educational work undertaken with much enthusiasm is inducing citizens to plant in greater numbers on Arbor Days.

A FORCE IN WORK

"We now are a force in the assembly," Hale said. "We now have four cities in the State with uniform-traffic ordinance as the result of their work in the safety field.

The research department of the association reported that it has brought together 135 research agencies in California for co-ordinated work. A decided impetus was given in the committee meetings to the idea that California products in manufacturing. Intensive development of by-products of California industries was represented. The attendance of delegates have come here at their own expense actuated by a desire for service.

GOWN STORE'S STOCK STOLEN

Burglars Truck Away Goods Worth $20,000

Two Bandits Outwitted by Women Victims

Three Suspects Arrested in Auto Theft War

A ring of wholesale burglars is being sought by Los Angeles police as the result of the theft of $20,000 worth of clothing from Dunlap's Gown and Wrap Shop, 2400 West Seventh street, Sunday night, by a group of burglars who jimmied their way into the shop through the rear doors, piled the stock onto a truck and drove away, according to police reports made public for the first time yesterday.

Everything was taken from the shop except the clothing being displayed on dummies, Miss Ethel Hupp, 337 South Kenmore avenue, proprietress, told police.

BURGLAR OUTWITTED

Presence of mind on the part of two women saved them from robbery and possible injury yesterday.

When an intruder entered her apartment at 729 South Union avenue, flourishing a razor and threatening her with injury if she screamed, Mrs. M. W. Davis waited until his attention was distracted, then slipped out of the room and called police.

When Officers Donohugh and Spears arrived they found the man trying a locked door. He jumped from a window thirty feet to the ground and was stunned by his fall. When picked up by the officers he was carrying a razor in his belt.

At the Georgia-street station where he was booked on charges of suspicion of burglary and assault with a deadly weapon, he gave the name of Ralph Cottrell, 833 1-2 South Spring street. The officers said he had been arrested before on Wright Act possession charges.

A lusty scream uttered by Mrs. H. A. Brouier, 2511 West Seventh street, a storekeeper, when a bandit held her up near the store while she was returning home with the day's earnings, not only put him to flight, but frightened him so that he dropped his revolver. According to Detective Lieutenants Martin and Filkas, who investigated the case, the man is about 25 years of age, medium height and weight and wore a dark suit and a cap pulled well down over his eyes.

SCORE OF CRIMES

More than a score of other burglaries were reported to the police during the last twenty-four hours, one of which nearly ended in a duel to the death between a burglar and a rudely awakened householder.

Charles Kumbo, 457 South Fickett street, was awakened by a burglar prowling through his bedroom. As he sat up in bed the burglar pointed a gun at him and told him to keep quiet or he would kill him.

Kumbo replied by throwing the bed clothes over the burglar's head, then ran to a closet and obtained a shotgun. As he dashed back into the room the burglar freed himself and leaped through a window in a hail of birdshot as Kumbo fired at him. The burglar escaped without serious injury, but obtained no plunder.

THREE ARRESTED

Police yesterday continued the war against auto thieves, arresting three additional suspects. Eddie A. Jensen, 25 years of age, and Mance L. Thornton, 27, both of 713 North Van Ness avenue, were arrested at De Longpre avenue and Lyman Place, officers asserted, in the act of stripping an automobile belonging to Burnett S. Mills, 541 South Western avenue.

Williston Babcock, 19, 3918½ West Twenty-seventh street, was arrested at Fifth and Olive streets by Traffic Officer Murray in possession of an automobile owned by Frank G. Pacino. According to the officer's report, Pacino rushed up to him pointing out his automobile, saying, "There goes a man with my automobile." Murray leaped on the running board and arrested Babcock.

John T. Beben, 531 North Johnson street, reported that three negroes attacked and robbed him of $45 at East Twentieth street and Long Beach avenue Wednesday night. After slugging Beben into a state of semiconsciousness, the bandits robbed him and threw him into an empty barn.

Agapito Factora, a student at the University of Southern California, told police that a sneak thief stole his suit case containing $1000 in cash while he was making a purchase in a store.

Aileron Washed Ashore on Beach

Deputy Sheriff Jones and Plane Part

PLANE WRECKAGE PUZZLES

Fragment Found at Redondo May be Part of Craft Lost Last July Off Laguna Beach

Mystery surrounds a bit of airplane wreckage washed ashore on the sands of Redondo Beach yesterday and preliminary efforts of the Sheriff's office to identify it with any of the recent air tragedies of the Pacific failed last night. The wreckage, believed to be an aileron, held out one possible clew to identification, the numbers 42449-10.

Seamen familiar with the currents of the Pacific were inclined to doubt the aileron's connection with any of the airplanes flown by the Dole air racers recently in the Hawaiian flight. More credence is given to the probability that it is a part of the Boeing navy seaplane which crashed in the ocean off Laguna Beach last July.

CHECK-UP FAILS

The seaplane carried Lieutenant-Commander William S. Hector and Charles Robbins, a civilian passenger, to death. Lieut. Thomas G. Fisher, naval aviator and third occupant of the craft, saved himself by swimming to the beach in a nine-hour struggle.

First check of naval records at North Island last night failed to disclose the identity of the piece of wreckage, due perhaps to the fact that the numbers were concealed by fabric. Lieut. Thomas doubted it was part of his naval seaplane, although he said he could not be certain.

The section was judged to be an aileron, as it has camber. It is three feet, ten inches long and eleven inches wide. It is built of spruce, with brass fastening, covered with heavy airplane linen and painted silver with aluminum paint. At two points the fabric is pierced, evidently for control wires, and seven-inch, unpainted lines square are superimposed upon the surface.

STAMPED NUMBERS

In blue, indelible ink, in figures half an inch high, are the figures 42449-10, stamped in two places upon studdings within the surface. The fabric is torn in several places and the ribs and studdings show decay. The whole section was covered with a sea growth, identified as a hydrozoan by Dr. G. G. Johnstone of the department of botany, University of Southern California. Dr. Johnstone stated he is at this time unable to determine the length of time the section has been under water, or the locality where the organism attached itself.

The section was found awash upon the strand at Redondo Beach yesterday morning by J. T. Harrison, 304 Redondo Boulevard, Redondo Beach, who turned it over to Chief of Police Henry of Redondo Beach. Chief Henry, in turn, called upon the auto theft detail of the Sheriff's office and the section was taken in charge by Deputy Sheriff Jones, who last night was attempting to make identification. Men familiar with airplane construction, consulted by Deputy Sheriff Jones, were unable yesterday to identify the wreckage.

MAKERS QUERIED

The Lockheed Aircraft Corporation of Hollywood, builders of the Golden Eagle, lost in the Hawaiian race, could not connect the numbers with the ship they built. Officers of the company were inclined to believe the numbers are those of a naval airplane.

Officers believe the part is not connected with the Spirit of Dallas, also lost, inasmuch as the ailerons of that airplane were painted green.

The Sheriff's office had received no reply last night from the Buhl Aircraft Corporation of Michigan, builders of the Miss Doran, which apparently went to a watery grave carrying Miss Mildred Doran, Michigan school-teacher.

Neither have any advices been received from the Boeing Aircraft Corporation of Seattle, which built the navy seaplane which crashed into the sea and sank off Laguna Beach.

WRITER INVADES COUNCIL ROOM

Finds "Schoolboys" Who Talk as Teacher Reads

Pities City Clerk With All Those Bonds to Sign

Calls Mayor, as Mr. Pepys Says, Mighty Pleasant

BY PHILIP HEWITT-MYRING

My first action on entering the old City Hall was to call on the City Clerk in his office on the first floor. I found him signing bonds. Seeing that these documents were already emblazoned with the signatures of the Mayor and the Treasurer, it struck me that the high officials of the city were having to spend a good deal of time on purely manual work; but I concluded that there was some profound, if obscure reason of state for their doing so. I left the City Clerk busy scribbling and went upstairs to the Council hall.

PHILIP HEWITT-MYRING

Here I found seated at a semicircular row of desks, for all the world like schoolboys, ten or twelve men. In front of them and perched high above them (too high, I thought, for real liaison) sat another man with a Roman cast of countenance and an alert expression. This was the chairman. Below this, but still on the same wooden terrace facing the schoolboys, was a bulky man, who, a minute or two after my arrival, stood up and began to read loudly and rapidly from a sheaf of papers.

READS FOR TWO HOURS

He read almost without interruption for two hours, while the schoolboys whispered together and the chairman shot out an occasional brisk comment which showed that he, at least, was following the proceedings with attention. I could not blame the Councilmen that they did not hang on the minute clerk's every word, for they must have heard much the same sort of thing a good many times before, the discourse being one of street widening and lighting and sewers and all the thousand and one odds and ends that reflect the progress of a great city, but have in themselves no basic thrill.

Protests were read by the unwearying clerk against some of the proposed measures. Nineteen people, it appeared, had filed an objection to the construction of a certain sewer. But as 5000 or 6000 were in its favor the protestants stood no chance. None of the nineteen was personally in the Council hall. I was sorry, for I should like to have seen these straws that were being carried along on the flood of progress.

An objector to another sewer did, however, appear in person. He was an elderly man and he stated his case with firmness and dignity. He had not gone far, however, before he was asked whether he knew that, in point of fact, the sewer had already been constructed. Someone had laid the thing down while his back was turned.

FINDS MAYOR PLEASANT

It was a staggering blow, but he bore it manfully, withdrew his protest with as much dignity as he had made it and sat down again in the public part of the hall, defeated, but not, I thought, disgraced.

I was told that the Mayor would grant me an interview, and I slipped out of the Council hall to go to his office. We had a brief chat and I found him, as Mr. Pepys would say, "mighty pleasant." When I returned to the Council hall I discovered the American flag in sole occupation. The Council had adjourned for the morning.

I did not call in again on the City Clerk on my way out. Had I done so, I would, no doubt, have found him still signing bonds.

ARCHBISHOP NEAR DEATH

His Grace, J. J. Harty, Ill at Home of Father Moloney Here for Year, Grows Weaker

Archbishop J. J. Harty of the Catholic archdiocese of Omaha and the first American archbishop of the Philippine Islands, yesterday was reported to be at the point of death at the St. Agnes Rectory here.

Dr. B. O. Raulston, physician in charge, reported late yesterday that the patient was much weaker than on the day previous. The dignitary has not taken nourishment since last Sunday, it was learned, and he is able only to speak a few words at rare intervals.

For the past two years the archbishop has been suffering from an infection which resulted from influenza and pneumonia. It was thought he was on the way to recovery when he suffered a relapse several days ago.

He has been living in Los Angeles since July, 1926, with Father Moloney, pastor of St. Agnes Church, 1404 West Adams street. He came here from Tucson where he had been sent by his doctors in Omaha to regain his health.

Archbishop Harty was born in St. Louis November 1, 1853, and has been in the service of the Catholic Church for almost fifty years. In St. Louis he was appointed to the parish of St. Leo and in August, 1903, was made archbishop of Manila in the Philippine Islands. He was consecrated in Rome by the Pope and in January, 1904, went to Manila. He remained there twelve years. Upon his return to the United States he was appointed to the diocese of Omaha and served there until he became ill two years ago.

ACTORS GIVEN BANQUET

A banquet was given last night by the school of speech of the University of Southern California at the Chamber of Commerce in honor of Edward Everett Horton and Lucile La Verne, actors, and Bessie Beatty and Jack Black, co-authors of "Salt Chunk Mary."

FIDDLING GOES ON—FIRE, TOO

Councilmen Pour More Words on Burning Peat Bed But Decline to Act Toward Extinguishing It

The City Council yesterday talked much about the twelve-acre peat-bed fire in the West Adams district, but declined to go on record, as urged by Councilman Shaw, as favoring and starting under the way the appropriation of $14,000 to City Engineer Shaw to be used in extinguishing the fire.

"The City Engineer," said Councilman Shaw, "is ready and willing to put out the fire if we will give the money with which to do the work. The fire is a public nuisance and is injuring the health of thousands of people. Talking will not put out the fire. Litigation will not quench the fire. The City Engineer will put it out if we will give him the funds."

WAITING SUGGESTED

Councilman Shaw was supported by Councilmen Rice-Wray and Hall, but other Councilmen talked much, asking the City Attorney and others to wait to see how the court case against the owners of the property is decided. One Councilman thought the Council might save the money by waiting to see if the fire might burn itself out.

The fire is located at West Jefferson street and Hauser avenue, which is in the Fifth Councilmanic District, represented by Councilman Martin.

"I haven't been asleep about this fire," said Councilman Martin. "I want the fire put out, but it would be very foolish to authorize this money until we know where we are at. We should get the advice of the City Attorney.

"There is two methods which have been suggested for putting out the fire, and one is to turn the sewer through the peat beds."

"Yes," interrupted Councilman Shaw, "do that to the people out there and you will be creating a worse nuisance than the fire."

DENIES IT'S INJURIOUS

"Now listen, folks," continued Councilman Martin, earnestly. "I want this fire put out, but we should check this thing close before we act. We are told that this gas from the peat beds is injurious, but Health Officer Parrish testified at the court hearing that he had not tested the gas and was not sure it was injurious."

After Councilman Martin had finished his defense, Councilman Hall jumped to his feet and said:

"Pardon me, Mr. Martin, for speaking about anything in your district, but this fire is a nuisance and we all know it. We have said the nuisance should be abated and yet the fire is still burning. We must stop this fiddling while the fire is burning and put it out. I am in favor of Councilman Shaw's resolution."

Finally Councilman Shaw's resolution was sent to the Mayor and Finance Committee. The Mayor will report to the Finance Committee, the committee will report to the Council and then when these reports come in the Council will talk some more about the fire.

NEWEST OF CITY HOTELS PREVIEWED

Mayor Gives Best Wishes of City for Success of Roosevelt in Hollywood

Adding another hotel to the long list of beautiful structures here, the Roosevelt Hotel in Hollywood, was previewed last night at a dinner given by John A. Hadley, manager of the hostelry.

The dinner was attended by city officials and hotel men from all parts of Southern California, including Mayor Cryer, Frank P. Simpson, Jr., president of the Southern California Hotel Men's Association, and James McKay of the St. Francis Hotel, San Francisco.

An official welcome and wishes for the success of the new institution war given by Mayor Cryer on behalf of the city, which was echoed by those present, James Woods, vice-president of the Biltmore, was the toastmaster.

Following a program of music and entertainment the hotel men were given the opportunity of inspecting the hostelry and all were loud in their praise of the beauty and novelty of the furnishings.

The formal opening of the Roosevelt will be celebrated tonight and tomorrow night and will be attended by virtually every motion-picture star of prominence. The structure is at Orange Drive and Hollywood Boulevard and is said to rival the finest hotels in the country.

POLICE TAKE GIRL CHORUS DURING RAID

Manager and Dozen Other Men Also Fall in Vice Drive on Theater

Twenty-seven chorus girls, twelve men and the manager of the Follies Theater at 337 South Main street were arrested last night in a raid led by Sergt. Sweetnam of the police department vice squad, charged with giving an indecent exhibition.

With the arrest of the troupe the officers seized costumes used in the show as evidence, some of which were declared to be "worse than nothing."

Among those arrested were T. B. Dalton, proprietor of the theater; Grover Webb, manager of the troupe; Dorothy Walton, leading woman; two other leading women, twenty-four chorus girls, four male principals and seven chorus boys.

Officers who made the arrest charged that both the lines used in the show and the costumes were offensive.

John J. Troy's Estate Valued at $800,000

An estate worth between $600,000 and $800,000 was left by John James Troy, who died in his old home in Boston the 17th inst., according to his will, filed yesterday for probate in Judge Stephens's department of Superior Court. Troy was a widely known distributor of automobiles in Los Angeles.

The bulk of the estate is left in trust for the benefit of the widow, Helen Troy of Alfadena, with the remaining interest devised to a 3-year-old son, James Storrow Troy. There is a bequest of $15,000 to David A. Howie of Boston, a friend.

Wifely Devotion Perils Her Life

When J. C. Hadley, 830 West Santa Barbara street, came home from his milk route last night his wife took off his shoes and placed them in the kitchen oven to dry out. When she failed to reappear Hadley went into the kitchen to learn the cause of the delay and found his wife overcome by fumes from the stove, the fire having gone out.

She was treated at the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital by Police Surgeon Saverien. Her condition is not serious, attendants said.

Will J. French, former chairman of the California Industrial Accident Commission, will be the principal speaker at the regular weekly luncheon meeting of the Los Angeles Lions' Club in the music room of the Biltmore today.

POISON MIXING TOLD ON STAND

Witness Says He Saw Smith Give Man Doses

Chemist Testifies Mercury Found in Tests

"Doctor" Accused of Trying to Kill "Patient"

How "Dr." De Nelson Smith, now on trial in Superior Judge Doran's court, made elaborate preparations to provide Peter B. Gonsett, inventor, with an asserted slow poison supposed to reduce his vitality was gone into in detail yesterday by various prosecution witnesses.

Testimony of a startling nature had already been given by Gonsett and his wife, Mrs. Irene Gonsett, who related how Smith is said to have administered a poison to Gonsett to reduce his vitality and a contrary one to Mrs. Gonsett, and also regarding an asserted illicit love affair with Mrs. Gonsett as a result.

SAW POTIONS MIXED

Smith is charged with administering poison to Gonsett with intent to kill.

H. E. Borrell, a former employee of the G. & S. Laboratories, testified yesterday that he saw on several occasions how "Dr." Smith mixed and gave so-called medicine to Gonsett and how he had mixed an asserted "love" potion for Mrs. Gonsett. He said he did not see the latter administered.

POISON DETECTED

After testimony by Dr. L. A. Volse, the witness was cross-examined by Attorney S. W. Thompson regarding examinations made of Gonsett by the physician. Dr. Volse said that on July 7, last, his examination showed that Gonsett had acute nephritis, which might have been caused by mercuric poisoning, one of the drugs said to have been administered to Gonsett by Smith.

Rex E. Welch, city chemist, testified that he analyzed various samples submitted to him as being the drugs administered and found one positive test for mercury, but none for digitalis. He did find digitoxin, he said.

The State probably will finish today.

"Out of them all is growing a consciousness that we are part of this great State and that it is not a thing apart from us."

Next Wife to be Dumb-bell

As soon as Frances McClurkin can arrange it, if she has her way about it, there will be an opening for some "dumb and ignorant" woman, as her successor in the heart and home of Dr. Arthur A. McClurkin.

Dr. McClurkin, his wife relates in a complaint for divorce she filed yesterday, told her pointedly he was through with bright women.

"The next Mrs. McClurkin is going to be dumb and ignorant, because that's the way I like them," he declared, according to his wife.

STORK VISITS FILM MAN

Daughter Born to Wife of Sam Jaffe, Paramount Official

If Sam Jaffe, official of the Paramount studio, yesterday passed upon stories, contracts, or other important matters which he will later rescind, he may be excused. For Jaffe is willing to admit he was a bit upset yesterday.

The reason is a new baby girl who is now at the Good Samaritan Hospital, where Mildred Jaffe, wife of the producer, is reported as doing well.

The new member of the Jaffe family arrived shortly after 1 a.m. yesterday. Her weight is seven pounds.

The Jaffes are pioneers in the colony. He was general manager of Paramount-Famous-Lasky in the East until the organization moved here recently. He has been an executive for about a year.

SAFETY SESSION CONTEST OPENS

Twenty-five Teams Vie for First-Aid Prizes

Final Rounds Scheduled to Take Place Today

Winners Will be Announced at Banquet Tonight

Twenty-five industrial first-aid teams yesterday participated in the first rounds of the two-day competition for the State championship in the fifth annual California industrial first-aid contest at the Armory. The finals, which will be concluded today, is conducted as part of the fourth annual Pacific Coast safety conference which has been in session for four days at the Biltmore. Tonight the safety conference will end with a banquet at the Biltmore, at which more than 700 persons are expected to attend. Winners in the first-aid contest will be announced at that gathering.

Yesterday's program of competitive events embraced four main problems in which the competing teams were judged on their speed, efficiency in dressing and their observance of antiseptic principles.

METHOD OF CONTEST

The men, before each problem, were given a sealed envelope containing a description of the accident and the symptoms of injuries. With the sound of a gong the teams started to work. In an allotted time the supposed injuries were to be dressed and the victims ready for removal to hospital. The tests covered four of the major classes of industrial accidents and ranged in time allowance from seven to thirty minutes. Penalizations in scores were made for errors of any kind.

In the morning session the teams were put through oral examinations, the contest material was inspected.

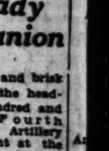
A large crowd watched the afternoon contest. The Whittier State band gave a musical program during the afternoon.

FINAL PROBLEMS

Today the three final problems will be given and the records turned over to the recording committee. Winners will be announced at the banquet and prizes presented. There are four principal prizes, including silver cups and money, and five distinguished prizes. In the past four years, the Standard Oil Company of California has won three first prizes, two seconds and one fourth. The Union Oil Company team won one first.

Dr. A. Poley, author and humorist, will serve as toastmaster at the banquet tonight, while Joseph Scott, attorney, will deliver the principal address of the evening. D. W. Pontius, vice-president and general manager of the Pacific Electric, will give a short talk on selling safety to the public and public. Prizes in the safety contest will be presented by R. D. Bullard of San Francisco, one of the principal prize. A program of music and entertainment has been arranged.

Veterans Ready to Have Reunion

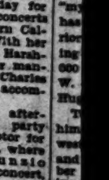


The stirring of stumps and brisk activation of forces in the headquarters of the One Hundred and Forty-Fourth Field Artillery Regiment at the Pacific Mutual Building betokens hurried, last-minute preparations for the organization's annual reunion, set for Sunday at noon at the Breakfast Club, Glendale Boulevard and Riverside Drive. After luncheon, the veterans will be entertained with a program which will last all afternoon, and includes a talk by Al Plitzer, the Cheechoo comedian, of his recent trip to France during the Legion convention.

A reception party is being arranged for the Rosalyn tomorrow evening.

Members of the reunion committee are Fred Bond, Louis Quinn, Roy Miller, Al Plitzer, Dr. Wilbur Hamilton, Nye Williams, C. M. Wood and Earl Putnam.

Claudia Muzio Reaches City for Concerts



Claudia Muzio, opera star and also a favorite in Los Angeles, arrived at the Biltmore yesterday for several concerts in Southern California. With her are Dema Harshbarger, her manager, and Charles Lurvey, accompanist.

In the afternoon the party left by motor for San Diego, where Mme. Muzio gave a concert, and will return here in time for her concert tomorrow night at the Philharmonic Auditorium.

"I'm very happy to be back here," she said, "for I enjoy singing to Los Angeles audiences, and I feel that I must hurry back to be ready for the season for the Chicago Opera Company on November 5.

Mme. Muzio's tour has taken her to other of the cities in the west after her concert here tomorrow night, but leave at once for Chi-

PLAN REJECTED IN JULIAN CASE

Arbitration Project Meets With Little Favor

Chamber Officials Point to Many Difficulties

Horchitz One of Few Who Indorse Proposal

A plan to have the numerous disagreements in the Julian Petroleum Corporation case, especially those relating to reorganization methods, submitted to the arbitration tribunal of the Chamber of Commerce for settlement outside of court apparently met with small favor after it was broached yesterday.

The arbitration idea was favored by Louis L. Horchitz, once secretary of a Julian stockholders' committee, in a letter to Clarence H. Matson, secretary of the chamber's arbitration tribunal, but when the board of directors met yesterday it was understood that it found but few adherents.

CASE GONE TOO FAR

Although no official statement was forthcoming from the board of directors, it was understood that they considered the Julian case has advanced too far in the courts at this time to have it withdrawn for arbitration, and it is said to have been pointed out to them that it will be necessary to gain the written consent of all of the stockholders before the questions could be arbitrated.

Horchitz, in his letter to Matson, pointed out that the tribunal has settled several cases out of court, saving those involved considerable time and expense, and the writer stated that he believes a similar service can be performed in the Julian matter.

RECEIVER OPPOSED

In a statement issued later Horchitz, elaborating on the arbitration scheme, declared that the names of Charles Evans Hughes, Samuel Untermeyer, Senator Walsh and Prof. Roscoe Pound of Harvard were suggested as a group from which one would be selected to sit with two California men on the board of arbitration.

H. L. Carnahan, one of the receivers of the defunct Julian corporation, when questioned on the arbitration idea, would not give his approval.

"Practically everyone has agreed to the reorganization plan now in operation," he stated, "and it promises to work out very well. It would seem unnecessary and practically hopeless at this time to try to arbitrate a question in which so many persons have direct interests, and to which their consent would be necessary."

PROSPERITY ANALYZED IN SPEECH

Building Loan Man Talks to Students Who Attend Meeting of Engineers

Speaking to a meeting of the Los Angeles chapter of the American Association of Engineers last night, Monroe Butler, from the public-relations department of the Pacific Coast Building-Loan Association outlined some of the fundamental causes which he believes responsible for the pinnacle of economic success reached by the United States in the last quarter of a century.

The talk, which followed a banquet, was the chief feature of the management-week meeting of the engineers, and was heard by students from schools and universities who were special guests.

Mr. Butler attributed the unparalleled industrial and commercial progress of the nation to the policy of private initiative; the substitution of machine for hand labor; the plan of employee-ownership; co-operative ownership and co-operative institutions as illustrated by the building-loan associations and the ever-definite consideration of the human factor.

Referring briefly to the Community Chest yearly drive the speaker paid the movement a high compliment, but carried the situation an added step and urged that there be a day's pay each month so that there be no necessity for charity drives.

Man Injured in Crash Loses Suit

Introduction of testimony about a "mystery car," identity of which never has been learned, resulted in Superior Judge Bush yesterday deciding for the defendant in a $20,000 damage action brought by J. W. Ryan, 75 years of age, against Hugh E. Teets.

Teets, according to Ryan, ran into him with an automobile at the southwest corner of West Adams street and Rimpau Boulevard on December 15, last, while he was standing on the sidewalk. Ryan testified that both of his legs were broken, one in three places, his foot injured, and that he was otherwise disabled, wrecking his health and costing him $2000 for hospital expenses and medical treatment.

Teets contended his auto was struck by another car and knocked up on the curbing, and that the other driver kept on going. Evidence of marks of another car discovered on the pavement at the time was introduced. He also charged that Ryan was not taking due precautions in watching out for his own safety.

Wreck Brings Fifty-Day Term

Because Bud Thompson, 22 years of age, a clerk, failed to clear from the middle of the street the wreckage of his car after rebounding from a telephone pole at Harcourt avenue and Washington Boulevard, Municipal Judge Wilson yesterday sentenced him to fifty days in the City Jail.

Officers Stahr and Moyer, who made the arrest, testified that Thompson, who lives at 1190 North Alexander street, boarded a passing street car following the accident, leaving the machine in the middle of the street. They gave chase and caught him several blocks distant.

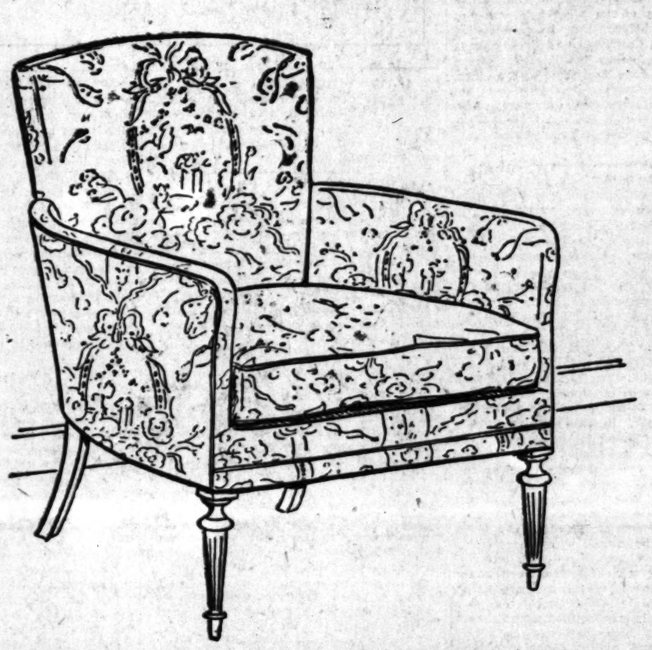
-FRIDAY-

CHAIRS! Every one typical of Bullock's new Furniture Era! Chairs to sink into by the fireside. Chairs for your bedroom. Chairs that seat your dinner guests graciously, and Chairs that add a touch of formality to your living room. Whatever your desire in CHAIRS . . . . come to Bullock's. The Chairs themselves are interesting examples of what Chairs should be. Their prices bear the most critical comparison. Tomorrow is the Fifth day of Bullock's First Furniture Event of the New Furniture Era. Come today . . . . . tomorrow until "One o'clock" . . . . . Monday!

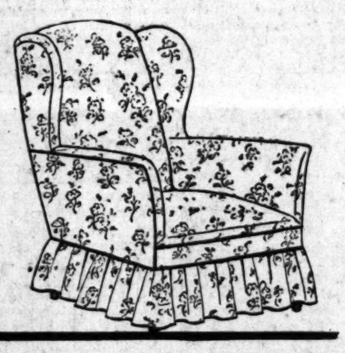
Bullock's Deferred Payment Plan . . . .

You are invited to make use of Bullock's Deferred Payment Plan. It is a simple, dignified method that provides that your payments extend over a period of time. Bullock's completely furnishes many homes on this basis. You need feel no hesitancy in enquiring about it.



The New Furniture Era at Bullock's. . . .

—is an Era of Good Taste. Two very definite angles of Good Taste are to form the nucleus of this department. First: reproductions and interesting adaptations of famous original Furniture models. Second, Bullock's Upholstery Shop. These two new endeavors promise an authoritative presentation of those things the smart, modern home wants and should have.



COLONIAL, $23.75

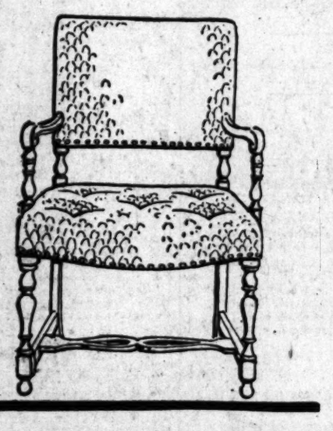
This Colonial Wing Chair, $23.75. Covered in smart prints; big, comfortable. A Chair that suggests Christmas! . . . Gifts of this type are always most acceptable. They are, moreover, something that may be enjoyed by the whole family!

The HADLEY $45.00

Bullock's own custombuilt model, The Hadley! Upholstered in Bullock's own Upholstery Shop. Constructed according to Bullock's most stringent specifications. Covered in the smartest of chintzes. Down cushions. (Absolutely nothing else added!) Hair, not moss or cotton, for the upholstering. Frames turned with that nicety of perfection that you find only in the finest and highest grade furniture. And then . . . priced very, very much lower than it would be possible if Bullock's were expressing this Chair from eastern markets; if Bullock's were paying a manufacturer's profit. The HADLEY, a product of Bullock, $45.

The NANCY $22.50

What modern bedroom will not respond to this charming creation! The NANCY, a product of Bullock's Upholstery Shop. Covered in charming chintzes. A Slipper Chair of distinction and grace at a ridiculously low price.

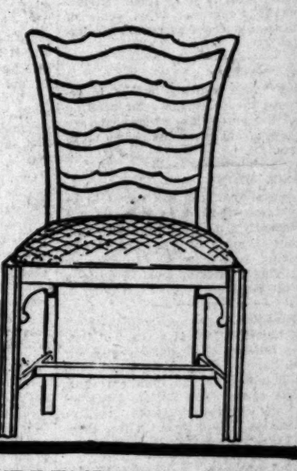


OCCASIONAL $37.50

"Occasionally" . . . (which implies, very often) one finds corners of a room that seem uninviting. For just such corners, as well as for the formal reception hall, was this chair made. Solid mahogany frames; covered in first quality linen frieze, $37.50.

The MINERVA $49.75

Another Bullock product! Fashioned with that precision of workmanship that comes from the hands of master craftsmen. Welted edges, exquisite grooving in the legs. Incorporating all Bullock's Upholstery Shop specifications. Covered in that newest of fashionable color, plum chintz. Imported and domestic. Here is the type of Chair to give smartly for a Christmas gift! Place your order now; Bullock's will hold it for holiday delivery.



CHIPPENDALE $19.75

This authentic Chippendale reproduction comes in two types of Chair. Side, or Arm. The Arm Chair is priced at $26.75. The Side Chair, $19.75. Solid mahogany construction. Think of that . . and at $19.75! Seats covered in genuine hair cloth. An ideal Dining Room or Occasional Chair.

CLUB TO HEAR PASTOR

Dr. John A. Ely, pastor of the Wilshire Presbyterian Church, will be the speaker at today's luncheon at the Biltmore of the Los Angeles Exchange Club. The chairman of the day will be Lloyd O. Dodson, president of the MacDonald Dodson Tire Company. The musical program will include Carlo Fessia, piano accordionist.

MASONIC CLUB TO HAVE BALL

The opening ball of the winter season will be given by the Masonic Club of Los Angeles at its clubhouse, 623½ South Grand avenue, today at 9 p.m. The festivities will be in the form of a Halloween frolic. Nat Farnum and his West Coast Entertainers will provide the luncheon program at the Masonic Club today noon.

RABBIT ORDINANCE ASKED

The California Rabbit Dealers Association yesterday petitioned the City Council to require that all persons who kill rabbits for sale to retailers be required to obtain city permits and to operate only in zones set aside for this business, in the same manner as the poultry slaughtering now is regulated by the city.

PARTY FOR GAS EMPLOYEES

More than 1000 members of the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Employees' Association are expected to attend an old-fashioned Halloween party this evening in the company's electric shop building, Pico and Wall streets. Games, dancing and other entertainment will be available. The Los Angeles Service Orchestra, made up of employees, will furnish music. Arrangements have been under the guidance of Gas Distribution Superintendent Henderson, chairman of the entertainment committee of the association.

STREET LIGHTS URGED

The Wilshire District Chamber of Commerce yesterday petitioned the City Council to order the installation of street lights in front of the John Burroughs School at McCadden Place and Wilshire Boulevard, and also in front of La Fayette Park.

HEARING CONTINUED

Hearing of charges against General Manager Amaden of the City Civil Service Commission, which were to have been heard yesterday by the commissioners, was continued until November 7, it was stated yesterday.

THE THING NEEDFUL

Aviation will be really safe when the flyers are able to make their own weather.

SOME GET AWAY

The Santa Fe system is getting after the loan sharks that have preyed upon its employees, but it can't catch them all at grade crossings.

NEARLY

The world must admit, however, that Mayor Bill Thompson of Chicago is about as truly great as a literary critic as he is as a real statesman.

THE BIG BUSINESS

Nearly 95 per cent of all the automobiles in the world were made in America. This is another reason why the country has been moving up.

OPPORTUNITY

Some cafeteria manager who wants to score a big hit with the public might try letting us write our own tickets as well as wait on ourselves.

SOME SHOULD

Things get old quickly nowadays. Even a headline about some new plan to fly the ocean now makes a lot of us say, "Ho, hum!" and pass right on.

THRILLING THOUGHT

One reason why the first autumn rains thrill us so is that they inspire in many a householder's breast the hope: "Now I won't have to water the lawn."

EXPERTS

Men still are chivalrous. A lot of well-trained husbands didn't even enter, and so women won all the prizes in the dishwashing contest at the Household Show.

AT THAT

Still, it must be a mighty good country, when the greatest daily annoyance most of us experience comes from our delays in getting through the traffic jams.

NOTHING TO FIGHT OVER

The readiness of the Rumanians to go to war over Prince Carol is discouraging evidence that people still are ready to fight over some mighty inconsequential things.

EASILY SATISFIED

The average American tourist is inclined to think he has reaped the full advantages of travel if he is able to make mistakes in four languages instead of only one.

ABLE MEN

Much fun is made of Congressmen, by and large, but still we have some convincing orators in Congress. Why, some of them might even succeed as real estate lecturers.

NATURALLY AFRAID

Among those who are loudest in denunciations of the newspapers for printing so many of the particulars of scandals are those who are afraid of getting shown up in such reports.

ENDURANCE TESTS

The tendency of the day seems to be toward endurance tests of every name and nature. Recently a man went fourteen minutes without taking a breath. The rest of us are seeing how long we can keep on breathing. Those who stop must be pitifully hauled to the cemetery.

PAIR OF KINGS

King Feisal of Irak is a guest of London. King Fuad of Cairo but recently left the British capital. Pity that Fuad and Feisal could not have had their entertainment in one order. The Britons get a bit cluttered up with small-time royalty. Where is the Akoond of Swat? Often these traveling kings are seeking the jack.

NEW SILK FOR OLD

Old silks can be made better than new according to laboratory specialists who have been at work in Japan. Used materials can be handled better than new fibers in creating certain patterns. Also there need be no waste in worn stockings. If the Japs can demonstrate all this they will work wonders in the silk trade. They are rather handy at it already.

HEALTH ON HIGH

It is known that aerial trips into altitudes of 8000 to 10,000 feet are a reasonably sure cure for certain throat and lung troubles and now there is a case of an eastern electrician who has had his speech and hearing completely restored through making four trips in a plane. He became deaf and dumb as a result of an explosion three years ago and had been unable to hear or speak since that time. Recently his doctor recommended the aerial treatment and, therefore, he made four different journeys of four hours each at a height of about 5000 feet. After the fourth trip there was a general clearing up and the patient is now as well as ever. Maybe high flying is what some people need.

OUR INVENTORY

The annual stock-taking of the State of California, considered as a business enterprise, is at hand in the meeting of the California Development Association, now under way in Los Angeles. This association, which takes the place of what is elsewhere known as a State Chamber of Commerce, has developed into one of the State's principal assets, being able to over-ride sectional jealousies and co-ordinate north and south, city and country, mountain and valley for the good of everybody concerned.

In the meeting now taking place, the resources of the State, its mines, its forests, its orchards, its meadows, its flowing streams, its manufacturing, its transportation by road, railroad, sea and air, its commercial activities, are being measured, weighed and discussed. Weak points will be pointed out as well as strong points and means will be devised to make such corrections as are found necessary.

That California is now the strongest State in the Union from an economic standpoint, is the declaration of one of the State's business leaders here for the conference. Many factors have contributed to this result, not the least of which is a tremendous wealth of natural resources, climate, fertile soil, oil and other minerals. But the human factor is of great importance, too, and the California Development Association has obtained co-operation and co-ordination when it was not easy and when the different sections of the State have seemed to be drifting straight in the direction of separation, and they have insisted that in everything that was done, the welfare of the State as a whole be kept in mind.

The principles that have proved successful in the past are to be applied for the future, and in the hands of the association, the growth and continued progress of California seems safe.

The further development of commercial aviation is one of the most interesting of the problems before this forward-looking body. Though California has already made conspicuous successes in this regard, much remains to be done, and some of the cities, including Los Angeles, have not even yet provided themselves with airports. Anything the association can do to hasten the action of overdeliberate local governments will help.

MAJ.-GEN. DICKMAN

Veterans of the American Expeditionary Forces were saddened by the news of the death of Maj.-Gen. Joseph T. Dickman, who answered the last call in Washington, Monday, following an attack of the heart. Gen. Dickman was 70 years of age and had been on the retired list since October 5, 1921, but he was not forgotten by the thousands who had served with him, especially veterans of the World War.

There was no high ranking officer in the A.E.F. more honored and loved by those under his command. The famous cavalryman knew men even better than he knew horses and he never drove an officer nor a unit that could be led. In training camps in the Carolinas, as commander of the Third Division in action, and finally as commanding general of the Army of Occupation, he registered signal successes not only on the records of the War Department but in the minds and hearts of his officers and men.

He is best remembered as the head of the Third Army, the largest body of troops he commanded overseas, for during a trying period of long weary months he kept the troops along the Rhine healthy, contented, and in fine morale when almost to a man they had their hearts inclined toward home. In Coblenz, Gen. Dickman was not only a great leader and highly capable military executive in an occupied zone, but he was a great friend—a friend to all and to any one who needed his personal attention.

In the American military clubs at Coblenz he was a familiar figure and always just a comrade. He enjoyed the finest traditions of discipline in his command and was deeply respected by his officers, but when he walked among them in their hours off duty there was no standing at attention. He was one of the boys, then. He has gone and thousands who served under him have that lonely feeling that comes when a great strong friend slips from the saddle and his riderless charger follows him to the grave.

CHAMORRO'S NERVE

If Emiliano Chamorro, former President and dictator of Nicaragua, should run for the Presidency of his country again the tricks by which he gained that office a few years ago will avail him nothing. He will find it rather hard to round up the electorate and carry things with a high hand as he did before, and even should he crash the presidential gate he will not be recognized by the United States government which has issued formal warning to him that such recognition will not be forthcoming.

One reason for this, and a quite sufficient one, is that under the Nicaraguan constitution no citizen who holds the office of President, either as the duly elected incumbent or accidentally, shall be eligible to the office of President for the next term. Of course, Chamorro knows this full well, but his colossal nerve, as exhibited in the way he has presumed to dictate to his people on every occasion, now carries him forward to the point where he proposes to thrust himself into the Presidency again.

But even were he eligible, his candidacy would be anything but acceptable to our government, for he has been the chief trouble maker in Nicaragua, working by devious means to thwart American policies and interests in that country, though their prime object was to stabilize Nicaraguan affairs and maintain peace in that much-embattled nation. He has been denounced time and again by the conservative element of Nicaragua as a despotic dictator, always subserving his own selfish aims and displaying little if anything of the patriot.

Brig.-Gen. Frank R. McCoy, appointed by President Coolidge to supervise the coming Nicaraguan elections, arrived in Nicaragua recently, and if Chamorro attempts to give any more exhibitions of his favorite election tactics, he will find himself up against a pretty solid formation.

NEW YORK IS REPUBLICAN

In the various discussions of Gov. "Al" Smith as a Presidential possibility, it seems to be generally assumed that if he were the Democratic candidate he could count on receiving the forty-five electoral votes of the Empire State. But, however New York votes on local matters, the only time it has gone Democratic in a Presidential year, since Grover Cleveland's time, was in 1912, when the Roosevelt split put the Republican party out of the running everywhere.

In 1920 Harding carried New York so strongly that even the popular Smith, running for Governor against a comparative unknown, was carried down to defeat. In 1924 Coolidge won the State hands down against Davis, himself, a New Yorker and one of the State's most distinguished citizens. New York is a Republican State on national issues.

ALL HALLOWS' EVE

The human race is reasoning and logical only in spots. It was years before some way of celebrating the independence of the United States that did not kill and maim hundreds every July Fourth was generally adopted, and even now casualties from explosions on that day are numerous. The evening that precedes All Saints' Day, commonly known as Halloween, is still consecrated to a display of insanity.

Practices that run all the way from mere soaping of windows to actual destruction of valuable property are not really necessary to the enjoyment of the occasion. There can be fun, even Puckish pranks, without doing real injury, and it is high time Halloween amusements were restricted within due bounds.

The police will do their best, but they will need a lot of help. Movable property can be protected from damage by keeping it indoors; the automobile can be placed in the garage and the door mat in the kitchen out of temptation. It is the duty of parents to turn themselves, for that evening at least, into voluntary guardians of the public peace. If each family sees that its own youngsters behave themselves the damage will be nominal.

ARMY HOUSING

President Coolidge is Commander-in-Chief of the Army of the United States and Maj.-Gen. Summerall is its Chief of Staff. There may or may not have been a difference of opinion between the general and his superior concerning methods of rehabilitating the living quarters of American soldiers, but it is known that Gen. Summerall was called back to Washington to confer with the President after he had remarked in San Diego upon the unsatisfactory conditions in army barracks. Without prejudice on the subject of official relations between the general and his superior, the public will certainly note that no matter what the method or the contact with the political public the housing conditions in the Army are deplorable.

Two years ago Secretary of War Davis declared:

"Forty thousand American soldiers are now living in shacks. Married officers with children are being lodged in houses which would be condemned in any progressive American municipality. The men are living under leaking roofs and upon rotten floors. The situation has gotten so bad that, altogether apart from the unnecessary discomfort and hardship imposed upon the troops, the maintenance of this system of structures has become an extravagance." A year later he noted that no changes had been wrought and conditions were naturally worse. So far as the public knows, Secretary Davis was never called on the carpet for his remarks on army housing conditions and it is, therefore, to be presumed that the facts as they exist are not a prohibited subject for discussion by members of the administration.

Maj.-Gen. Allen said in his 1926 report as chief of infantry, "Inadequate quarters have a most decided detrimental effect upon the spirit of the commands." Maj.-Gen. Snow, chief of field artillery, stated in his report for the same year, "The morale of many field artillery commands is still maintained against a chronic state of miserable living conditions and personal discomfort. The government breaks faith with its officers and enlisted men when it requires them to live under such conditions in time of profound peace."

Maj.-Gens. Allen and Snow, however, set forth their case against poor housing conditions in regular official annual reports, thus fulfilling their obligations in the case from an administration standpoint. Maj.-Gen. Summerall, good fighter that he is, took it upon himself to go crusading and take the case before the people. This difference in method, perhaps, explains the sudden return of Summerall to Washington at the President's call. The administration intends to cope with the situation first-hand and would rather that the Chief of Staff stay on the job to confer and administer than that he go afield seeking public support for an extended housing program.

MISPLACED REWARD

The theory doesn't always hold good. Many a man who has made a better mousetrap still lives in the forest, while the world beats a path to the door of the man who gave him $5 for his invention and then made a million out of it.

COLLEGE WISECRACKS

The most striking features in the opening of various colleges and universities have been wired over the country. Of the nine mentioned most prominently, four are California institutions.

The University of California has received the gift of a new $1,750,000 dormitory from John D. Rockefeller, Jr. It was not given because they are sleepy at Berkeley, but to house the foreign students. International relations prompted it.

The prime event dispatched from the University of Southern California was the scrubbing of the campus walks by the freshmen co-eds. The Trojan horse had to be groomed. A $10,000,000 campaign was recently launched at the Biltmore for this institution.

Fidel La Barba, retired flyweight champion of the world, is advertised as the outstanding acquisition of Stanford farm. Possibly he is going to college over against the time when he shall grow into a heavyweight and be able to meet Gene Tunney in the back yard of Omar Khayyam.

The opening of the Scripps College for Women at Claremont is not to be interpreted that the Sagebens are to be recruited in the future among the girls. The Oxford idea of a small college environment with a big college equipment is paramount.

The University of Wisconsin bursts into the spotlight in the person of Prof. Robert Commons, "who dares to chew tobacco in the president's office." Whether this shows the daring of the teacher or the forbearance of the executive officer is not stated. May be that noted economist is just being loyal to his department and does not choose to eject his cud prematurely.

Forty freshmen co-eds of Millsaps, Mississippi, voluntarily hazed themselves by shaving their own heads. They preferred to get a haircut under their own auspices. This was taking matters by the forelock.

The girls of Ballard School, Manhattan, are given a personality course. They will disprove the theory that college girls do not marry. They will learn not only to get husbands but to hold them.

Not much said anywhere about study.

WATCHING MOTHER

A Michigan man sought a court injunction to prevent his daughter from taking her mother out nights to dances and cafes. He couldn't stop the girl from going, but he insisted that the night life was not for the elderly. Needless to say, there will be no injunction. It wouldn't be worth a hoot anyhow.

GOING OUT

Home seems to be so humble that nobody is willing to stay there.

PLENTY OF TIMBER

By James J. Montague

I have known quite a number of persons
Who would freely and frankly admit
That they always were fools at the handling of tools
And as plumbers were wholly unfit.
They owned at the carpenter's calling
They soon would be certain to fail,
They would go quite insane if they worked with a plane
And were useless at driving a nail.
But just let them sit in the President's chair;
They could run the whole nation from there.

I'm acquainted with dozens of people
Who agree that they never were born
For the arduous toil of upturning the soil
And planting potatoes and corn.
They have no vocation for farming—
If their bread they were driven to seek
In raising the wheat that the country must eat
They confess they would starve in a week
But just let them sit in the President's place
And they'd rescue this poor wretched race.

I have met many good honest people
Who avow that they'd not have a chance
If they started to work as a stock broker's clerk,
And to study the art of finance.
They have no addiction for figures—
They never were stirred very much
By the sums and amounts that make up the accounts
Of business and banking and such.
But let them just sit in the White House a while
And prosperity always would smile!

The Farmer's Dollar

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 25.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Were it not that it has a very serious aspect I should be amused at reading the interviews given out by bankers, delegates to American Bankers' Association convention at Houston, Tex., and your editorial in The Times of this date, headed "Farm Relief Unneeded."

Every intelligent person, including the President of the United States, knows that the farmer is not prosperous. According to the report of the clerk of the United States District Court for this judicial district, bankruptcies of farmers have increased approximately 700 per cent in the past five years. According to the market report published in this morning's Times the price of wheat in Chicago yesterday was from $1.21 to $1.23 per bushel for No. 2 hard wheat, which constitutes the bulk of the crop. According to the official reports of the Department of Agriculture it costs the farmer around $1.22 per bushel to produce this wheat. Actual figures on other farm products show similar conditions. The farmer receives only about 30 cents out of the dollar the consumer pays for farm products.

The present tariff is so high that competition from abroad is shut out. The European cannot sell his products here for a price that will give him money to buy the American farmer's wheat. The American manufacturing concerns by agreement fix their prices as high as the top of the tariff wall. The American consumer, including the farmer, pays. The manufacturer gives the laborer in his industry a sop in the form of increased wages. The laborer has joined hands with so-called industry to make the primary producer, particularly the farmer, pay the fixed prices for the products of these so-called industries and at the same time sell his products for a price that is less than the cost of production. Yet you publish this editorial headed "Farm Relief Unneeded."

Natural Gas

VENTURA, Oct. 21.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Gov. Young has appointed a committee to devise ways of saving the 100,000,000 or more cubic feet of natural gas which is now being poured out every day by the oil companies into the atmosphere of California, thus causing an annual loss to the public of $55,000,000.

A large part of this gigantic wastage takes place in the Ventura-avenue field, at our north city limits. As matters stand, this community is being charged $1.50 a thousand feet for this same natural gas which is spouting to destruction in such vast amounts right at our doors. It is an exorbitant and outrageous price which, obviously, should be cut at least in half. If this were done, heaters and appliances of every sort could be installed in the homes so that the people might benefit from this natural resource instead of having it poured endlessly into the air where it is lost to human consumption forever.

I am addressing this letter to your paper because I feel that every community in California has some real interest in this matter. This natural gas should be made a great beneficial asset to those districts where it is available, instead of a luxury as at present. The saving of any $55,000,000 annual loss is a genuine concern to the whole State in any case.

But Not Nonexpensive

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 25.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Los Angeles is, no doubt, one of the most beautiful cities of the world. Yet, there are in Los Angeles many ugly spots. I refer to those vacant lots that are found every few blocks, even in Wilshire Boulevard, Figueroa and other important arteries of the city. Said lots are full of long-grown dry grass, bushes, and lots of rubbish and dust.

I have always wondered if the city would make nice little gardens out of these vacant lots, with no expense at all. Just inducing or compelling the owners of vacant lots to have them cleaned up and leveled, and to plant on them some ferns or flowers, or, at least, a little of nice green grass.

This would make of every vacant lot a neat lawn, if not a little garden. The owners should take care of those lawns or gardens, and keep them trimmed and watered. Don't you think that this would be a nonexpensive way to add some more charm to this city that is so much talked about the world over?

Aerated Concrete

A novelty in the line of building material has originated in Finland, where it has been tried with entire satisfaction. It has the strength of concrete without its weight. It is called "snow concrete" and it is made by mixing the cement with snow and ice instead of water with the result that when it has been thoroughly dried out it has a sponge-like character, the block being filled with small voids equally distributed throughout the mass. The exact degree of porosity may be regulated by the quantity of snow and ice made use of. It is possible to use from 60 to 80 per cent of snow and ice, thus producing a very light brick with sufficient strength for all ordinary purposes. Where the blocks are to be used for heavier work, the proportion of the snow is decreased.

Caring for Deer and Fish

At the station of the Maine State Fish Hatchery on the shores of Lake Megunticook, the employees have developed a side line in the care of deer. These wild animals of the forest have come to regard the station as a refuge of safety and they are constant in their visit. Several make their homes within the inclosure about the station while others are daily visitors.

MORE HUMANE LAWS WANTED

State Association Opens Annual Convention

President Urges Abolition of Certain "Sports"

Mechanical Hares for Dog Races Recommended

The twentieth annual convention of the State Humane Association of California opened yesterday afternoon at the Alexandria. Following the invocation by Willis Martin, pastor of the Wilshire Methodist Episcopal Church and an address of welcome by a representative of Mayor Cryer, John Partridge of San Francisco, president of the association, delivered his annual address. In which he recommended legislation on various humane subjects. These included prohibiting dogs on running boards of automobiles, provision of a safer for carload shipments of animals and prohibition of certain "sports," including calf roping, turkey shoots, wild horse races and milking contests.

JOHN PARTRIDGE.

Matthew McCurrie of the San Francisco S. P. C. A., secretary of the association, in his report listed as new humane activities which recently have been formed in the State and recommended that mechanical hares in place of live rabbits be used in dog racing.

D. D. WRAY.

D. D. Wray of San Diego was named chairman of the committee on credentials. Other members are H. L. Lester of Richmond and Matthew McCurrie of San Francisco. Mrs. Frances H. Weldon of Los Angeles Harbor is chairman of the committee on resolutions, with H. J. Baldwin of San Diego and Alex Mitchell of Glendale.

The session will continue this morning and after the reports of organizations Rev. Thomas Grice of the Methodist Episcopal Church of South Pasadena will talk on "The Duties of the Church Toward Humane Work." The election of directors will follow. A round table luncheon, with Mrs. Frances H. Weldon as hostess, will be held at noon, and this afternoon the delegates will visit the motion-picture studios and other points of interest. A banquet will be held at the Alexandria this evening with impromptu talks by John Partridge, Matthew McCurrie, Alex Pantages and others.

The convention will end tomorrow.

WAR TALK GIVEN

Last night delegates to the convention heard Mr. McCurrie lecture on "Animals and Their Part in the Great World War."

Mr. McCurrie's talk was illustrated by slides made from pictures taken on the battlefields. He told of the use of dogs as messengers and in hospital work and of the work of horses behind the lines and in the fighting [illegible]

Following the address a discussion of the future program of the association took place, the delegates going on record in favor of organized humane instruction in schools and favoring the appointment of a committee of nine members to carry on this work.

NEWS OF THE CAFES

A Halloween carnival surpassing previous years is planned for the Venice Inn in North Spring street by Manager Bucco. On the entertainment program for Monday evening are Ted and Le Von, famous dancing team, Joe Knabe in songs, Amoutour, the singing cigarette girl, and musical numbers by the Zucco Inn orchestra.

NEW PLANTATION SHOW

"Uptown Disclosures" is the name of the new show opening tomorrow night at the Plantation Cafe at Culver City. This all-colored show promises to be one of the best that has been offered to local cafegoers.

An entirely new colored orchestra has been recently installed in the [illegible]

COTTON CLUB SPECIALS

Monday, Sunday and Monday evenings promises to be three big nights at Sebastian's Cotton Club Cafe in Washington Boulevard. Frank Sebastian and Johnny Mack have planned a Halloween celebration of large magnitude.

IMPROMPTU NUMBERS

Varied entertainment and impromptu song and dance numbers will be in the order of things in the Montmartre program scheduled for the Moulin Rouge Cafe in West Sixth street on Saturday and Monday evenings.

The Moulin Rouge seems to have come into favor with the film colony, for a host of celebrities recently have been made that cafe their rendezvous.

LOS FLORES CAFE OPENS

The opening of the Los Flores Cafe in the Fulton Hotel Building in Hollywood Boulevard occurred a short time ago under the management of Jack Florence, formerly maitre d'hotel at the Hotel Clark.

The main dining-room is of Spanish design with the very latest in furnishings and appropriate furnishings.

A Mayan room, on the Egyptian floor, is maintained as a part of the cafe.

ACTRESS TO BE GUEST

Blanche Thompson, screen actress, will be the guest of honor in Brandstatter's Hollywood Montmartre Cafe on Saturday when college night, dedicated to the students of the University of California in Los Angeles and the University of Southern California is celebrated.

Miss Thompson also will act as hostess of the collegiate-dancing contest.

FRANCE DIGS IN

BY EDWARD HUNGERFORD

The Supreme War Council of France, under the leadership of Marshal Foch, is reported to have planned and nearly completed a most comprehensive system of subterranean defenses along its borders formerly protected by fortifications of ancient model. The Belgian forts at Liege, hitherto impregnable, fell like movie sets before the withering artillery fire of the German army and the invading Huns attacked as readily as if the fortifications had not been there. The ancient forts of Verdun fell in crumbling masses when the Crown Prince's divisions hurled against the beleaguered city and his generals thought the road would soon be open to Paris.

But when the battlements of Verdun sank in piles of broken masonry and the French guns turned over in the embrasures there were still artillery in Verdun to help back the German prince from the prize he thought almost in his hands. As the massed infantry advanced there suddenly rose from out of the earth new lines of French guns that belched destruction and then disappeared instantly from view. Running from subterranean fortifications where they were safe from attack and beyond reach of opposing fire, they moved on spirals, roared their deadly message, and spiraled back for reloading. They saved Verdun and proved a French theory of defense to be superior to German methods of attack.

This mole-like system of fortifications has been extended on a huge scale, according to report, since after expending billions of francs on its subterranean defenses France considers itself very well protected against invasion and even considers shortening the enlistment period. Marshal Foch, believed to be the military genius who conceived the extension of the Verdun system.

The French have dug in permanently. Their deeply intrenched artillery cannot be put out of action by long-range fire and is protected against air attack in the highest possible degree. These underground fortifications can be reduced only by air bombers and the huge charges of high explosives that will be dropped from the clouds in the next war may not be sufficient to blast the guns from their emplacements, though without doubt they can be put out of action from above.

"Hear you-all got a new baby. Guess I ought to just throw this in the fire. Had it around twenty-five years. But I thought, maybe—"

He let it go at that and threw out the package. My wife opened it. There, in yellowed tissue paper was a pair of tiny baby shoes.

"He'd be a man now," he continued, as if he must say something. "Stillborn. Never saw him. Well, I gotta go."

He turned quickly and was gone—but not quite quickly enough. Both of us had seen tears in his eyes.

I never yet knew a man who little children liked who didn't conceal something good and warm and loyal in his heart.

THE FALLEN IDOL

We thought the Punkiown had er wise, a man of counsel safe and sane, who knew the tricks of cruel guys, their stratagems obscene and vain. And when we thought to buy some bricks all gilded so they looked like gold, the banker would explain the tricks of those who nerve was raw and cold. We viewed him with increasing pain this man who guarded all our coin we knew no faker, shark or shine could touch him with their tenderpoles. It was a comfort to the soul to own this man of knowledge true who had no spot on his renown no one who knew the fowler's snare. And then a rumor came to town the fame he had so wisely built he'd bought a well designed for gold but which produced mere dust and silt. It seems his loss was not so great, he hedged quite shrewdly, they say; but he came down from high estate within the compass of a day. The confidence he once possessed is "gone forevermore, alas!" he is a fall guy like the rest, his counsel is but sounding brass. The rush of business no more hums, the music in the banker's ears; the men draw out the primely sums they've had deposited for years. The banker who has won a fame for wisdom in the mart's affairs should guard it as if Caesar's dame would guard the high renown she bears. He can't afford the slightest slip, and no forgiveness can be win, though he wear out both tongue and lip, arguing how he chanced to sin.

McDONAUGH RITES TO BE TOMORROW

Rail and Steamship Line Traffic Official Dies of Artery Hardening

Funeral services for Edward L. McDonaugh, 61 years of age, for thirty-eight years identified with the railroad and steamship lines and one of the best-known traffic men of Southern California, who died Wednesday evening at the Los Angeles General Hospital after a prolonged illness, will be conducted tomorrow at 2:30 p.m. at the funeral parlors of Utter & Son, 345 West Main street, Alhambra. Death was due to hardening of the arteries.

Mr. McDonough entered railroad work after his graduation from an eastern college. For twenty years he held executive positions in the Chicago freight traffic department of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad. Coming to Los Angeles in 1910 he entered the employ of the Union Pacific system in the freight traffic department, resigning as general agent in 1920 to become general freight agent for the old Los Angeles-Pacific Navigation Company one of the first steamship companies organized after the World War and operators of Shipping Board vessels.

When S. L. Kreider organized his shipping company and obtained the representations of many world-wide steamship services calling at Los Angeles Harbor, McDonaugh joined the firm as traffic manager in 1921, which position he held until 1926, when he retired from the transportation game.

Wedding Proves to Be 'Mistake' for School Pair

It was a grammar school love affair, exclusively, as Arthur Crossman told of it in Judge Bowron's court yesterday.

Young Crossman and Margaret Drumm were schoolday sweethearts. It was a gloomy day when Crossman's parents announced he would complete his education in an eastern school. As the time of his departure drew nearer, the two became more and more worried and at last they hurried over to Santa Ana and were married. But they did not tell anyone about it.

Three years is a long time at a certain period of life, as both found out, after Crossman had been away that long. Time and distance did its work and both realized they had made a "mistake."

So Crossman appeared before Judge Bowron yesterday with Attorney F. J. McDougall and had the marriage annulled.

State's Expert Gives Courses in Parenthood

Courses in the training of adepts for parenthood have been organized under the direction of Dr. Stolz, assistant State superintendent in charge of parenthood work, assisted by Dr. Gertrude Laws.

Instruction in parenthood is being given by Dr. Laws at the Normandie nursery school on the second and fourth Mondays of each week, from 7:30 to 9 p.m.; at the Franklin High School every Thursday from 8:40 to 9:35 a.m., and on the first and third Thursdays of every month from 10:30 to 11:45 a.m. at the Women's University Club.

Dr. Laws is also training a group to take over this work in a course offered at the Public Library in the science and sociology seminar room, Wednesdays from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m.

Members of the character and conduct committee for the present year are Mrs. Ida Storch, chairman; Miss Flora D. Smith, Robert A. Thompson, Raymond E. T. Pollish, Miss Louise Graf, Miss Florence Ringle and Miss Florence A. Kussy.

Veteran Life Insurance Man Dies at Home

Bringing to a close an active business career, death early yesterday claimed Frank Pleasant Fuller, one of the city's oldest active life insurance operators.

Heart disease and other contributing causes resulted in Mr. Fuller's death at his home, 4080 Leeward avenue. While in poor health for several years he continued his business as representative of the Mutual Insurance Company of New York. He was 75 years of age and had been a resident of Los Angeles for twenty years and of California for forty years. In 1907 he was one of the organizers of the insurance company's agency in this city, serving as the first agent.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Gertrude Fuller, and a daughter, Mrs. Edwin A. Bird.

Funeral services will be conducted tomorrow noon from the undertaking parlors of Connell Company, 1239 South Hope street. The services will be under the direction of Golden State Lodge No. 360 F. & A.M. and will be followed by burial in Inglewood Cemetery.

Protests on Wider Flower Street Heard

The City Council yesterday considered the twenty-nine appeals filed against the $1,359,194 assessments for the widening and straightening of Flower street from Washington street to Thirty-eighth street. There are 560 lots in the district to be assessed for this widening. The Council directed one of the assessments divided into two parts. No other change was ordered.

Councilman Hall informed the Council that the referee's awards for the property to be taken to widen Flower street from Eighth street to Washington street were $1,760,000. There are 200 lots in this assessment district for the widening north of Washington street.

SEWER CLEANING ORDERED

The California State Board of Health has directed the Los Angeles and Vernon city governments to remove all sand from the Los Angeles-Vernon sewer on Boyle avenue at a point above Vernon avenue where the sewer now overflows.

SOCIETY

BY JUANA NEAL LEVY

One of the lovely affairs of recent date was the tea with which Mr. and Mrs. Cosmo Morgan, Jr., entertained at their home in West Twenty-fourth street, the affair celebrating the eighty-eighth birthday anniversary of Mr. Morgan's mother, Mrs. Cosmo Morgan. The house was lovely with fragrant flowers, baskets and clusters of rare blossoms having been sent in to Mrs. Morgan by her many friends in the Southland.

During the tea hour Alice Mosher and Walter Pigeon gave a delightful program of song and later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Morgan were hosts to a few of their mother's friends at supper.

Visiting Here

Mrs. Minna Fricke of Hamburg, Germany, and the Argentine is visiting her daughter and son-in-law, Mr and Mrs. J. E. Voigts, and has been enjoying delightful motor trips throughout the Southland. They have been passing quite some time at Hotel Del Mar, where Mrs. Fricke is contemplating returning to make her permanent home.

For Bride-Elect

Mr. and Mrs. James A. McCaddon entertained Sunday evening with a delightful dinner at the Deauville Beach Club, Santa Monica, in honor of their attractive niece, Miss Genevieve Symmes, who is to become the bride of William Wilson early in the winter holiday season. The table was lovely with rosebuds and soft shaded autumn flowers and covers were arranged for Miss Symmes, Miss Elizabeth McCadden, Mr. and Mrs. Carl C. Terrell, Mr. and Mrs. James A. McCadden, William Wilson and Arnold Gard.

Campus News

In honor of two recent brides in the college of music faculty of the University of Southern California, Mrs. Lillian Backstrand Wilson entertained with a dinner at her home, 2334 Crenshaw Boulevard, Monday evening. Decorated with chrysanthemums, a color scheme of red and white was carried out in the candle-lighted rooms where covers were laid for about forty guests.

As guests of honor, Mrs. Annie Mottram Craig Batten and Mrs. Marguerite Hauber O'Leary received the felicitations of their associates in the Trojan college of music. After the dinner a clever speech was given by Dean Walter F. Skeele of the college of music, who in the midst of his talk played Lohengrin's Wedding March, to bring forward the guests of honor, when he presented them each with a beautiful silver flower bowl as gifts from the faculty members.

Those included were Messrs. and Mmes. Charles Thomas Batten, F. Charles O'Leary, Walter F. Skeele, A. M. Perry, Max L. Swarthout, Arnold H. Wagner, Horatio Cogswell, Alexander Stewart, John Clair Monteith, Axel Simonsen, Charles E. Pemberton, J. G. Rasmussen, Edward Adolf, David Sanders, Miss Julia Howell, Mrs. Vivian Barnes, Mrs Betty Perkins, Miss Leila Ellis, Miss Pearl Alice Macloskey, Miss Mabel Woodworth, Miss Florence Austin, Miss Dorothy Stuthman, and Miss Ivy Goade.

Annual Bazaar

Queen Alexandra State Chapter, Daughters of the British Empire, will hold its annual all day bazaar for aged, British, Friday November 4 in the Assembly Hall of the Friday Morning Clubhouse, 940 South Figueroa street.

A splendid assortment of useful articles, fancy goods, home cooked food, aprons, kerchiefs, Christmas novelties and toys, candies and an excellent White Elephant table will be featured.

Luncheon and afternoon tea will be served and in the evening there will be dancing.

Assistance League Luncheons

Luncheons at Mme. Helene's new tea room at the Assistance League are becoming more and more popular, last Monday afternoon there being quite a number of delightful parties.

With Mrs. E. Avery McCarthy were her sister-in-law, Mrs. Herbert Billington Howard, Miss Katherine Mellus, and Mrs. Palmer Cook.

Mrs. Hancock Banning, president of the Assistance League, had with her Mrs. Isaac Hampshur Jones and Mrs. James Reed, while at one of the tables overlooking the Hollywood Hills was noticed Mrs. Sydney Irving Wailes, who had as her guests Mrs. Lee St. Clair Chandler and Mrs. Harry Robinson.

Mrs. R. D. Shepherd entertained Raphael Herman, whose generosity has made possible the building of the Assistance League Day Nursery, while one of the lovely tables was that presided over by Mrs. John Newton Russell, Jr., many goes being used and tiny individual bouquets tied with pale blue ribbons marked the covers for Mrs. Russell, Mrs. Friend M. Aiken, Mrs. J. Crampton Anderson and Mrs. Billicke.

Others at luncheon there were Miss Jean Hill, Mrs. Charles Jeffras, Mrs. Edwards-Laughlin, Miss Catherine Clifford and Mrs. Henry Liesner

The tearoom has been redecorated and furnished and presents a charming background, with dainty linens, and china and glassware to match.

Wednesday afternoon Mrs. Edwards-Laughlin entertained her Community Chest captains for luncheon including Mrs. Frank Bennett, Mrs. Harrison Lobdell, Mrs. Everett H. Seever, Mrs. Frank Seaver, Mrs. James Canterbury and Mrs. Van Buren Jarvis.

—o—

Luncheon Party

Mrs. Harold M. Hodges entertained with a beautifully appointed luncheon and bridge at her home, 515 North Crescent Drive, Beverly Hills, Saturday afternoon, four tables of bridge being arranged in the afternoon. The house was lovely with a profusion of zinnias and chrysanthemums, and the tally score cards were indicative of the Halloween motif.

Those included were Mrs. Harold Morton, Mrs. James Peterson, Mrs. Harry Combal, Mrs. Edgar Pedderson, Mrs. W. R. Kemp, Mrs. Leo Norven, Miss Janice Mace, Mrs. Richard Robert Vincent, Mrs. C. A. Chapman, Mrs. H. W. Hodges, Mrs. W. E. Colburn, Jr., Mrs. E. T. Reedy, Mrs. Donald Hilke, Mrs. Frank Eldredge, Mrs. O. W. Korn and Miss Alice Dennison.

Masquerade Ball

A general masquerate and ball will be given at the Gordon School, 1455 Laurel avenue, Hollywood, this evening, when the auditorium will be decorated with autumn foliage, jack-o-lanterns expressing the spirit of Halloween. The dance will be preceded by a grand promenade and prizes will be given for the prettiest costume, the most original costume and the one who remained incognito for the longest time.

—o—

Preceding Symphony

One of the hostesses who is entertaining with a luncheon preceding the symphony orchestra concert this afternoon is Mrs. Carlos Hardy of Lafayette Park Place, her guests including Mrs. Ralph Bucknam, Mrs. W. H. Semmens, Mrs. Maurice De Mond, Mrs. J. J. Cavalier, Miss Cora Boettcher, Mrs. Murdock MacQuarrie and Mrs. Charles Schoolcraft.

Mrs. Semmens, widow of the late William H. Semmens of Pennsylvania, has come recently to Los Angeles to make her home, and is being much entertained, among the affairs of the near future being the luncheon with which Miss Cora Boettcher is planning for November 8 at Hotel Huntington in South Pasadena.

The City Council yesterday ordered filed all communications protesting against the change of name of Manchester avenue, as there is no petition before the Council asking that the name of Manchester avenue be changed.

NANCY PAGE

Children Who Go to Kindergarten Should Be Simply Dressed

By Florence La Ganbe

When the children on the street started to kindergarten little two-year-old Joan begged to go, too. Aunt Nancy told her she was too small, but promised to take her for a visit on some fine day.

Joan was entranced with all the doings, but Nancy was more impressed with the clothes the children wore.

Some day, if all went well, she would have a young son going to kindergarten. She did hope that styles would be as attractive then as now.

One little boy wore a jersey with jersey shorts, tan 3-4 hose and brown oxfords. Another boy had dark blue flannel shorts, a dull blue shirt quite like a man's. He had a narrow striped tie and fancy belt.

One little girl wore a print frock with white linen collar, cuffs and front tab. The bloomers were not in evidence.

An ensemble of striped jersey, short pleated skirt, brown laced shoes, white woolen socks and simple beret gave distinction to another little girl.

It was always true, Nancy observed, that the simpler the clothes the smarter the child's appearance.

It is as important to feed children well as it is to dress them becomingly. Send for Nancy Page's leaflet on "Child Care." Write to her, care of this paper, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

CHEF WYMAN'S Suggestions for TOMORROW'S MENU

Every Friday at 2 o'clock Mrs. A. L. Wyman will conduct a free class and demonstration of good cookery in the lecture room of the Southern California Manufacturers' Exhibit, 130 South Broadway.

Breakfast

Grapefruit
Poached Eggs on Toast
Toast Jelly
Milk Coffee

Luncheon

Ham Roll, Martha
Chicory and Orange Salad
Strawberry Cream Pie
Milk Tea

Dinner

Consomme
Olives
Beef a la Mode
Green Peas Browned Potatoes
Tomato Salad
Creme Brulee

HAM ROLL, MARTHA

Sift two cupfuls of sifted flour with five level teaspoonfuls of baking powder, and one teaspoonful of salt; rub into them three tablespoonfuls of butter and mix to a smooth dough with a scant cupful of milk. Roll out half an inch thick on a floured board, and spread with one and a half cupfuls of finely ground boiled ham; roll like a jelly roll, place in a baking pan, brush with melted butter and bake fifteen minutes in a hot oven. Place on a hot platter, pour over white sauce and serve hot.

WHITE SAUCE

Melt in a sauce pan three tablespoonfuls of butter, add three tablespoonfuls of flour, and mix well; stir in one and a half cupfuls of milk and stir and cook ten minutes. Season with salt and paprika.

STRAWBERRY PIE

Line a deep pie tin with short pie pastry, fill with dry beans and bake a nice brown; remove the beans, cool, fill with picked, washed and dried strawberries, sprinkle with powdered sugar, spread with whipped cream and dot the top with whole strawberries dipped in powdered sugar.

BEEF A LA MODE

Have the butcher lard a five-pound piece of rump beef with fresh larding pork, season with pepper and salt, and place in an earthenware jar, cover with half-mild vinegar and water, add one sliced onion, one sliced carrot, two stalks of celery, two branches of warsley, one blade of mace, six whole cloves and six peppercorns; let stand overnight. Heat two tablespoonfuls of butter in a Dutch oven, add the beef and fry a nice brown on all sides, remove the beef and place on a platter, add to the pot two tablespoonfuls of butter and two tablespoonfuls of flour and stir until the flour is brown; pour in the vinegar, water and vegetables used in the earthenware jar, bring to a boil, add the beef and simmer, covered, until the beef is tender. Lay the beef on a hot platter and strain over it the gravy from the Dutch oven. Garnish with browned potatoes and glazed onions.

TOMATO SALAD

Peel three tomatoes and cut in even sized dice, place in a bowl rubbed with a clove of crushed garlic and mix with one chopped green pepper, one chopped pimiento, one tablespoonful of chopped parsley, and two-thirds of a cup of Russian dressing. Mound on cold lettuce-covered plates and garnish with ripe olives.

RUSSIAN DRESSING

Mix in a cold bowl one cupful of mayonnaise, two tablespoonfuls of French dressing, two tablespoonfuls of chili sauce, one tablespoonful of chopped pimientos, one tablespoonful of chopped green olives, one teaspoonful of Worcestershire sauce and a seasoning of salt and paprika.

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope, forwarded to this office, will bring a personal reply.

ACID NOT HARMFUL WITH MILK AT A MEAL

Mrs. W. T. E. writes: "Will it upset my 15-months-old daughter to give her potatoes and apple sauce at the same meal with her milk? Will warm tomatoes take the place of another vegetable with potatoes? May she have milk with this? She does not care for prune juice or stewed prunes but she likes them raw. Will they harm her?"

ANSWER

It is better to think of tomatoes as a fruit than as a vegetable. They may take the place of oranges or other fresh fruit but, except for occasional use, they had better not replace green vegetables. It is perfectly all right to give apple sauce and potatoes at the same meal as milk. Milk goes with all of the child's four meals. The apple sauce is better served at breakfast or the last meal at night.

The ordinary dried prune when seen under the microscope is a pretty dirty looking object. Repeated washings and cooking will rid it of harmful bacteria but it would be unwise, if for no other reason than this, to serve it raw. You may buy on a market a cleaned and cooked prune which might tempt the child more. Do not give more than two of these in a day and watch the effect. It is probable that they will be digested as easily as the home-cooked ones.

LIES ONLY ON ONE SIDE

Mrs. E. M. writes: "My 3-months-old baby lies constantly on his right side. When I turn him to the left he turns back or cries until I turn him. Will this cause his head to be tilted sideways when grown?

He has been drolling for a month. Does this indicate that he is teething?

My older girl has worms. I have been giving her worm medicines but they do no good. What would you suggest?

ANSWER.

It is better for the baby to be turned from side to side. The danger would be that the side upon which the infant lies constantly might be flatter than the other side. Of course the hair would make this unnoticeable when grown.

Babies are teething from birth, but usually the teeth do not appear until five months.

How do you know the oldest has worms? Have you or the doctor seen them in the stools? Or are you imagining that she must have them because of certain symptoms which seem to you to indicate worms? Unless worms are actually seen in the stools there is no excuse for giving worm medicines. And when there is an excuse, because of worms, the doctor should advise the treatment and medicine. These facts cannot be overemphasized. From what you have told me of your ailments, I imagine you need some repair work done, which was neglected at the time of the baby's birth.

Memphis Man Arrested Here

Accused of fraudulent breach of trust in a business deal, Gene F. Ferguson was arrested yesterday at 916 South Broadway for Memphis (Tenn.) authorities by eputy Sheriffs Heller and Johnson.

The arrest was made on telegraphic information, which stated that Ferguson had fraudulently taken $600 in cash and $2800 in notes in May, 1926, in connection with a business transaction. The man's wife was with him.

Ferguson was placed in the County Jail to await the arrival of an officer from Memphis.

Sometimes Louis Mira thought very well of his wife's relatives, Mrs. Sarah Mira told Judge Sproul yesterday.

This oppressed Mrs. Mira to the point of mental anguish, she said. She got a divorce, on the motion of Attorney Alfred A. Phonessa.

Permit Given for Car Line on Spring Street

The Los Angeles Railway Corporation yesterday was authorized by the City Council, on motion of Councilman Webster, to lay tracks on Spring street from First street to Temple street, in front of the new City Hall.

The street-car tracks were taken out a year ago in order to straighten and widen Spring street. The widening work now is nearly completed and the street railway company desires to lay its tracks at once. The trolley wires will be supported from combination street lighting and railway posts, and the company will pay its share of the cost of these posts.

HEALTH and DIET ADVICE

FASTING STIMULATES GROWTH

The following just appeared in one of our leading magazines and was written by one of America's greatest editorial writers:

"A process of rejuvenation has been discovered. It has been demonstrated in the laboratory that it is possible to reverse the aging process and restore to an adult his youthful build and vigor by means of a simple and absolutely costless method.

"But unfortunately the process is found applicable only to worms. The flatworm, Planaria, when deprived of food will shrink down to one quarter of its natural adult size and become infantile in form. When it is fed once more it starts in growing again as when young. By this process of alternate feeding and starving such worms have been made to live twenty times the normal length of life and perhaps might be extended indefinitely.

"If human life could be similarly extended, an ancient Roman might be living with us yet to tell his reminiscences of the empire before its fall. But although man, according to the Scriptures, is a worm, he does not react like one and cannot be rejuvenated by subjecting himself to starvation. Other methods of rejuvenation have likewise proved fallacious as applied to men. So the goal of Dr. Faust and Ponce De Leon is still not in sight for the longing eyes of age."

I have copied this writers' entire article, both because I think it is interesting and because I believe it wise to point out the fact that the average clever writer is not possessed of sufficient facts to write a helpful article on health subjects. Therefore, his advice is liable to be misleading and dangerous.

The fact is that periodic fasting has a distinctly beneficial effect upon cell growth, especially in the young. I have seen thousands of puny, undernourished children grow into strong, robust children because of taking a few days' fruit fast. The complete throwing out of bodily toxins during the fast makes it possible for the child's growth to become normal after having been hampered since perhaps birth, by hereditary or acquired toxemia.

If you or your child are underweight, try a few days' fast before starting on a building up diet and you will be surprised to find that you resemble the flat worm at least, to the extent of growing faster after "starving."

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Question: F. W. asks: "Will you please tell me if the menus printed once a week in your column are reducing menus? I am too heavy and would like a balanced diet which would take off ten or fifteen pounds. Have been following your instructions but do not lose by using your weekly menus."

Answer: If you want to reduce, I would advise you to change the weekly menus somewhat. A simple way to do is to substitute a fruit meal in place of any meal including starch. If you are overweight and will do this, you will probably lose from three to five pounds a week.

Q: M. asks: "Is it healthy to drink a glass or two of sweet milk just before retiring every night?"

A.: Not unless you are on an exclusive milk diet, in which case your schedule might extend to bedtime, depending upon how much milk you were taking. Ordinarily, when milk is used at all, it should be used as a meal itself, and not in addition to any of the customary three meals a day.

Q.: S. H. A., Jr., writes: "I am a young man of 20 years and have heart trouble (mitral stenosis) which has existed since birth. I have heard that near my twenty-first birthday I may expect a change for the better, the explanation being given that during youth at intervals of seven years a change occurs. Is this true?"

A.: It is true that heart disorders of childhood often gradually disappear after adolescence, but do not depend too much upon this possible change. Start in eating correctly so that you do not have an excessive amount of gas pressure against your heart, as such gas pressure is the most common cause of all heart derangements.

If Keeping "That Schoolgirl Complexion" Is Your Aim

By NORMA SHEARER

DON'T think a naturally clear skin is denied you, or that costly beauty treatments are required to keep one. That has been disproved.

Beauty experts of this country and Europe advocate a rule so simple, so economical, that millions have adopted it. As a result you see that schoolgirl complexion wherever you look today.

The modern rule for beauty is a simple one: a proved complexion soap and water to keep the skin and pores clean; "make-up," powder and rouge thoroughly cleared from the skin every night before bed.

Wash the face gently with Palmolive. Massage its balmy olive and palm oil lather into the skin. Rinse with warm water; then with cold. If your skin is inclined to be naturally dry, apply a little cold cream. That is all — it's nature's rule for keeping that schoolgirl complexion.

Do that regularly, and particularly at night. Note how much better your skin is in even one week.

QUESTION LIST FRAUD CHARGED

Sensation Sprung in Civil Service

Facts Out in Advance, Lawyer Says

Hearing Delayed to Permit Finding Witness

charges that at least one of the men who took the civil-service examination for promotion to detective sergeant last April had a list of the questions in advance will be made a witness at the special hearing of the Civil Service Commission at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning, Attorney Harry G. Bodkin told the commissioners yesterday.

The hearing was scheduled for yesterday afternoon, but when Bodkin, who represents a group of officers who are protesting against the examination on the grounds that the questions were "foolish" and not a true test of their fitness to serve as detective lieutenants, made the startling announcement concerning the fraud charges, the board voted to postpone the hearing until Saturday morning. Bodkin said he was unable to get in touch with the witness in time for the hearing yesterday and was fearful that if his name were used "an attempt might be made to smooth him."

Questioned by Commissioner Stoneman who he meant might try to smooth the witness, Bodkin said he referred individuals interested in the examination might attempt to coerce him into refusing to testify or even go so far as going beyond the jurisdiction of persuasion.

WITNESSES SWORN

The nine witnesses who appeared at the hearing yesterday afternoon were sworn by President Mary J. Stoneman and ordered to return tomorrow morning. If the hearing is not completed by noon it will be adjourned to the first of next week.

Commissioner Stoneman expressed himself as being opposed to any delay in the hearing and favored a speedy proceedings yesterday afternoon, when the most outspoken of the officers and indicated that he was considerably roiled by the assertion of the unsuccessful candidates that promotion to the rank of detective lieutenant that the examination questions were "foolish." He surprised Bodkin by telling him that the list of questions had been passed on by the commissioners before they were submitted to the officers. He said the questions were of the type given by most of the more advanced civil service commissions throughout the United States.

"They were questions," declared Commissioner Stoneman, "that I would expect any high-school freshman to get at least 80 per cent on.

DECLARED FAIR TEST

"The idea in the examination was to prepare a list of questions that could be answered by the dumbest officer in the department, but to submit to that any reasonably informed officer should be able to answer. A police officer who could not answer that list of questions is not fit to serve as detective lieutenant."

Three members of the commission are police officers were "like a bunch of old women," and that when Bodkin failed to pass an examination for

Culinary Wizards at Their Art

Mixing Goodies

KITCHEN SHOW ATTRACTION

Mrs. Wyman's Demonstration of Culinary Art Draws Throng to Food Exhibition

To the accompaniment of whirring egg-beaters, sputtering victuals and the usual culinary activities, Mrs. A. L. Wyman, Times home economics expert, yesterday presided ove ra specially fitted kitchen on the stage of the Ambassador Hotel Theater and brewed up a half dozen tasty concoctions for the edification of the audience of men and women which, in spite of the rain, filled the theater almost to capacity.

The demonstration was the feature of the day in connection with the Food and Household Show being held this week in the Ambassador Auditorium and was given under the auspices of The Times Food and Cooking Demonstration Department.

Mrs. Wyman prepared chicken chow mein, crab Louis, lemon omelet, lemon omelet sauce, avocado fritters and orange cheese balls. As she worked she explained each step of the process carefully and told the make of each ingredient used and why she prefers it. Her methods were also a liberal education in the art of having a number of things under way at one time with every moment utilized to good advantage and minus the flurry and confusion that often result where there are several irons in the fire.

Mrs. Wyman was assisted in her work by Mrs. Sophie Morgan.

KITCHEN EQUIPMENT

The kitchen equipment used in the demonstration consisted of a standard acid-resisting sink, courtesy of the Standard Manufacturing Company; a Dangler 1928 model range, courtesy of the General Sales Corporation; a General Electric refrigerator, courtesy of the George Belsey Company, and a Nappanee Dutch Kitchenet, courtesy of Parmelee-Dohrmann Company.

Entertainment at the food show during the afternoon and evening was furnished by artists from The Times radio studio, KHJ. A program of Hawaiian and popular songs was given throughout the afternoon by The Times Aloha string quartet and in the evening Jose Arias and his Mexican entertainers supplied songs, dances and music of Old Spain and Mexico.

WRITERS INSPIRE CHEMISTS

Newspaper household writers and newspaper advertising were described by A. W. Adams, 747 Warehouse street, as the inspiration for the chemist, the bacteriologist and the dietitian. He said more new food products have originated from suggestions made by household writers than from any other one source, and that the newspaper advertisement then becomes the best means of attracting public attention to the new product.

The American people, said Adams, seat themselves every day at the tables of kings. As compared with the fare served to the middle class citizenry of a few generations ago, Adams said the meals of today are veritable banquets.

Preparations for more large crowds were made yesterday. The show is scheduled to run until tomorrow, when it will close at 10:30 p.m. Expectations are that a total attendance of 150,000 will be obtained during the week.

COOKING CLASS TO WORK IN NEW KITCHEN

Mrs. Mabelle B. Wyman will instruct her cooking class this afternoon in the new model kitchen on the third floor of the Southern California Manufacturers' Exhibit, 130 South Broadway, from 2 to 4 o'clock, although the finishing touches to the new auditorium have not yet been given.

So pleased are the Dangler Stove people with the recent series of demonstration classes conducted by Mrs. Mae Cummings in the Manufacturers' Exhibit that they have arranged for a new series by the same expert, the first of which will be given next Tuesday in the model kitchen on the third floor. A Dangler range will be given away at the end of the series to some fortunate housewife. These talks and demonstrations will be given every week, and after next Tuesday will be held on Monday afternoons, with Mrs. Cummings in charge.

Dr. Philip M. Lovell gave his regular health talk in the exhibit hall yesterday afternoon, and despite the rain there was a large crowd of interesting listeners. Next week Dr. Lovell will occupy the auditorium, especially arranged for him on the third floor, where he can accommodate more auditors in greater comfort and privacy. This room has been in process of decoration for the last several weeks.

EAST FOUND LONGING TO COME HERE

Hotel Manager Declares Prosperity of Southland Unequaled Anywhere

On his return here yesterday from a three weeks' trip through the East, James Woods, managing director of the Los Angeles Biltmore, said he found business good throughout the nation, but saw nothing to equal the prosperity of Southern California.

Both Chicago and New York now are enjoying rapid development, He said the hotel business in the East is prosperous and that all indications point toward continued heavy tourist travel to California. In every part of the East Woods said he heard people say they intend to move to California ultimately.

Republicans in the East, according to Mr. Woods, are somewhat confused about the coming Presidential election. Most of them, he declares, seem to want Coolidge to run again. In the event that the President does not enter the race, Mr. Woods thinks, the Republicans will favor Hoover.

ALTADENANS GET LINE ON ZONING ACT

Provisions of New County Ordinance Explained at Citizens' Meeting

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Oct. 27.—Members of the Altadena Citizens' Association met in the Altadena school tonight and listened to A. G. Williamson, county zoning engineer, and Claude McFadden, representing the county counsel's office, outline the various provisions of the new county zoning ordinance.

Altadena is the second community in the county to take action which places them under restricted zoning. Although the county as a whole is divided into zones, unless a community takes specific action to the contrary, it remains in what is termed the "seventh zone," where it is unrestricted.

It was explained to the members of the citizens' association that the zoning ordinance is not retroactive, and that established businesses and buildings will be allowed to continue as before. In the future, however, those proposing structures must obtain a permit, for which $2 will be charged, and in certain zones it is stipulated that the size of lots shall not be less than 5000 square feet.

The county officials declared that the zoning ordinance is meeting with general approbation, and that it is contemplated soon to draw up a building ordinance that will regulate residence and business buildings in county territory.

SAMPAN BRAVES HIGH SEAS

Millionaire Sportsman Believed First to Sail Fishing Boat from Honolulu to Los Angeles

What L. T. Lehman, millionaire Honolulu sportsman, started as a week-end jaunt off Makapu Point in his new Japanese sampan, Tomaru, ended at Los Angeles Harbor yesterday morning when the squat little sixty-footer poked her nose around Breakwater Light, eleven and a half days from Honolulu. The voyage, a boisterous one, is believed the first ever made to the mainland from Hawaii by a sampan.

Accompanying Mr. Lehman was his accompanied by strong headwinds and seas."

The Tomaru will spend a month at this port, outfitting for a 3000-mile fishing cruise which Mr. Lehman will make the length of the coast to Panama, thence turning westward for the 4000-mile voyage from the canal to Honolulu.

Mr. Lehman before his retirement at Honolulu two years ago, was a Detroit steel-construction magnate. His wife, who before her marriage was Adelaide Fairbanks, daughter of former Vice-President Fairbanks, will arrive here from Honolulu this morning aboard the Lasco liner City of Los Angeles to join her husband.

BUILT BY JAPANESE

The Tomaru, of typical sampan construction, was built at Honolulu in seventy days by the veteran Japanese builder of sampan fishermen, S. Fuani. Two weeks after her completion she started on her 2300-mile jaunt.

"I started out for a week-end fishing trip with the boys, but the weather looked so good I went home, grabbed a suitcase and told my wife I was going to California," said Mr. Lehman.

MEET HEAVY SEAS

"For the first 500 miles out of Honolulu the forty-mile northeast trades kicked up enormous seas, which broke completely over the boat, but she rode them splendidly. In fact, the entire trip across was ac-

The body of a newly born baby, wrapped in newspapers was found yesterday at Kemp and Elm streets, Compton, by Police Officer West of that city, according to a report to the Sheriff's office. The body was discovered in a drain ditch and was taken to the Neal mortuary, Compton. It had been in the ditch about two days, according to the officer. No clew to its identity was discovered.

NO EDGE YET INDICATED IN SKY SPACES

Astronomer Says Stellar Systems Extend Beyond Telescope's Range

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Oct. 27.—Stellar systems, similar to the solar system of which the earth is a part, extend out into space in all directions as far as the eye of the greatest telescopes can see, and yet there is no indication that the range of the telescopes comes near approximating the range of the heavens themselves, according to Dr. Edwin P. Hubble, noted astronomer of the Mt. Wilson Observatory staff, who lectured at the California Institute of Technology tonight.

The Mt. Wilson telescope, largest in the world, and Dr. Hubble have revealed that star systems, or nebulae, formerly noticed only as faint patches of light in the sky, actually are systems comparable to what until a few years ago was regarded as the entire universe.

Some 2,000,000 nebulae are revealed by the Mt. Wilson telescope, yet at the outer circumference of the telescope's range, the nebulae are just as frequent as in the center, so that it must be supposed that they extend far beyond present measurable distances, according to Dr. Hubble.

City Pledges to Give $150,000 for Boys' Home

Financial pledges for a total of $250,000 were received last night by the Protestant Welfare Board at a banquet and meeting at the University Club, to be used in the erection of a new Pacific Lodge Home for Boys on a forty-two-acre site at Sepulveda. The site was donated by a friend of the association.

The pledges were made by representatives of ten different cities, including Los Angeles, who attended the meeting. Under this arrangement Los Angeles is pledged to raise $150,000, Pasadena $50,000, Long Beach $25,000, Pomona, Glendale and Monrovia $5000 each, Huntington Park $3000, Van Nuys $2000 and Inglewood and Whittier $1000 each.

John Willis Baer, vice-president of the First National Bank, was chairman, and the speakers included Dr. Charles F. Nelson, Judge Hahn of Pasadena, Supervisor Bean, Judge Scott, George D. McDill, Raymond B. Dunlap and B. B. Weatherall.

The campaign to raise the fund will be inaugurated shortly, it was announced.

KHJ PARTY TO VISIT TOYLAND

Snappy Navy Day Program Given at Studio

County Auditor to Give Talk on Tax Payments

Gen. Harbord of A.E.F. Fame in City on Tour

BY DR. RALPH L. POWER

Again the much-mooted question of whether there is a Santa Claus comes up for debate. Those who have the slightest doubt ought to drop in to the toy department of the May Company store between 2 and 4 tomorrow afternoon when the holiday toy season will be given its official send-off of the season and Santa Claus will officiate as host.

Special guests of honor will be Uncle John and Pal O' Mine of KHJ, attended by fully two score of the wonder children of radioland. They will give a brief program and impromptu reception in the toy department of the store.

All of the children who appear regularly each week on the children's hour at The Times radio studio will be there, as well as those who appear at longer intervals.

There will be juvenile readers and singers, monologue artists and instrumentalists, and all of the juvenile celebrities who are well known to the audience of the air.

The program will not be long and will not include all of the children assembled. But those who drop in to see the holiday opening of the toy department in the modern emporium will have a chance to see all of the tiny tots of KHJ's entertainment hour.

NAVY DAY PROGRAM

Navy Day and the anniversary of the birth of Theodore Roosevelt were appropriately celebrated in broadcastland last night on the five-hour continuous program offered through KHJ's transmitter.

The program was presented as announced in The Times of yesterday but no review of the broadcast would be possible in the brief space of part of a column.

Every musical number and talk was of a particularly high order and things went along smoothly as clockwork until the closing number.

There were stirring marches that fairly set your blood a tingling, scholarly addresses by ranking officers, interesting talks on sea life, funny stories galore, all sorts of vocal quartet numbers and solos of the sea, a clever telegram from Secretary Curtis D. Wilbur, plenty of orchestral tunes, all the bugle calls and pipes, screamingly funny vaudeville sketches, comedy skits a plenty, more band numbers and the big navy frolic of an hour which closed the program.

Each one did his best and the visitors' gallery was thronged with guests during the entire broadcast. Light refreshments were served through the later part of the evening and a splendid holiday spirit of hearty camaraderie was evident in all of the fun and frolic.

KHJ TO GIVE SERIES OF LECTURES ON TAXES

Commencing next Tuesday, which is the first of November, on the 7:45 p.m. lecture period J. R. Keough, deputy county auditor, will give the first of a series of five talks on the general theme of payment of taxes. These will be given for five weeks on the same lecture period Tuesdays following the custom of KHJ on previous years.

GEN. HARBORD TO ADDRESS DEALERS HERE

Tomorrow noon at The Biltmore Gen. James G. Harbord, former chief of staff of the A.E.F. and now president of the Radio Corporation of America, will act as host and principal speaker before wholesale distributors of RCA products in Southern California. This is to be the third in a series of nine regional meetings which the radio executive is holding all over the country.

SONS OF REVOLUTION TO SEE HOME PLANS

Plans for the new home of the Sons of the Revolution will be exhibited at a luncheon which will be given today at the Paulais banquet rooms, 739 South Broadway. The new building, which is to be erected in the 400 block on South Hope street on property donated by Maron W. Stowell, will be of colonial design and cost approximately $325,000. It will house what is said to be the finest genealogical library on the Pacific Coast. Dr. Stuart P. MacLennan will speak on "An Intimate View of Americans Abroad."

Agmel
Genuine Maguey Sap —a Vital Raw Food for use in conjunction with treatment of

Stomach Trouble

Now thousands use genuine Agua-miel from Mexico, where formerly only a few wealthy sufferers could travel there to drink it. For this, world-famous natural sap, cherished centuries in Mexico for its health value, is now available here in uncooked concentrated form known as Agmel. Not a medicine but Aguamiel just as Nature produces it except for removal of water without cooking. Free from preservatives. Non-alcoholic.

People all over the world now use Agmel in connection with treatment of stomach trouble. Scientific research now being conducted to determine why Agmel acts as it does points to its distinctive sweet, Agavose, as an easily assimilated carbohydrate with characteristics of the complex sugars, and somewhat similar to glycogen found in normal liver and muscle tissue. This research also discloses nine valuable minerals, vitamines A, B and C and an active yeast peculiar to Agmel.

Many physicians, particularly those familiar with Aguamiel, endorse Agmel. Every sufferer should investigate. Free booklets at druggists. Imported only by Agmel Corp'n.

Three Receive Scholarships at Law School

Announcement of three scholarship awards to students of outstanding scholastic attainment was made yesterday by the law school of the University of Southern California.

Dorothy George Garland received the Phi Delta Delta award, given annual alumnae of Alpha chapter of the women's legal fraternity to the co-ed law student maintaining the highest average during her junior year.

John W. Eagle was awarded the Mellenthin cash prize of $50 established by Alfred I. Mellenthin, an alumnus.

Leslie A. Cummins was the recipient of the Daley scholarship award, given by Mrs. Malinda S. Daley in memory of her husband, John E. Daly, and her son, James, formerly of the Long Beach Bar Association, to the graduate of Long Beach High School attending the Trojan law school who has shown himself the most outstanding in scholarship, character and qualifications to success in the legal profession.

Fight Renewed on Undertaking Business Zone

The war over the establishment of an undertaking concern at Forty-fifth street and Western avenue again came before the City Council yesterday in a request from the Southwest Business Association asking the Council to prohibit undertaking establishments on Western avenue in the district from Forty-third street to Slauson avenue.

The association said the Council should adhere strictly to its rule requiring the approval of 70 per cent of the property owners within a radius of 300 feet of any location proposed for an undertaking establishment. This controversy was an issue in the Councilmanic campaign in the Sixth District at the election last Spring.

STYLE TALK GIVEN SCHOOL FOR GIRLS

The students of the Elliott School for Girls proved an interested audience yesterday morning, when an informal talk on dress was given by Anne Sawyer, style adviser of the B. H. Dyas Company. She discussed color harmonies, but emphasized color combinations adapted best to various types of girls. Miss McIlvain illustrated these principles with models who were Misses Thelma Dillon, Eunice Mills and Bernice Foster.

TIDELANDS USE DECISION ASKED

Edison Attorney Urges Rule on Port Industries

Power Bureau Moves for Nonsuit in Action

Charges Failure to Prove Fund Manipulation

Need of a legal decision on the question of what shall constitute a proper industry on tidelands at the harbor was advanced by Attorney Robert Murphy as an argument against the motion of Attorney Herbert J. Goudge, representing the Bureau of Power and Light, for a nonsuit in the action of the Southern California Edison Company against the bureau, in Superior Judge Tappaan's court yesterday.

The arguments lasted all day and will be concluded by Attorney Goudge in his reply to Attorney Murphy this morning.

ARGUES NO HARM FACED

Mr. Murphy, toward the close of his argument, asserted that if the defendant was not contemplating the building of the opposed $3,230,000 steam-powered electric plant on harbor lands, as contended by the defense, a permanent injunction against such a program would do the bureau no harm and would establish a needed precedent as to future industrial activities on lands available for the development of commerce, navigation and fisheries.

The substance of Attorney Goudge's arguments for a nonsuit was that the Edison company attorneys have failed to prove that there were insufficient power revenue funds to proceed with the construction of the proposed plant, that there was no proof of illegal manipulation of power bonds to bolster up revenue balances, as claimed, and that nothing had been shown to indicate that the budget estimates for the fiscal year were incorrect or overestimated.

Mr. Goudge held that the voting down of the issue of bonds proposed last summer for the construction of the big stand-by plant on harbor lands had been recognized by the bureau and that evidence had been introduced to show that another site than on tidelands had been obtained.

NO EVIDENCE OF SITE

Mr. Murphy utilized the afternoon in arguments to show a contrary situation from that outlined by opposition counsel, and held that evidence had been presented showing that $1,500,000 of 1924 and 1926 power-bond funds had been transferred to the power revenue fund to make it appear that the balance totaled $1,050,000 to the good, whereas, he held, the fact was the revenue balance in reality was $300,000 in the red.

He asserted there had been no evidence of where the defendant proposed to build the power plant and that in the light of this fact there was reasonable belief that the bureau planned to build adjoining tidelands so as to use harbor waters for condensing purposes necessary for the operation of a steam-powered plant.

Presentation of the defense's case depends upon the ruling of the court, and should the nonsuit be denied, it is regarded as probable that the case may not be resumed until Monday.

Filipinos Here Favor Gilmore

Recommendation of the appointment of Eugene Gilmore, acting Governor-General and former Vice-Governor-General under the late Gen. Leonard Wood, as chief executive in the Phillipines probably will be made in resolutions to be sent to President Coolidge at the preliminary conference of the Filipino Federation of America, opening tomorrow in the Stack Building, it is just revealed.

The majority of the 144 delegates of the federation, who will gather here for the sessions, favor Gilmore, as he is not a military man and has evidenced great capability in administering Filipino affairs in the opinion of Hilario C. Moncado, president of the organization.

Among those who will address the conference, called to form plans for the national convention, to be held December 23 to 29 in the Philharmonic Auditorium, will be Dr. Frederick Blair, superintendent of the Goodwill Industries, President Moncado announced.

Woman Beaten With Hammer Still Silent

Still maintaining silence as to the identity of the man who attacked her early Wednesday, Mrs. Madeline De Preese, 33 years of age, of 150 North Hill street, is reported as in much improved condition at General Hospital and her chances for recovery good. The patient is said to have admitted that she knows the man who entered her room and beat her about the head with a hammer, but she refuses to tell police who he is, they report.

Mrs. De Preese declares that the man, who had previously been introduced to her by a friend, demanded money, and when she refused it he beat her. She is reported as having told officers that she will herself settle with him.

WILSHIRE ZONING HEARD

Planning Body Gets Both Sides of Proposal for Business Area Beyond Western

The proposed extension of business zoning on Wilshire Boulevard from Western avenue to Arden Boulevard, a distance of about seven blocks, was discussed at a hearing before the City Planning Commission by opponents and supporters of the project yesterday, after a petition asking that the extension be allowed was presented to that body.

L. M. Woodward, representing the petitioners, told the commission that inasmuch as no recent residences have been erected in the district proposed for business zoning and since Wilshire Boulevard at that point has become unfit for residence purposes that extension of the zoning be allowed.

James R. Martin, representing the Wilshire Beautiful Association, said that members of his organization have pledged themselves to keep Wilshire Boulevard as a street of beautiful residences beyond Western avenue and that they object to any continuation of the business zone. A small spot zone now exists for half a block beyond Western avenue.

After listening to both sides, the City Planning Commission took the matter under advisement, stating that continuation of the business zoning on Wilshire is too important a matter to be considered hastily.

W.C.T.U. State Convention Passes Resolution

Will Oppose All Candidates Not Openly Antiwet

Supreme Court Prohibition Cases Reviewed

Members of the W.C.T.U. will oppose any candidate of any party in 1928 who fails to stand squarely for the Eighteenth Amendment and enforcement of the Volstead Act, it was announced yesterday in resolutions adopted by 400 delegates to the State convention of that organization which is being held at the First Baptist Church.

Preceding adoption of the resolutions, addresses were made by Mrs. O. P. Clark, national committee member of the Republican party, and Miss Belle Kearney, State Senator of Missouri.

Summarizing achievements along prohibition lines under Republican administration, Mrs. Clark pointed out that more than forty important cases have been taken before the Supreme Court with resulting interpretations practically all favorable to the existing law. She declared the internal revenue law had been strengthened and that new regulations had decreased the use of industrial alcohol and sacramental wine.

Miss Kearney scored opponents of prohibition in her talk.

Other speakers included Mrs. Eva C. Wheeler, State president, who declared that national prosperity has been due to prohibition; John F. Ness of the Los Angeles Times, who characterized a clean newspaper as one of the greatest moral influences in a community; Mrs. Ellen Hollingsworth, pleading for greater temperance instruction in schools; Mrs. Mary Stewart and Rev. Lucy Wilhoit.

Election of officers will be held this morning as the sessions are continued today and tomorrow.

BOY'S DISAPPEARANCE PERILS MOTHER'S LIFE

The disappearance of Ira Cogswell, 15 years of age, from his home at 1723 Ivingwood avenue last Tuesday afternoon, has caused his mother such anxiety that she may die, is the report of the boy's father, who asks that any one knowing the boy's whereabouts telephone WHitney 0280 at once.

The boy is a sophomore at Los Angeles High School and in good standing. He is five feet seven inches tall and weighs 122 pounds, has light brown hair, gray eyes with one pupil noticeably larger than the other, and wears his hair in a short pompadour cut. He wore a gray and blue-striped sweater, blue-serge knickers, blue hose and black running shoes. He is a member of Troop 60, Boy Scouts, and interested in aviation.

SCHNEEVOIGT WINS TRIUMPH

upon his first entrance into a new field and a new country.

NO PAUSE IN INTEREST

Symphonic music assumed the character of a new adventure under the guidance of his baton last evening. Schneevoigt displayed both brilliance and versatility, and there was no pause in the interest which attended his introduction.

The Philharmonic Orchestra has not drawn so representative an assemblage of listeners in ages. The professional musical element was notably in evidence. There was an abundance of social distinction in the house that was crowded to capacity. There were present in important numbers those concerned with activities in the arts, motion pictures, and all the forms of expression that go to make Los Angeles a verging and colorful metropolis of creative work in the forming and the realization.

I felt that the reception of Schneevoigt indicated that everyone enjoyed the new conductor—and more than this that they welcomed him with the intention of returning many times to hear the orchestra as directed by him. It spelt new life, new vitality for the Philharmonic upon this, the beginning of its ninth season. There was glamour, that all-important thing, about this new beginning.

SOMETHING TO WORK WITH

One must take token certainly of the fact that Mr. Schneevoigt at the outset of his sojourn here assumes leadership over a well-organized and highly proficient instrumental body. There is no question that the years have told in the building up of the Philharmonic, both under the direction of the late Walter Henry Rothwell, and by virtue of the summer concerts at the Hollywood Bowl. This latter is an advantage that few, if any, similar organizations possess in this country.

Still—for all that—it was a different orchestra that was heard under Mr. Schneevoigt. From the very first chords of the "Mastersingers" overture there was the inkling of newly-acquired vigor, strength and above all ruggedness.

Schneevoigt doesn't spare the fortissimi. Perhaps the hypercritical may feel he stresses them too much at moments, but then it is glorious to know that an orchestra can play with overwhelming volume, and that that volume is rich and full and vibrant.

LETS THE ORCHESTRA GO

Schneevoigt is one of the few conductors I have heard here, who has the capacity to "let his orchestra go," as the saying is, in the more melodious passages. There is no finer test of the metal of the director than this particular ability. It implies a trust in his orchestra that few conductors possess, especially at a first concert, and that perfect understanding of the time when "not to direct"—or at least to direct without external indication of care and precision.

I think it was the lovely flow of melody in "The Prelude" to "The Mastersingers" that captivated the Philharmonic audience, as much as the dazzling climaxes of tone. Both had a part in bringing on the manifestation of approval at the close of this number, but the melodious sway was in some ways pre-eminent.

To the three dances from the ballet, "The Three-Cornered Hat" by De Falla, the new number of the program, and to Respighi's Symphonic Poem, "The Fountains of Rome" Schneevoigt brought a strong feeling for contrasts, and shading, and a competent authority. Both these compositions added materially to the variety and effectiveness of the program, especially the Respighi work.

HIS MANNERISMS

The conducting of Schneevoigt is not free from mannerisms, but they are interesting mannerisms. A moment here and there, perhaps due to his ambition for this first program, when they seemed to obtrude unnecessarily. The theatrical touch is not wanting, but for a change it is very grateful, particularly when backed up by a sense of efficiency.

To the Brams Symphony No. 1 in C minor, Schneevoigt brought a broad and stirring energy. One could have asked for more subtle nuances in the second and third sections of this work, the andante sostenuto and Un poco allegretto e grazioso, which was, so to speak, not always so grazioso. Schneevoigt cannot entirely elude the rugged spirit when there might seem a need for this, but his Brahms was a stolid and forceful interpretation that allured by its novelty.

There are moments when in his conducting Schneevoigt suggests the Walter Damrosch of some years—markedly in the definiteness with which he points to and emphasizes the different sections of the orchestra, and gives them individual prominence.

There is seldom any question about the response to his baton. It is there, and, with few exceptions, clear-cut. The men played under his direction with vibrancy and energy. If one misses at times the poetic quality, there is no doubt about the fiber and sinew of his music. It is hardy and forceful, and strong in dramatic values—one could say perhaps even melodramatic values at times, though it will be better to determine this at subsequent concerts.

In any case, the Philharmonic possesses a conductor of splendid accomplishment, unusual and interesting in the nature of his interpretations, and distinctly a personality.

CONKLIN-BANCROFT OPUS IS UNWOUND

"Tell It to Sweeney" Deals in Absurdities of Life on the Railroad

BY PHILIP K. SCHEUER

Metropolitan audiences this week will find the usual admixture of stage and screen components, stirred to a briefly glowing brilliance by a Will Rogers travelogue and a song or two by Frank DeVoe, but for the most part dull and gray. The screen feature is something called "Tell It To Sweeney," with Chester Conklin, George Bancroft and Joseph Girard as Sweeney.

"Tell It To Sweeney" is a team comedy. The story is full of large loopholes and is never credible, with Conklin, a naturally lovable comic, losing the sympathy he inspires by the no less than moronic actions he is required to perform as a railroad engineer. Conklin is Luke Beamish, in charge of a wheezy old engine and one coach on a branch of the L.M.R. He knows nothing about signals and semaphores, and he boasts about his ignorance throughout the picture; yet at the fade-out he is put in charge of one of the two crack mail trains.

The man who is rewarded with the other mail train is Cannon-ball Casey, played by George Bancroft—the same Bancroft who gave one of the finest performances of the year as the ruthless gangster in "Underworld." In making the leap from the role of Bull Weed to that of Cannon-ball Casey, he has slipped in some manner and landed with a distinct audible thud.

Bancroft is not a roughhouse comedian. In the past he has relieved dramas with shafts of broad comedy, it is true, but the horseplay was logical and belonged as part of his characterizations. Now, turned completely the funny man, Bancroft brings sharply home what a good dramatic actor he was!

The film is slow-paced for a comedy until the last reel, when one train races after another at a greatly exaggerated speed. The first locomotive, incidentally, makes almost the entire run without being fired and with no one in the cab, while the second one begins to slow down the moment it is not being refueled. At the end of the chase the second locomotive is left running wild with its cowcatcher nosing the last car of the train ahead, yet the train ahead is brought to a dead stop without the slightest difficulty. Apparently the second engine (whose name, by the way, is Isabel,) has the good sense to know when she is licked, and retires of her own accord to the roundhouse, a thoroughly chastened lady-locomotive.

Among the players are Jack Luden and Doris Hill.

"Prowling Around Prance" is a short-reel scenic brightened by pithy comment from Will Rogers, and shows the palace at Fontainebleau, the markets, Paris by night and other interesting sights. Rogers, of course, "conducts" the tour.

On the stage, the jazz orchestra wins applause with its rendition of "My Blue Heaven," arranged from a Whiteman scoring. Frank DeVoe registers with a couple of very torrid numbers, and cracks a couple of Frank Tinney's favorite jokes. Two girls sing "Just Once Again" and "Side by Side," and Mitchell and Durant sing and cub capers.

WALLACE TO WASHINGTON

Richard Wallace is going to witness the premiere of his latest directorial effort, "The Texas Steer," starring Will Rogers, in Washington, D. C., within a few days. Many of the scenes of this opus were made in the national capital. Thence Wallace will go to New York before returning to the Pacific Coast.

WALSH SWITCHES FOX PICTURES

Dolores Del Rio and Charles Farrell to Play Leads; Joan Lido, Viennese Beauty, With Universal; Norman Dawn Returns from Australia

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

Fate does seem to be playing some hard tricks on Raoul Walsh, who has been having a difficult time settling on what his next directorial effort will be. However, it is all settled now, and everybody can breathe easier.

Charles Farrell.

Dolores Del Rio, as you undoubtedly know, has one more starring picture to make for Fox, and although she had been scheduled for Lawrence Stallings's "The Cock-eyed World," a sort of sequel to "What Price Glory," with Edmund Lowe and Victor MacLaglen in the leading male roles, it is said that she did not wish to share starring honors, or, worse still, to have her character subordinated to those of the two extremely brilliant masculine roles. Therefore, she asked to be given another starring vehicle, and she had her way. Walsh will, therefore, make not only "The Cock-Eyed World," but the new story.

That story, to come to the point, is an original called "The Red Dancer of Moscow," written by Harvey I. Gates and Eleanor Browne, and will give Miss Dolores a chance not only to act but to dance. She is reported as highly pleased with the assignment.

At present Miss Del Rio is playing the star role in Edwin Carewe's "Ramona," for United Artists.

An important announcement in connection with this story is that Charles Farrell, famous for his role in "Seventh Heaven," will play opposite Miss Del Rio. Farrell is now considered one of the greatest bets

Ivy Harris's New Contract

All Hollywood should give that little girl, Ivy Harris, a big hand.

Miss Harris is a graduate of the Paramount Pictures School, and now she has graduated into another long-term contract as a featured player, according to announcement made by B. P. Schulberg yesterday, who wired the word from Chicago, where he is attending a sales convention.

The steady rise of the young player through her work in such productions as "A Gentleman of Paris," with Adolphe Menjou, also in Pola Negri's most recent starring vehicle, and now in a role in "The Legion of the Condemned," is said to have resulted in the renewal of the young actress's contract.

Norman Dawn Returns

That globetrotting director and producer, Norman Dawn, who has made films all the way from the North Pole to the equator, has returned to Los Angeles after an eighteen-months' absence in Tasmania, Australia, and the Fiji Islands, where he directed two big pictures.

EDITH ROBERTS

"For the Term of His Natural Life," adapted from Marcus Clarke's epic of the famous old penal colony of Australia, was made in Australia, with George Fisher starred. Fisher returned to this country several months ago, and is now working in pictures in Hollywood. The penal-colony picture is a superproduction and cost something like $1,000,000.

Dance Ability is Challenged

Gilda Gray has accepted a challenge and she expects to fulfill its requirements within the next year.

Sojin, Hollywood's most distinguished Japanese actor, has transmitted a "defi" wherein the leading theatrical managers of Japan invite the American dancer to present oriental dances in direct competition with the greatest artists of China and Japan.

The dancers of the Orient have been hearing much of the incursion into their field of Gilda Gray. Her recent assumption of the "devil dance" of Tibet caused the present challenge.

Miss Gray would like to go to Japan at once—but such a trip is impossible, for she has ahead of her forty weeks of the elaborate presentation act Jack Laughlin has made to be offered in conjunction with the showings of Samuel Goldwyn's production, "The Devil Dancer," opening Wednesday at the Million Dollar Theater.

DAVIS DRAMA REVEALED

Owen Davis's comedy drama, "The Detour," was given its first performance in Los Angeles Wednesday night at the Garret. Although this play has been published as a book, it has never been staged outside of New York, as a regular theatrical attraction. It is the story of a little family on a farm in New England.

Halloween Show Will be Merry

A gala Halloween midnight show will be given at Loew's State Theater Monday night, starting at 11:30 p.m.

The success of the New Year Eve midnight shows at Loew's State has encouraged Fanchon and Marco and the theater management to stage another carnival of fun on Halloween night.

Fanchon and Marco are planning a program of de luxe acts to be selected from those now playing all over the circuit. These acts will be brought to Los Angeles especially for the midnight show.

UNITARIAN GROUP TO PRESENT MILNE PLAY

Having organized under the leadership of Miss Edna Dexter (Volga Marinoff, formerly dramatic instructor at the University of Arizona, a group of young people of the Unitarian Society of Hollywood have formed a dramatic club with the aim of building a permanent organization for the purpose of encouraging all the branches of theatrical work.

Rehearsals for "The Man In the Bowler Hat," the initial presentation of the club, are now under way, and it is anticipated that the Milne play will be ready for production shortly.

Officers of the dramatic organization include, among others, Edna Dexter, director; Eva Mack, publicist; Barbara Reinhart, costume designer and Lewis Moore, stage manager.

CHEERFUL CHAFF

BY TIMES READERS

WRITE FOR THE "MOVIES" AND WIN CASH PRIZES

The Los Angeles Times produces a popular fun reel called "Cheerful Chaff," consisting of the twelve best jokes submitted weekly by readers. Twelve $1 prizes are awarded each week, the names and addresses of winners together with prize-winning jokes appearing on the screen.

Everyone is invited to send jokes. No formal letter is necessary. Just jot down your jokes, as many as you wish, sign your name and address and mail to "Cheerful Chaff Editor," Los Angeles Times. Jokes for the screen must not exceed thirty words.

Meritorious jokes too long or otherwise not adapted for screen use, are accorded a place of honor on This Times comic page, receiving a souvenir of acknowledgment.

"How do you infer that I was intoxicated last night?"

"Well, you started slowly climbing a circular stairway."

"That doesn't prove anything."

"But there wasn't any circular stairway there."

California: After this, I'll know you by sight!

Arizona: Not by a dam site!

Hal Fox, Roscoe, Cal.

Men and shoes: Go on feet; need a mate; get tanned; get tight, get left; sometimes right; have souls; are trod upon; wear out.

Bert Howe, 3249 Santa Monica Boulevard.

Angry Farmer: What for are you comin' home with your milk pail empty? Didn't the old cow give anything?

Farm hand: Aye sir, the old cow gave nine quarts and one kick.

Vetha Todd, 328 Central avenue, El Monte, Cal.

Mother: Don't play with the hammer, dear. Once a little girl was flinging a hammer around and the head flew off and killed her little brother.

Child: Oh! Did she say "excuse me?"

Some country boys moved to town; they turned on the hydrant in the yard and were unable to turn it off. They ran to their mother crying: "We broke the creek."

L. B. Resh, 318 East Center street, Anaheim, Cal.

Lady: Why aren't you a successful business man?

Tramp: You see, lady, I wasted my time in school instead of selling newspapers.

UNLIMITED FUNDS
On improved income and residential properties in approved cities & towns in Southern California. No special purpose buildings, or buildings over 15 years old, or loans exceeding $25,000 considered. Low rate. No appraisal or escrow fee.
ESPECIALLY DESIRABLE FOR HOME OWNERS.
Ten-year amortized loans with prepayment option—"any amount at any time without notice or bonus" in which the half-yearly payments cover principal and interest and extinguish the debt at the end of the ten-year period. A safe and sane plan which eliminates renewal expenses and worries, and provides a safe and practical plan for the eventual payment of the debt.

CARGO-WORKING HOUSE EXPANDS

Banning Stevedoring Enters Northwestern Field

Report of Deal for Seattle Company Confirmed

Concern Now Predominant in West Coast Ports

The Associated Terminals Company of Los Angeles becomes the dominant stevedoring firm on this Coast, following the purchase of the International Stevedoring Company of Seattle and two similar concerns in Tacoma and Portland. The purchase was confirmed yesterday by Tom James, vice-president and general manager of the Banning Company, largest stevedoring firm at Los Angeles Harbor and the greatest unit of the Associated Terminals Company's group. Gerald Fitzgerald, president of the latter, is in the North closing the deal.

With the new acquisitions, the firm will have units in San Diego, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Portland, Tacoma and Seattle. Under the new arrangement, ships touching the various ports on the Pacific can be serviced without a single change in stevedoring firms, a condition said to have been much desired by the Bethlehem Steel Corporation for its newly entered twelve-ship intercoastal Calmar fleet, whose stevedoring is being done by the above firms.

The rise of the firm to a point where it blankets the shipping activities of the entire American west coast has been rapid. Operating as the Associated Terminals at San Francisco first, the concern purchased the pioneer Los Angeles firm of Banning Company two years ago, established a branch in San Diego several months ago and now heavily invades the Northwest.

Since the Banning Company was acquired it has expanded tremendously, until now it maintains perhaps 600 to 700 stevedores permanently and services upward of 100 ships monthly for a score of steamship companies.

Tom James was reticent yesterday about the deal, except that it would take him north in about a week. From other sources it is understood he may become a sort of traveling manager, supervising cargo handling by the different companies up and down coast.

NEW LASCO LINER DUE FROM HAWAII TODAY

One hundred and twenty-six passengers and 4600 tons of island freight are due on the Lasco liner City of Los Angeles from Hawaii this morning. The volume of freight inbound, as outbound, indicated a tremendous increase in trade with Los Angeles in recent months. The City of Honolulu took a similar cargo outbound a week ago, practically filling every inch of space in the big ship. An increasing amount of trans-shipment's stuff now is coming by way of Los Angeles, much of this ship's cargo being canned pineapples for forwarding to eastern points. Tomorrow the Calawaii of the same line will get away for Hawaii with 100 travelers and ten airplanes, bound from Baltimore to the United States Army in Hawaii.

Three arriving ships today and one tomorrow are Luckenbach Line's portion, the four handling approximately 10,000 tons of cargo in or out of port. Today's arrivals are headed by the Lewis Luckenbach, which shares with the Andrea F. Luckenbach honors as America's biggest freighter. She will dock just fifteen days and one hour from New York, including thirteen hours transiting the Panama Canal, and will drop 2676 of her 9036 tons in Los Angeles. Simultaneously the Lena Luckenbach is due to complete loading for the Gulf and hereafter all Luckenbach Gulf ships will drop Beaumont because of insufficient offerings. The West Errol also is due today with 2000 tons of Gulf freight, on a westbound trip charter to Luckenbach, from Pillsbury and Curtis. Tomorrow the Robert Luckenbach will complete loading of beans, tomato paste and general cargo for the North Atlantic.

Officials of the Union Steamship Company of New Zealand are highly elated with the initial offering of Los Angeles freight for its first ship, the steamer Waikawa, in port yesterday, and will send other vessels here, it was announced yesterday by W. D. Casey, assistant traffic manager, down from San Francisco. The vessel took more than 1000 tons out of Los Angeles, on its trip to the Antipodes. Incidentally, ships of the line go direct to Papeete, where the line is opening a market for Los Angeles case oil, and shortly will introduce California fruits there through its refrigerated compartments. The success of the sailing has caused the officials to order the Wairuna also to call here November 26, and there is a possibility some of the line's passenger vessels also will be sent here, according to Harold Smith, Los Angeles manager for Williams, Dimond & Co., agents for the line.

Miss Helen Beckett of Dublin arrived on the Royal Mail liner Carnarvon from the United Kingdom yesterday to become the bride of Patrick Mullely, formerly of Erin, but now in business in Los Angeles. The vessel disembarked nine passengers and discharged 1000 tons of European coke, pig iron and general cargo.

The California Sea Products Company is reported planning to dispatch its whaling fleet from San Francisco to San Clemente to establish base recently left when the fleet of the Los Angeles Whaling Company returned to port here. The fleet comprises the factory ship Lansing and four killer boats.
